Wounded Man Calm Even After Being Shot.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Details of the assault upon J. P. Morgan in his summer home at Glen Cove, L. I., revealing more clearly the courage of Mrs.
Morgan, were told here tonight by an eyewitness, who was a guest in the Morgan home.

When the intruder, later identified as Frank Holt, forced a servant to stand aside with a revolver in each hand approached Mrs. Morgan, his wife saw the danger and threw herself upon Holt, grasping him about the neck and holding him until thrust aside by her husband.

Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, who had been in the breakfast room with Mr. and Mrs.
Morgan, assisted in disarming Holt.

A ring at the front door first attracted the dinner's attention, according to the witness' story. A man's voice was heard at the doorway, demanding admission to see Mr. Morgan. The servants and Mrs. Morgan, who had been visitors on business at his country home. Then the man drew a pistol, and, brandishing it, exclaimed:

"I've got another one, you had better show me to Mr. Morgan."

In an effort to protect his master, the servant directed the intruder away from the east room, where Mr. Morgan was at breakfast and towards a room at the western end of the hall. Rushing through a doorway, Mrs. Morgan children, at whom he pointed his pistol as he shouted at the top of his voice:

"Mr. Morgan upstairs!"

Party Rushes Forward.
The party in the breakfast room heard this strange voice, and they all surmised that one of the servants had become suddenly insane. So the three, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, rushed to the central staircase, which they ascended, Sir Cecil turning eastward, while Mr. and Mrs. Morgan ran westward.

In the room at the western end of the hall and directly above the room where the children had been, Mr. Morgan and his wife found an old Irish man and demanded to know what was the matter. The man, who had made the outcry, finding that the old woman knew nothing, they turned back to the staircase.

On seeing Mr. Morgan approaching, Holt yelled: "Is that Mr. Morgan?
I've got you," leveling both pistols at him.

In an instant Mrs. Morgan had slipped past her husband and thrown herself bodily upon the assailant. She clung to him, and with her hands shoved her face into his, and she Holt around the body, pinioning both of his arms to his sides.

Desperate Struggle Ensnues.
There was a desperate struggle. Mrs.
Morgan was crowded back to the ground but kept trying desperately to reach one of Holt's pistol hands. She declared that she was holding the life had seen an expression of such impotent fury and rage as that upon Holt's face.

As the two men swayed together, Holt's right hand worked a revolver slowly around to Mrs. Morgan's thigh.
There was an explosion with the gun barrel almost against the financier's groin. A second shot followed. Then Mr. Morgan forced Holt backward until the latter's feet were against the wall. Mr. Morgan fell upon him.

When Mr. Morgan had struggled to his feet, bleeding profusely, he walked the length of the corridor and calmly picked up a telephone, called his office in New York.

"I've been shot through the stomach," he said, when answered. "Get the best doctor you can."
Then he was undressed, revealing a bad and was undressed, revealing a second wound in the leg of which he had been unconscious up to that moment.

PIONEER PASSES, AGED 81

William F. Lewis, Long at Cottage Grove, Dies at Crow.

COTTAGE GROVE, Or., July 5.—(Special) —William Frederick Lewis, an uncle of S. K. Lewis, of this city, who had passed much of his later life, died June 28 at Crow at the home of a niece, Anna M. Hooker. Death was due to old age following an illness of about a week.

William Lewis was born in Ray County, Missouri, September 24, 1834.
He was 81 years of age at the time he crossed the plains, settling first in Oregon, going to California within a few months and engaging in mining, which he continued until about 15 years ago, when he came to Cottage Grove and had since made his home. Besides a number of nieces and nephews the only surviving relative is a brother, James H. Lewis, who is an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg.

ASYLUM MAY GET HOLT

thought it best to look at him again when he improved in order to satisfy himself whether he is his former classmate.

Word was received at the jail tonight that tomorrow morning an officer is expected to arrive from Cambridge, Massachusetts, who could positively identify Muentner.

Holt's Condition Serious.

Dr. Cleghorn said Holt was suffering chiefly from lack of nourishment.
His condition has been weakened, he said, by loss of blood from the wound on his head.

But Holt insists he is all right and wants to tell his wife the story Wednesday. Holt has eaten little since his arrest and his stomach is said to be so weak that it is difficult for him to assimilate much nourishment.

Mystery Surrounds Counsel.

