STREET WORK BEING DONE.—Cochran-Cutting Company is pushing the improvement of the East Seventy-first-street district in Tabor Heights. This district includes East Seventy-first street, between East Taylor and East Stark streets; East Yamhill from East Sixty-ninth to East Seventy-first, and East Alder street from East Sixty-ninth to Ramsey Addition, the total cost being $12,824. Grading has been completed and the hard-surface will be laid. This improvement is classed as a concrete pavement to be maintained for a period of ten years by the city. The Brooke-street district is north of East Stark street and the contract has just been let. It takes in portions of Brooke, East Stark, East Sixty-ninth and East Sixty-eighth streets. The cost will be about $14,000.

SELLWOOD WANTS FOUNTAINS.—Sellwood's Board of Trade is asking the County to install fountains at the intersection of Umatilla avenue and East Thirtieth street and Spokane avenue and East Seventeenth street, or the old Milwaukee road, the latter to be for horses as well as men, as it would be convenient to people driving to and from the Sellwood ferry. J. E. Canfield and E. C. Boyer are in charge of the arrangements. Streetcars for Crystal Lake Park will leave First and Alder frequently during the day. WOMAN LOSES TRUNKS.—A woman moved from one place to another and in doing so lost the baggage checks of her sister's trunks, still at the depot, and with that to lose the key to the trunks, and all the spare change she had, was the unhappy fate that pursued Miss Pearl Miller, who lives with Mrs. Charles Chandler, 843 Seventh street North, Wednesday. Miss Miller lost her purse containing $11.50 and all these things somewhere on the East Side and diligent search failed to find them. She would be grateful if some one would return them, if found.

CAR VICTIM ASKS $25,000.—A. B. Hughes, demonstrator of fire apparatus, yesterday filed suit for $25,000 against the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company for injuries received when a streetcar collided with a motor-driven fire engine. The accident occurred May 21, 1915, at East Twenty-eighth and Burnside streets. Mr. Hughes' skull was fractured. The City of Portland had just bought the engine subject to approval and was demonstrating what it could do.

REV. SAMUEL WORCESTER RETAINED.—Rev. Samuel Worcester, of California, who has been supplying the pulpit of the New Jerusalem (Swedenborgian) Society, of Portland, for the past six months, was retained as pastor by a vote taken at a meeting of the members of the Portland Society at the home of Charles Cotel, the president, Tuesday night. Rev. Mr. Worcester's work was reported satisfactory to the society.

ACTRESS DEMOCRATIC IN WAYS, BUT BUSY

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Now in "Pygmalion" at Heilig, Brilliant Conversationalist, and Interested in Masses, Whom She Defends.

MRS. PATRICK CAMPBELL is a politician to her finger-tips. But she is also a wholeheartedly democratic in her philosophy and social convictions. If you are successful in finding her at a time when she has one lonely minute to spare, you will find her a brilliant conversationalist, with a wit less keen than George Bernard Shaw's and a sense of humor just as subtle. "I know it seems almost vulgar to appear so busy—especially in my profession—but I just haven't had a minute even to be conceded," she explained yesterday by way of an apology for having to be pursued diligently for an hour and a half between the theater and her hotel and back again before she was contented. "It's too bad. I'm sorry, but I'll try not to be morose about it. What is there about Mr. Shaw that can tell you that will be interesting—"

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Distinguished Actress, Who is in the Heilig "This Week in 4," Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion."

Every Moment is Occupied. And raising her well-shaped hand as if to "shoo" away the proposal that was about Mrs. Campbell and not Mr. Shaw that the public would learn, she added: "Don't tell me you want to talk about me. I know it's 'Pygmalion' and Mr. Shaw's philosophy. Dear me, I'm reeking with it. I guess you know it. And before you know it, Mrs. Campbell has fairly flitted 20 steps away to give an instruction to a business manager, or an assistant, or a waiter, or to ask someone to get her a bit of change or to do some one of the other little things she has to do in the course of a day and night besides play "Liza Doolittle" in "Pygmalion."

Mrs. Campbell is the head and shoulders and the body and feet of her business organization. Besides that she also thinks for herself and the future, and if an interview is edged into the day's routine it is given most willingly and fleetingly. Others Met on Equal Footing. But it also reveals, perhaps, the secret of George Bernard Shaw's choice when he selected Mrs. Campbell to interpret his highly literary "Pygmalion," which is on at the Heilig this week. For a human understanding of things, and for a woman who has become the wife of the aristocratic George Cornwallis-West, a personal friend of the King and crowned heads of Europe, she is almost disappointingly affable. Mrs. Campbell, to prove the point, she handed with a smile, and went down about the waistline. You don't have to stare-gaze to greet her, and it's an American handicap. Furthermore, she is not affected. She will smile rather than argue with you, and she will "give in" all this yesterday during the discussion of a business proposition which vitally concerned her. But it all went to explain why Mrs. Campbell was chosen by Mr. Shaw when he wrote the play—especially for her. She has such a human understanding of things.

