

THAW VERDICT IS EXPECTED TODAY

Alienist Witness Accuses Defendant of Trying to Hypnotize Him on Stand.

CHARGE IS REITERATED

Physicians at Matteawan Diagnose Prisoner's Malady as Constitutional Inferiority, With Paranoid Trend.

NEW YORK, July 13.—The state rested late today in the sanity trial of Harry K. Thaw, the jury's verdict in which, if approved by Judge Hendrick, will determine whether the slayer of Stanford White shall be returned to Matteawan or have his liberty restored. The case will reach the jury tomorrow, and a verdict is expected in the course of the afternoon.

A new angle as to the mental caliber of Thaw was given by Dr. Austin Flint, an alienist, who resumed the stand today. Dr. Flint told the court that Thaw had attempted to hypnotize him. Judge Hendrick regarded the alienist with some interest, then asked if he really believed Thaw was trying to hypnotize him. Thaw was trying to hypnotize him, Dr. Flint repeated his statement, declaring that Thaw had stared at him for 15 minutes.

The court's gavel was used vigorously to restore quiet.

Will Confirm Insanity Theory.

The other witnesses today were Dr. Amos T. Baker, assistant superintendent of Matteawan, and Dr. Raymond F. C. Kiehl, a physician at that institution while Thaw was confined there. Dr. Baker testified he examined Thaw on several occasions, had examined his will and a codicil, and that from these he had come to the conclusion that he was insane.

"Can you state with reasonable certainty whether at the present time Thaw is sane or insane?" asked Deputy Attorney General Becker.

"He is insane," he witness replied. Dr. Baker admitted he had observed no signs of insanity in Thaw during the present trial, except that while on the witness stand he had persisted in answering questions after objections had been raised by his counsel.

Difference Among Alienists Explained.

This tendency, he admitted, was indicative of bad judgment. The witness said he thought Thaw was suffering from constitutional inferiority, with a paranoid trend. Judge Hendrick at this point demanded to know how it was that the people put on the stand alienists who disagreed as to the mental condition of Thaw.

"I think I can explain that," said Mr. Becker. "If a man has a high fever, every one knows he is sick, but the doctors may disagree as to the reason."

Dr. Kiehl agreed with Dr. Baker that Thaw was suffering from constitutional inferiority with a paranoid trend. The only evidence of this he had noticed during the trial, he declared, was that Thaw's replies on the witness stand were somewhat rambling and incoherent.

turn, and I said I didn't want to talk to him."

"Why, he kept following me around and trying to talk to me. I was doing some work for the Sheriff and he dogged me wherever I went. I wouldn't talk to him at all."

"That what?" asked Mr. Reames.

"The company asked me to collect the note," replied Mr. Winnett.

"Then what happened?"

"I won the suit," was Mr. Winnett's laconic reply. Attorney McHenry objected to the incompetency of this evidence. Judge Bean sustained the objection and ordered the reply stricken from the record.

"What were you going to do with the two machines?" asked Attorney J. J. Fitzgerald, on cross-examination.

"I was going to use them in my mercantile business."

from you, and if you will send me check for $500 and let me hear from you within a few days I will send an application for you to sign, and should you not want this 300 shares within four months from this time I will take them and sell them at the rate in the price and make you whole in the matter.

"I have sold nearly every man more stock before the time is going up in price. This, of course, will be the last opportunity for you to get in at this price, and it is such a good thing that I hate to see you miss it, and I am sure that you will thank me sometime for giving you the opportunity."

Dividends Not Yet Paid.

The letter was written by Mr. Bonnewell from Kallispell, Mont. Mr. Carl then living at Flat Willow, Mont.

"Have you received any dividends yet?" asked United States Attorney Reames.

"No, I never got anything but stock certificates," replied the witness.

Vigorous objection was raised not only by Attorney McHenry, but by Attorney Pipes for Mr. Menefee and by Attorney Dobson for Frank LeMonn when Mr. Reames questioned Mr. Carl as to whether he had ever made complaint against the company's Legislature.