There was some mystery here today regarding the identity of the person or persons who directed Mr. Holt to rap-resent Holt and in what capacity Allan Pinkerton, of a detective agency, who appeared here today, is acting.

At first Mr. Holt told the newspapersmen he had been sent here at the behest of a member of the Cornell University faculty. Later, however, he denied this. Holt declared he has property in Ithaca and that he knew the prisoner while the latter was at Cornell.

Pinkerton said he was employed by the authorities of Nassau County. Warden Hulse, in the absence of Sheriff Petit, who left early in the day for California, said Pinkerton was employed by the county "to look up a few little things." District Attorney Smith said, however, he had nothing of Pinkerton's being employed by the

ENVER PASHA IN TRENCHES

Sultan's Men Are Ordered to Face Enemy Until Death, Officers' Duty Being to Shoot Any Who May Start to Give Ground.

LONDON, July 5.—The Official Press Bureau issued tonight a report from General Sir Ian Hamilton, covering the recent operations in the Dardanelles, which said, in part:

"About 2 A. M. (date not given) the searchlights of the destroyer Scorpion discovered half a Turkish battalion advancing near the sea, northwest of Kritlia. The Scorpion opened fire and few of the enemy got away.

"Simultaneously, the enemy attacked at 800 yards, which he captured, due west of Kritlia, advancing in close order. The attack came under artillery and machine gun fire, the enemy losing heavily. The foremost Turks got within 40 yards of the parapet but only a few returned.

"The Turks made several heavy bomb attacks during the night, our troops being twice driven back a short distance. Early in the morning we regained these trenches by a bayonet attack. They have since been strenghtened. At 5:30 A. M. 2000 Turks were scattered from Kritlia into a ravine, were scattered by machine-gun fire.

"The operations reflect great credit on the accurate shooting of the Scorpion.
The Turkish losses at the ravine were estimated at from 1500 to 2000 dead.

Gulrils Used for First Time.
"About 10 P. M., on June 30, the Turks again attacked with bombs and bombs of the most powerful character fired by us on the 28th. An officer of the Gurkhas, being wounded—the Gurkhas, as it turns out—the men became infuriated, firing all their bombs at the enemy, and then, charging down out of the trench, used their excellent effect.

"Further reports from the Australian and New Zealand corps as to the enemy's attack on the 28th, and our right flank say that the action was commenced with a heavy fire, midnight until 1:30 A. M., to which our men replied with equal force. The Turks then launched their attack and came right on with bayonet and rifle fire, the enemy being instantly killed, the remainder were dealt with by bomb and rifle fire from the Seventh and Eighth battalions. At 5 the enemy broke and many were killed while withdrawing.

"The enemy's attack was strongest on his right, the Turkish force completely taken back by the concealed snipers and the dead are lying thickly in front of the trench. Several crossed it. All these were wiped out by the fire from the main parapet further back.

Enver Pasha in Trenches.
"Prisoners brought in say that three fresh battalions were employed in the main attack, which was made by persons of Enver Pasha (the Turkish Minister), who, as it is asserted, was present in the trenches on June 29.

"The ground in front of our trenches in every direction can be seen covered with Turkish dead. Patrols sent out at night report that the valleys and ravines are also full of them. There is no possible doubt that the enemy's losses have been heavy.

"After checking and counter checking the reports from all sources, I put down their total casualties between June 28 and July 2 at 1500 killed and 15,000 wounded.

"Following is an extract from captured divisional orders:
"There is nothing that causes us more sorrow and increases our courage of the enemy and encourages him to attack more freely, causing us great losses, than the losing of these trenches. Henceforth, every man who surrender his trenches, from whom ever side the attack may come, before the trench is killed, will be punished in the same way as he died.

Officers to Shoot Own Men.
"Especially will the commanders of the units told off to guard a certain point be punished, if instead of thinking about their own safety, they units and giving information to the higher command, they only take action in a regrettable incident has taken place.

"I hope this will not occur again. I will give notice that if it does I shall order the punishment. I do not desire to see a blot made on the courage of our men by those who escape from the trenches to avoid the rifle and machine gun fire of the enemy. Henceforth I shall hold responsible those officers who do not shoot with their revolvers all privates who try to escape from the trenches on any day.

"Commander of the Eleventh Division."

