Wilhelmina Exercises Economy in Effort to Help Women to Such Extent That Tradesmen Begin to Grumble.

AMSTERDAM, June 25. - (Corre spondence of the Associated Press.)-The big cities of Holland, and above all, the capital, are suffering seriously from the effects of the war on their staple trades, which have been brought almost to a standstill since the beginning of hostilities. Local authorities everywhere are experiencing diftles everywhere are experiencing dif-ficulties in finding funds to meet the distress among the unemployed, many of whom had made no provision for such a crisis. Trade unionists, during the first few months of the war, were able to draw on the out-of-work funds of their unions, but these nave long since been exhausted or almost so, and the government and the municipalities have had to come to the rescue During March the unemployment funds of the various trade unions paid out in benefits to their members no less than $115.052. Now that the municipal authorities have stepped in to help them out, the City of Amsterdam slone pays out for this purpose the same nicipal authorities have stepped in to help them out, the City of Amsterdam alone pays out for this purpose $14,800 weekly. In the city there is a total of 27,224 workmen belonging to trades unions. Of this number at the end of May 8949 were totally unemployed, 2088 others were only partially employed and 2833 had been called to the colors. These figures show that 32.8 per cent are totally workless, 7.8 per cent are totally workless, 7.8 per cent partially unemployed and 144 per cent in the army—altogether over 50 per cent.

Miss Fellows went shopping. Miss Fellows kissed her mother good-bye and told her she would return as quickly as possible.

From what the police have been able to gather, Mrs. Fellows must have remained in bed reading for more than an hour after her daughter went out. Then she apparently left her bed and walked to the kitchen.

On the gas range she found an old-fashioned teapot and endeavored to prepare a curp of tea. She lighted the largest of the burners, filled the teapot and apparently was leaning over to place it again on the fisme when she fainted. Walking in Riverside Drive, Henry

Jenks saw smoke streaming from the rear window on the second floor of the Fellows residence. Mr. Jenks blew a police whistle vigorously and then ran to the Fellows' home. Directly behind him came Policeman Roche. Together they dashed to the kitchen. So dense was the smoke that they had to grope to find the range. Throwing open the windows, they lifted the body of Mrs. Fellows from the range and extinguished the flame in the little Programme Opens Officially With

KISS ON CHEEK, SAYS WILEY

Lip Smack Must Go.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—"A kiss is nothing but a sign of affection, and therefore is as effective on the check or forehead as on the lips," said Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, food and sanitation expert, in discussing the "lip kiss." If you must show your affection with a lip kiss," he continued, "use julgment as to the danger of disease."

Dr. Wiley expressed the opinion that the "lip kiss" must go. "There is hardiy a person who does not carry some infectious germ in the mouth," he said, "and the danger of contraction is great in the kiss. Parents make a serious mistake in kissing their children in the mouth. In many cases they have bad teeth and the child's mouth, still free from infection, is exposed to danger."

Dr. Wiley when informed that free from infection, is exposed to dan-ger."

Dr. Wiley, when informed that a Washington physician had declared, at the recent convention of the Medical Association at San Francisco, that to discourage lip kissing would tend to Increase divorces, said that was un-likely. "I think older people, and es-pecially sweethearts, will find that the cheek kiss is just as much an expres-sion of affection as the lip kiss."
