New Store Talks

Number Twelve

It may be of interest to the public to know that the fifteen large glass plates for the front show windows in the new store are the largest ever brought to Portland. The risk and the great cost of handling made this a very precarious matter. All the plate glass used in this huge building was brought here in special railway cars known as "gondolas," which allow the case to rest within a foot of the road-bed and thus, in spite of the great height, clear obstructions such as bridges, tunnels, etc., en route. The plates are packed three in a case and it required fourteen men to handle each plate and set it in place in the building.

All the exterior windows in the new building are glazed with the best quality polished American plate glass, with the exception of the transom lights over the show windows, which are prism plate glass, polished on one side and with prismatic corrugations on the other to reflect the light back into the store. All elevator and stair enclosures are glazed with wire glass, which is as nearly fire-proof as any material can be. There are about 25,000 separate lights of wire glass used in the interior of the store.

VERNON MAIN IS READY

WATER IS EXPECTED TO BE PUT INTO STANDPIPE TODAY.

Shortage and Low Pressure Will Be Eliminated by New System Supplying Peninsula.

Low pressure and water shortages in the district about the Vernon standpipe will be replaced with strong pressures and ample water supply today or tomorrow, when water is turned for the first time into the new 30-inch trunk main extending from Fifty-ninth and Fremont to the Vernon standpipe. The big main was completed yesterday. Gangs of men started work about three months ago, one force starting at Fifty-ninth and Fremont and the other at the standpipe. They worked toward each other and met yesterday at Forty-second and Skidmore streets. The big pipe was lowered and the two ends joined. Tests of the pipe will be made today and, if there are no leaks, the water will be turned on. The main, which connects with the Mount Tabor reservoirs, more than doubles the supply of water to the standpipe. The standpipe supplies a vast district in the Peninsula. The gangs of workmen will start today to extend a 24-inch main from the standpipe to Union avenue, where connection will be made with other trunk mains leading into the outer Peninsula district. The work will be hurried along as rapidly as possible. The cost of the big main completed yesterday was about $110,000. The pipe is two and one-half feet in diameter.

MRS. EMILY COWLING DEAD

Native Who Saw Portland Grow to City Survived by Six Children.

Mrs. Emily A. Dowling, who died Sunday night at her home at 190 East Twenty-fourth street North, was born in Portland, 60 years ago. Her father, Edwin Dalton, was a pioneer and brother of William Dalton. Mrs. Dowling witnessed the growth of Portland from a village on the Willamette River to the city it is.

She lived at Ninth and Burnside streets for 55 years, when she moved to her recent home. Three years ago she was stricken with paralysis and remained an invalid. Mrs. Dowling was the mother of Grace Dowling, Mrs. Charles F. Foster, Edwin S. Dowling, James Dowling, Florence Dowling and Orme Dowling, and sister of Ewin M. Dalton and Mrs. F. W. Molson, of Montreal. Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 from the residence.

TENT CITY DRAWS THROUGH

Speakers at Holiness Campmeeting Have Traveled Long Distances.

Rev. C. W. Ruth, of Indianapolis, who is attending the eleventh annual campmeeting of the Oregon Holiness Association at East Thirty-third and Mason streets, is probably the most widely traveled evangelist in the United States and Canada. Since he entered the evangelistic field he has averaged 24,000 miles a year and the past year he traveled 31,000 miles, covering his field and filling appointments.

Rev. Charles Stalker, another evangelist, has traveled over the world, and has just returned from a trip around the world. He will deliver a missionary address Thursday afternoon at the campmeeting.

Sunday about 1500 attended the campmeeting. Representatives are present from Oregon and Washington. About 100 tents are on the grounds.

LATER FERRY TRIPS ASKED

Sellwood Club Complains to County Commissioners of Service.

Complaints declaring that the Sellwood ferry does not operate at the hours when it is most needed, and that it is sometimes put out of commission entirely without proper notice, have been received by the County Commissioners. A movement now is on foot to keep the ferry operating until midnight.

At present the ferry closes at 7 P. M. The Sellwood Commercial Club, which has been active in objecting to the method of operation of the ferry, asks

OILTON FRANCHISE PENDS

No Agreement Yet Reached Between United Railways and County.

No agreement was reached yesterday between the county and the United Railways on the freight franchise between Portland and Oilton, and the use of the railroad to Linton is still held up on this account. O. M. Clark and others have asked a passenger franchise over the same tracks to Linton, and this cannot be granted until the

LINTON WELLS CLOSED

Health Department Finds Many Using Contaminated Water.

Chemical analysis of spring and well water at Linton has disclosed the fact that much of the water of that locality is contaminated. Accordingly City Health Officer Marcellus has ordered the wells closed as a health safeguard.

While most of Linton is supplied with Bull Run water, many wells and small springs are used by individual families. These will be placarded by the Health Bureau as a warning against use of the water.

240 JITNEYS ARE PASSED

By Expiration of Limit Saturday 325 Expected to Be Enrolled.

With 240 jitneys permitted to operate by Inspector Gallup, the end of the initial inspection of cars and drivers is in sight. Saturday has been set as the final day for inspections. All drivers who have failed to pass inspection and secure permits before noon of that day will be arrested if they continue to operate.

It is expected there will be more than 325 cars in the service after the final check. About 29 have been discarded so far and probably half a dozen more will be rejected between now and Saturday.