NEW CITIZENS REPEAT OATH Senator Cummins Is Cheered That All Would Fight for America.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 5.—Hundreds of newly-naturalized citizens and hundreds more whose citizenship is of longer standing, repeated the oath of allegiance to the flag and to the Republic at Minneapolis' first Americanization day celebration at the Armory this afternoon.

The speeches were in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.
Senator Cummins, of Iowa, the orator of the day, was cheered when he said in closing that this might be the last of all wars, but that if the honor of the United States was at stake, foreign-born citizens would be found shoulder to shoulder in the ranks with a native-born American.

HUERTA'S SPIRIT IS BROKEN General Weeps As He Mourns Refusal to Accept His Word of Honor.

EL PASO, Tex., July 5.—His jovial-ity gone and his fighting spirit apparently broken, General Victoriano Huerta wept today when he talked with newspaper men of the deep hurt, as he characterized it, he had received from Americans. The aged prisoner, sat on the edge of his iron cot, and in bitter tones, expressed his indignation and surprise that his word should not have greater weight.

"I gave them my word, my word of honor, that I would not attempt to leave El Paso," he cried. "And I gave back, and yet I am forced to occupy this cell. There is one thing no man can say, and that is that I have ever broken my word."

Huerta spent the day celebrated by Americans as Independence day at his small cell with General Inacio Bravo, except for 30 minutes' exercise in the corridor.

Huerta reiterated his assertion that he had broken no laws of the United States and declared his willingness to face trial. He insisted that he, like Orozco, should be permitted to see his family, but he was detained by the word he had given.

Without the day his only visitors were newspaper men, who at his home there arrived a basket of lunch, and members of his family made inquiries regarding him, but none of them requested permission to see him.
Only one Mexican asked to see Huerta today, and he received a pass.

Huerta's attitude is being watched by the American government's attorneys will have his bond ready tomorrow, but Huerta knew nothing of that. "I may get out tomorrow; I may not. They have not told me.

PARIS, July 5, I. P. M.—The annual Independence day pilgrimage of Americans to Paris to the tomb of the Marquis de Lafayette, in the ancient Pic-pou Cemetery, was honored today for the first time by the official participation of the French government.

Raymond Poincaré, the President of the Republic, was accompanied by Minister of War, Theophile Delcasse, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and the prefect of police and the prefect of the Seine were present, and the Ministers of the republics of Argentina, Brazil and Chile also were present.

H. Cleveland Cooke, a delegate of the Empire of the Sons of the Revolution, draped the tomb with the Stars and Stripes and deposited around it flowers and garlands.

William Graves Sharp, American Ambassador to France, made a speech, briefly alluding to the sympathies of America for the French cause, and gave birth to so noble a figure as Lafayette.

CHINESE ARE INDICTED FRAUDULENT USE OF MAIL IS

Couple Held at San Antonio on Charges of Larceny From Estate of Mrs.
Elois Neims Dennis.

ATLANTA, July 5.—Victor E. Innes and Mrs. Ida Innes, his wife, were indicted by a Federal grand jury here today on charges of fraudulent use of the mails, based on charges alleged to have been sent to Mrs. Elois Neims Dennis, formerly of Atlanta.

The indictment charging larceny, was returned in San Antonio, Tex., pending a decision of the United States Supreme Court on the question of their extradition to Georgia under the act of 1882. The indictment after trial in connection with the alleged disappearance of funds of Mrs.
Dennis' estate.

Mrs. Dennis and her sister, Beatrice Neims, have been missing from Atlanta more than a year. They were last seen in San Antonio. Innes was indicted on a charge of larceny, and a warrant charging him with the murder of the Neims sisters, but that charge was dismissed by the Texas courts.

THEATERS TRADE HOMES
Orpheum and Empress Filled First Day of Exchange.

The Orpheum Theater, name and all, moved to the Empress building at Broadway and Washington street, yesterday, and the Empress took name, show, bag and baggage down to Broadway and Stark street. The shows at both theaters opened today with good audiences. The move seemed to strike the popular fancy.

The Orpheum, when it was first operating, was located in the old Marquam, then in the Bungalow, then in the Baker, next in the Hellig, then in the New Orpheum, and its last move was to the Empress building.

The Empress hasn't had so many moves. It was first in the old Grand Washington street, then in the new Empress, and now is settled in the place vacated by the Orpheum.
