COLUMBIA HIGHWAY PARTY ENTHUSIASTIC

Thousands Expected to Be Enthralled With Panorama Along Mighty River.

DEDICATION TOUR ENDS

Hood River and Every Hamlet on Route of Magnificent Boulevard Extend Royal Welcome to Visitors From Portland.

HOOD RIVER, Or., July 8 .- (Special.)-"In our 200-mile trip of the past three days," said S. Benson tonight, as he sat resting in the twilight glow on a veranda of the home of W. L. Clark, 'we have seen some of the things the Columbia Highway is going to open to the world and all of us, I think, have ret rned more enthusiastic than ever over the possibilities of the great

"We have looked on some of the world's most gorgeous scenery. We have ridden through the orchards of Hood River, Mosier and The Dalles, Nor shall we ever forget those wheat fields around Goldendale and Centerville, nor the panorama we had this afternoon as we came down from Lyle to White Saimon. It was something like the gimpse one gets in a moving picture show, but far more magnifi-

The eyes of Oregon's first citizen glowed with the feeling that consumed him as he talked, and those around him caught his enthusiasm.

Dedication Is Only Start.

"This little trip of the dedication party," said Rufus Holman, after Mr. Benson had paused, "is just the beginning of what is going to follow. In the near future just such parties by the thousands are going to see what we have seen and go away just as enthusiastic as we are. We were entertained astic as we are. We were entertained at every town and hamlet on our route. At every place we found the people ready for this great event of the opening of the highway and being imbued with an optimism now that it has come about."

WHITE SALMON, Wash., July 8.—
(Special) — The Columbia Highway dedication party left Maryhill this morning at 8:30, arriving at Goldendiale at 9:20, where refreahments were served and hour passed in looking over the town. The party, which numbered 31, was joined at Goldendale by N. B. Brooks, who acted as guide on the trip to White Salmon, coming by way of Lyle and Appleton, 68 miles. White Salmon was reached at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The party was met here by members of the White Salmon Commercial Club and taken for luncheon to the Eyrie, the beautiful country home of C. W. J. Reckers.

Samuel Hill acted as toastmaster and called for talks from members of the White Salmon Commercial Club, Judge Carey made a splendid talk, lauding Mr. Benson's work in furthering good roads in the Northwest Rufus Holman, H. Man Is Killed Clearing Streets in SHIP CREEK, Alaska, July 8.—The sale of lots in the railroad reserve along the route of the Government railroad from Seward to Fairbanks will begin tomorrow. It was originally sucheduled for loday, but was postponed to give buyers coming on the steamship Mariposn an opportunity to bid. A hundred men are at work clearing the streets of the townsite. Today, one of the workers, named Frank Amestoy, was killed by a falling tree.

Lieutenant Frederick Mears, of the Alaska Engineering Commission, who makes his headquarters here, has issued a notice to take possession of it Huntsman and his associates are said to have interfored and refused to let him go any further in the matter. It was because of this and their refusal to make division of the treasure that Anderson was arranging to fight the civil which brought about today's developments.

Ardrew Christensen, chief of the Alaska field division of the General Land Office, has posted a notice which says that no one will be permitted to occupy unsold lots. This means that they must buy lots or lease ground from purchasers, or move back two miles off the reserve.

DES MOINES, July &.—Attorney-General Cossoni today assigned C. A. Robbins, of his office, to take personal charge of the investigation at Bed-ford, Ia. of the alleged murder of a wealthy cattleman and his son by a gang of counterfeiters in 1868, which resulted today in the issuance of warrants for three men, prominent in the vicinity.

Mr. Robbins said the investigation

An old cannon on the Courthouse lawn was fired, and music from the local band, its members seated in cars leading the parade, added its melody to the joyous occasion.

Some of the members of the dedication party have returned to Portland by train. Others left this evening by automobile.

H. L. Pittock and party left this afternoon for Homer Rogers' Mount Hood lodge, whither Commissioners Holbrook and Lightner will go tomorrow to see a portion of the proposed route of the highway that will connect the Upper Hood River Valley with the old Barlow road, passing to the east side of Mount Hood. J. B. Yeon and A. S. Benson have joined their families at the cottage form of Mrs. Alma Howe. They held ten acres of land directly adjoining that subsequently occupied by Samuel Anderson, who dwelt in a frontier cabin. Early in the Fall of 1858 the gang began to talk of the expected visit of a cattle buyer, who was coming into the section to buy cattle and hogs, build immense corrals, and fatten the stock for market. They knew he would make an overland trip, as no railroads entered the territory for miles around.

On a moonlight night in September the Collins children heard a disturbance near the cabin. Maria, a daughter, who was 14 years old, went out on the porch to investigate. She heard men's voices, which seemed to be coming nearer. Suddenly the men turned the corner on her. They were carrying something heavy and limp in an old quilt. The body was that of 8 sine-appearing man whose clothing was of the best.

Not far away a youthful member of the gang was holding an ex-team. In the wagon was a chest, Seeing the girl, the men turned on her and compelled her to promise never to reveal the facts to any living person.