The United States Attorney said that he wished to controvert the assertion of attorneys for various defendants in their opening statements that R. A. Howe was the original instigator of the present action against Casper Company officials and the cause of all its trouble by showing that Carl was the original complainant.

He said he would not insist on attempting to introduce this evidence now, and might not do so at all. On his understanding Judge Bean permitted the witness to identify the letter he had written on May 13, 1913, to the post office authorities for the convenience of the United States Attorney later if he tries to introduce the evidence.

L. H. Robinson, stockman of Hycroft, Mont.; John M. Johnson, stockman of Grass Range, Mont.; and H. A. C. Luddeck, cattleman of Buffalo, Wyo., and member of the Wyoming Legislature, were other witnesses called by the Government at the afternoon session.

Witnesses at the morning session included George R. Withrow, of Moore, Mont., who invested $10,200 in stock bought from Bonnewell; A. H. Hay, a Chinese restaurateur, of Kallispell, Mont., who paid $33.30 in cash and received a board bill of $216.70, or $250 for 26 shares; and Clyde J. Mulkey, of Baker, Mont., stockman and bank director.

Their testimony as to representations made by salesmen to them was transferred to the same as that given by the other witnesses.

Pratt Inspection Reported.

Hay came to Portland in 1913, he testified on cross-examination, and saw the plant.

"How many men working there?" asked Attorney McHenry.

"About 40 or 50," replied Hay.

"Mighty fine institution, wasn't it?" Mr. Hay thought at that time it was," said Hay, who spoke almost perfect English.

"You went back and told other investors I looked pretty good?"

"I told them I had seen the factory."

ELK PARTIES COMING

Visitors Due Next Week on Way Home From Convention.

FIRST ARRIVAL WEDNESDAY

James Nicholson, New Grand Exalted Ruler, Friday Will Be Guest at Dinner and for Automobile Trip—Other Officials to Visit.

Portland Elk are planning to entertain members of their fraternity passing this way next week en route home from the National convention in Los Angeles.

A special train bearing members of the New Jersey lodges will be here next Wednesday, July 21; the New England Elks will be here on Thursday, and the grand lodge officers' special on Friday, July 23.

James H. Nicholson, the newly elected grand exalted ruler, will be at the head of the party arriving here on Friday and special entertainments are being planned in his honor. It is probable that the band of the Portland lodge will be out and that a large party of members will be here to greet Mr. Nicholson. Elks from other parts of the state, it is expected, will join in the festivities here.

Mr. Nicholson is well known in Portland. He officiated as grand exalted ruler at the National convention here three years ago and had charge of the big parade. He is popular throughout the organization, as is indicated by the fact that his election at Los Angeles yesterday was unanimous. He is a member of the Springfield, Mass., lodge, but now lives in Boston, where he is engaged in the wholesale grocery business. It is probable that a special lodge meeting will be held here on Friday night of next week. The grand exalted ruler is due to arrive at 1:30 P. M. Friday and depart at 5:30 o'clock the following morning.

A committee has been named by Mr. McDonald, exalted ruler of Portland lodge, to provide for the entertainment of the grand exalted ruler's party. The committee are Henry E. Reed, Henry Griffin, A. E. Jenkins, Sig Wertheimer, F. W. Wagner, M. E. Spaulding, John Falconer and Emil Waldman.

Accompanying the grand exalted ruler will be Fred C. Robinson, of Dubuque, Ia., grand secretary, and Charles A. White, of Chicago, grand treasurer, and other lodge officers. An automobile tour through the surrounding territory and a dinner are some of the entertainment features already proposed.

Other Girl in Party Is Hurt in Accident Caused by Attempt to Pass Machine on Grade.

ROSEBURG, Or., July 13.—(Special.)—While attempting to pass a tourist automobile on a narrow grade on the Pacific Highway about a mile south of Canyonville late today, a car occupied by A. H. Hanson, a Glendale merchant, his daughter, Bessie, and Mary Smith, left the grade and plunged down an embankment of 45 feet.

Miss Hanson was caught beneath the car and killed instantly. Mr. Hanson was seriously injured and is not expected to live. Miss Smith sustained numerous minor injuries.