Mr. Shaw's Work for Masses. "If you must know what I think of Mr. Shaw, aside from my admiration of MOOSE GO TO CONVENTION.—Judge Robert G. Morrow, as chairman of the Judiciary committee, and Bert E. Youmans, representing the state, left yesterday for San Diego to attend the convention of the Loyal Order of Moose to be held at that city beginning Monday, July 18. They were preceded by Andy Weinberger, supreme representative from Portland Lodge No. 291.

CHURCH RECITAL ANNOUNCED.—The Linden, a battalion of New York, organized by Herbert White, spoon, grand opera star of the Metropolitan Opera Company, of New York, arrived in Portland yesterday on a pleasure trip. It was announced last night that Mr. Lindgren, who is a friend of Rev. J. Richard Olson, will give a benefit concert and recital Friday night, July 23, at the Immanuel Lutheran Church. Mr. Lindgren is at the head of the musical department of the Michigan State Normal School.

EX-PORTLANDER IS DEAD.—George W. Phelps, a former resident of this city, died at Los Angeles July 8, 1915, at the age of 65 years. During the late '90s Mr. Phelps was connected with the Tucson branch of the Santa Fe and Pacific, and while leaving the railroad was engaged in other occupations in Arizona. Mr. Phelps is survived by a widow and son.

CHURCH CAMP PROTESTED.—Nearby Residents Complain of Noise at Apostolic Faith Meeting.

A petition that the Apostolic Faith campmeeting near Lombard street and Patton avenue be suppressed on account of the noise the audience makes at night was delivered to the police Wednesday by 19 residents of the vicinity of the encampment. The petitioners also object to the dry grass and brush which have been cut to make roads on the campground.

his genius and the work his technic causes it is this," Mrs. Campbell went on to say about the time you wanted to ask her what she was going to do next season, or how she liked Portland, etc. "I think Mr. Shaw is for the masses, and not for the ultra-intellectual, as some people suppose. Mr. Shaw's literary ability is art and that is why. Is a painter who can paint a fine picture to be appreciated only by those who feed their eyes on fine paintings always? Or is a masterpiece of music any the less appreciated by the masses because it is a rare composition? No, it is because Mr. Shaw writes for the people, for the people—and I am almost tempted to say 'by the people'—that makes him a literary artist and master storyteller."

Love of Art Work Inspiration. Whoever says Mr. Shaw writes "over the head" so to speak, of the masses hasn't Mrs. Campbell's sympathy. "We're all the masses," she retorts pointedly. "I went down into the dress of Covent Garden to study Eliza Doolittle and I found down there a surprisingly human understanding of Mr. Shaw. Some of the people down there—I mean the so-called masses—learn as much from one book or play of Shaw's as some of us others who have time and opportunity to read him through and through have. They learn to do on less of the material luxuries of life, and they also learn by the same processes to do on less of the intellectual, but their understanding is hardly the less keen in proportion."

COMMUNITY BODY FORMED. Association to Work for Development of Peninsula District. Preliminary organization of a community association was effected Wednesday night at a meeting at Shaw's as some of us have mentioned to co-operate with the people of St. Johns and other sections in the development of the Peninsula district. C. A. Dotson, who presided as temporary chairman, outlined the needs of the Peninsula, and what is desired to undertake. Mr. Dotson said concerted action is sought to secure a swimming pool in Columbia Park, fire protection, police protection and other things.

R. O. Backman, G. Love and J. J. Stephens were appointed committee on permanent organization, to report back constitution and bylaws at a meeting to be held next Wednesday night.

MORE FLOORS IN USE. Part of New Meier & Frank Building Ready for Trade. ALL SPACE EMPLOYED. Simple but Elegant Furniture, Great Windows and Efficient Lighting System and Well-Stocked Shelves Are Discovered.

Two more floors of the new Meier & Frank store have been opened to the public. On the second floor, where the yardage goods have been assembled, the first impression gained is that of a great amount of space well utilized. The cases and counters have been uniquely arranged. The aisles are broad and long, the room more than ample and the light and ventilation unusual. The fittings are simple, although elegant, being entirely of mahogany. The shoe department, which will be one of the big features of the new store, occupies the third floor. Every requirement necessary for the proper display of footwear has been studiously supplied. The shopper may gain an adequate foretaste of the comfort that will characterize the entire store by visiting these two new departments. The possibility of congestion of crowds has been eliminated by the installation of elevators and escalators, 14 of which will soon be running to the fourth floor. The escalators are already running and have proved a delight to thousands of visitors. The most thorough care has been given the heating and the lighting of the new building. The air will be washed and cooled in Summer and washed and heated in Winter. There is a multiplicity of outlets to admit a maximum amount of daylight and the electric fittings light the building in a most efficient manner. As the different floors are finished they will be thrown open to the public and in this way the patrons of Portland's newest store will be thoroughly familiar with every department by the time the building is entirely completed.

$1,665,000 SUIT IS FILED. Development of Deschutes Power Project Is Made Issue.

Charney, who alleges that he would have made that amount if a Deschutes power project in which he was interested had not failed.
