BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. Walt McCredle doesn't intend going Into the coming series with the Angels any weaker than possible. While the accident to Bobby Davis' leg sliding home in the final play of Monday's second game is bound to throw dynamite into the rampaging Beaver machine, McCredie is determined to have first-class infielder at short until Davis is able to hobble around again. Bobby likely will be on crutches for two weeks. With this end in view, Mack jumped into a taxicab almost immediately after the jamborce and boarded a Pullman bound for Scattle.

McCredie used to room with Bobby Blewett, president of the Northwest League, when both of them were ordinary diamond athletes back-at Brooklyn years and years ago.

So, if there is an available infielder of class anywhere around in the Northwest circuit it is a cinch that Mack JACK COOMBS FAINTS IN BOX will have a chain on him when he returns this morning. If not-well. Veteran Pitcher Strains Tendon and any number of possible maneuvers pre-nt themselves.

Mack may switch Speas in to the infield or may in a pinch use Eddic Fogart, the hard-hitting little infielder of the Piedmont Maroons. Bogart played for several weeks in the Union Association last year, so has had suf-ficient experience to be vaccinated against stage fright.

When Higginbotham broke up Sundays 11-inning battle with a single into center field the local fans said the game was the most sensational of the year. And then the magnates fooled everybody by staging two more off the same tree on Monday, thereby reminding of the Spokane man, who looking out over the jetty at Astoria, soliloquized thus:

"I always thought the Atlantic Ocean was the biggest until I saw the Pacific."

The truth is that every club in the league is still much in the running. Sait Lake is not going so well, and yet, the Bees won four of the nine games at Los Angeles last week and broke even the week previous against the Oaks at home. Blankenship has a hunch of sluggers, however, and if Charley Schmutz is as good a pitcher as he was with Vancouver in the Northwestern League in 1913, the wobbily Bee twirling corps will look heaps better. But a play cropped up in last Friday's game that unearthed a new one on the Portland's wonderful rally from the abysimal depths is due principally to the remarkable meanderings of those two Cleveland American Association castoffs—Ray Bates and Dave Hillyard. Of course, Captain Speas, Bill Stumpf and all the rest of the clan are playing grand ball and the pitching is much improved over the early season brand, but Bates and Hillyard have been the backbone of the team, both in offense and defense.

We don't own up to Jack Knight's acquaintanceship, but if we ever grow affluent enough to own a ball club you can rest assured that Knight will never be hired to boss it. Judging from last week's performing. Los Angeles is just emerging from the throes of a terrible slump. ABERDEEN, Wash. July 6.—(Special)—Jimmic Clark was released from the Aberdeen baseball club last night, and Manager John S. Barnes will finish the season with four pitchers. Red Murphy, who was arrested yeaterday following trouble with his wife, has been suspended, and probably will not play again this season.

His place is to be filled by Don Brown, of Beatrice, Neb., who has signed with Aberdeen and will arrive here on Friday. Barnes says Brown has a good record and that he is a player of promise. He has been hitting 219 in the Nebraska State League, it is rumored that Clark has a chance to join a Coast League ciub. Clark was the highest-priced man on the Aberts.