Mr. Hanson and Miss Smith were taken to Canyonville, where they are being attended by physicians. Mr. Hanson was returning home from Canyonville, via Cow Creek Canyon, at the time of the accident.

SUBMARINE VICTIMS TALK

German Sailors Charged With Kicking Survivors Into Sea.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 13.—The British steamer Victorian arrived here today with four negro muleteers, survivors of the British muleship Armenian, sunk by a German submarine June 23, with the loss of more than a score of lives.

The negroes asserted that when they attempted to scramble aboard the submarine they were kicked off by the German sailors, who laughed at them.

Net Increase for Year Shown to Have Been 14,081—Assets of Subordinate Lodges Is Valued at $26,515,739.

LOS ANGELES, July 13.—Only two contests developed in the election of officers of the grand lodge of Elks, which had its first business session of the reunion today. Edward Masters, of Charleston, Pa., defeated Major John B. Jeffery, of Oakland, for grand trustee to succeed James H. Nicholson, of Boston, who was chosen grand exalted ruler. George F. Cooper, of Knoxville, Tenn., won over William Lown, Easton, Mich.

Baltimore won the 1916 convention from Atlanta by a vote of 714 to 255. The parade of electric floats decorated with the colors of the Elks wound up a day of entertainment, which was spent at Santa Monica and other beach resorts.

Reports of officers showed the order to be flourishing in finances and membership. At the year session April 1, 1915, 43,995 new members were admitted, bringing the total membership to 442,658. There were 18,728 members dropped from the rolls, 232 expelled, 7842 admitted and 4791 deaths. Thus the net increase in membership was 14,081. Ten new lodges were added, bringing the total to 125. There is a surplus of $694,547 in the treasury of the grand lodge, while subordinate lodges have net assets of $26,515,739.

which the United States has been contending should ensue.

Officials point out that while the German reply does not give any explicit assurance on the subject, the actual practice of German submarine commanders in the last two months has been to board neutral ships and to give warning to belligerent merchantmen, thus enabling crews to be transferred to boats in case of destruction of a vessel.

The American ship Norfolk was approached by a German submarine, whose commander examined the ship's papers and allowed her to proceed, notwithstanding the fact that she was carrying a cargo of lumber, which is on the German contraband list. The Norfolk's crew later rescued three Americans who were aboard the Russian ship Leo, which was sunk. Officials here could not determine from the meager advices whether the Americans had been aboard the Leo when small boats, or whether they were first removed to the Norfolk before the belligerent ship was destroyed.

In any event, this and other instances in the last two weeks are regarded here as evidence of the fact that the German submarine commanders probably have instructions to torpedo no ships without warning, and to destroy passengers and crew before destroying the vessels. The view in official quarters, therefore, is that if the present German submarine policy is continued, the next note of the United States, with its emphatic assertion of an intention to exercise neutral rights, will not need lead to a break between the two countries.

There are some officials, however, who regard the present situation as merely a truce during the pendency of the negotiations and who are not so confident that Germany has entirely abandoned her previous practices, to which the United States objects.

stores will remain closed until a decision is reached as to the circulation of paper money. The water supply has been cut.

Later information from Mexico City, telling of the driving of the Zapata forces from the outlying districts, detailed the capture of Carranza's troops. Carranza's troops, in command of General Hanklin, in his report, said that 10,000 bushels of sack corn and all sorts of baby food were needed. The milk supply in the city, he said, was inadequate.

White Carranza's soldiers control the capital, reports from Northern Mexico say Villa is pressing southward with a large expeditionary force. Conflicting reports were received regarding the situation at Piedras Negras. Carranza's agents here announced that the Villa agency said General Madero had sent word from Paredon that he defeated the Carranza forces completely at that point yesterday, driving them to Villa Garcia. Madero said his opponents lost 150 dead and 120 wounded.

A dispatch dated today from Piedras Negras to the Villa agency said General Madero had sent word from Paredon that he defeated the Carranza forces completely at that point yesterday, driving them to Villa Garcia. Madero said his opponents lost 150 dead and 120 wounded.
