Portland can well sympathize with "Humpty Dumpty" because our local ball athletes lost two games in one afternoon to Los Angeles yesterday and almost dropped out of the Coast League "Pop" Dillon's double win sent the Angels home with four games sent the Angels home with four games of the five in the series and only two games from the Seals.

The score of the first game was 2-1 and of the second 3-2.

The initial engagement was a pitching battle between Southpaw Lush and "Pol" Perritt. Harry Wolter won the game in the eighth inning because of his inability to bunt. McMullen began the fateful stanza by placing a single to center, with the score a 1-1 standoff. Wolter tried twice to sacrifice him to second base, and, falling in this, took a healthy wallop at one of

While Kahler's pitching was not so bad, his work in other departments was hardly in keeping with a big leaguer. Evidently Joe Birmingham never taught Kahler how to back up bases. His most palpable omission was in falling to get behind Carisch when Ellis was transed between third when Ellis was trapped between third and home in the eight inning. Ellis finally wormed past Carlsch, and, lo and behold, there was nary a soul at the home-plate to take a throw and Ellis waltzed over in high glee. Portland had plenty of chances in both games to score runs but things weren't breaking for them. In the first inning of the second affair the Beavers had the bags full and ready for business whereupon Walter Doane permitted himself to slumber off third. We cite this not as a rap at Doane but merely as evidence of one reason why the champions averaged only 1.6

Nearly 4000 fans were out basking in the warm sunshine and everybody enjoyed the initial duel. The other should have been fumigated. A patent clothespin over the nose would have relieved the sufferings of considerably more than that portion of the populace on good speaking terms with Mr. H. Fever.

Slim Dad Hughes made the erstwhile champions look like sure enough simians and the contrast between the ex-Washingtonian and the ex-Clevelander, Kahler, was almost as sharp as between a gnu and a wurra wurra.

OSTNER IS STAR OF GAME

idaho Player, in Thick of Every Fray, Makes Four Goals and Snatches Victory From Defeat Just Before Close.

BPOKANE, Wash., July 11.—(Special.)—With less than a minute to play. Cowley, playing No. 3 for Boise. Cracked the ball through the goal posts in the deciding match of the third annual Northwest pole tournament and Boise won the championship, defeating Spokane by the narrow margin of three-quarters of a point today. The score was 1% to 7 goals.

For almost three minutes Spokane had been leading by a scant quarter of a point, having won out in front, when Boise was penalized one-half a point when Falk crossed Pettit. It was casify the most spectacular match of pole ever played here.

Ostner Turas Tide.

Boise was strengthened by the presence of Ostner, who arrived in Spokane late Saturday night, and the clever No. I was easily the deciding element. Four times he drove the white sphere through the posts, thus accounting for four of the visitors' points. Ostner was in the thick of nearly every mixup and time and again he took the ball down the field with long, slashing strokes and when within scoring distance put it nearly between the poles.

Boise got the jump in the first chukka and held it until four minutes of the last period had been played. Ostner put his team off in front with a goal after two and a half minutes of play and further increased its lead by another shortly afterward. Petitit scored for Spokane after five minutes and Cowley ended the chukka by scoring for Boise after a fine dash. At time end of the first period Boise was leading. I to 1.

Spokane Makes Dash. Ostner Turns Tide.

In the eighth, when Falk fouled, Spo-kane was in the lead for three minutes, only to lose the match when Cowley made the deciding point.
