

ELKS' RULER TO REACH HERE TODAY

James R. Nicholson and His Party to Be Welcomed by Portland Lodge.

NEW ENGLANDERS GUESTS

Edward Leach, Recently at Head of Order, Leads Large Delegation for Brief Stay and Rides Are Taken About City.

If a person examined the register in the Portland Elks' Club yesterday he must have imagined himself in the office of a Boston hotel, for the pages were filled with the names of New England towns, stretching all the way from Long Island Sound to the Canadian border.

It was New England day with the Portland Elks, and New England certainly did its share by furnishing the proper quota of visitors.

And it is to be assumed that Portland did its share by making official visits to the visitors on automobile rides, entertaining them at the club-rooms and hotels, and providing many and varied pleasures.

A most welcome and unexpected arrival at the Elks' home yesterday was Edward Leach, of Boston, grand exalted ruler, and Mrs. Leach, who have many friends in Portland.

Visitors Ahead of Schedule. They were scheduled to arrive late today in company with James R. Nicholson, the new grand exalted ruler, but Mr. Leach's business demanded that he proceed to Portland on the other party. Mr. Leach is associated with F. M. Warren & Co., of Portland, handling their products in New York and vicinity.

The Los Angeles convention was not as big as the one in Portland three years ago," said Mr. Leach, "but it was one of the most successful in the history of Elksdom." He left with Mrs. Leach last night for Vancouver, B. C., where he will be detained for several days on business.

Today, however, will be the "big day" as far as the Portland Elks are concerned. Grand Exalted Ruler, James R. Nicholson, and his immediate party will arrive on the Shasta Limited at 1:50 o'clock, and the grand exalted ruler, and a big delegation of Portland lodge-men will be at the Union Station to meet them.

Official Visits Delay. Mr. Nicholson is a member of the lodge at Springfield, Mass., and started to the Pacific Coast with the New England Elks, who arrived in Portland yesterday. As he is making official visits to the various lodges in the Pacific Northwest, he could not return with the other New Englanders.

Others who will arrive with Mr. Nicholson today are Fred C. Robinson, of Dubuque, Ia., grand secretary, and Mrs. Robinson; Charles E. White, of Chicago, grand treasurer, and Mrs. White; Rev. John Dyzart, of Dubuque, Ia., grand chaplain; John D. Shea, of Hartford, Conn., and several others. Mr. Shea also was a member of the New England party. K. K. Kuhl, past exalted ruler of Portland lodge, who attended the Los Angeles convention, will return home in company with the Nicholson party.

Another prominent Elk who visited Portland yesterday was Henry J. Walter, past exalted ruler of the Philadelphia lodge.

Two Conventions Stand Out. "The Elks have had only two conventions," said Mr. Walter, "Philadelphia in 1907 and Portland in 1912."

Among the other prominent members of the New England party in Portland yesterday were: Thomas E. Donohue, of New London, Conn., grand tier; Bernard E. Corbin, district deputy at Lynn, Mass.; Dr. E. L. Davis, district deputy at Burwell, Pa.; James L. Johns, district deputy at Boston, Mass.; William E. Kinney, district deputy at Claremont, N. H.; Edwin S. Lincoln, district deputy at Gardner, Me.; James E. McGann, district deputy at New Haven, Conn.; C. W. Pennington, district deputy at Rutland, Vt.; E. A. Clark, past exalted ruler of Portland lodge; W. T. Emerson, past exalted ruler of Augusta, Me.; Philip W. Goewey, past exalted ruler of Pittsfield, Mass.; Claude C. King, of Springfield, Mass.; William McMurray, past exalted ruler of Troy, N. Y.; P. J. McShane, past exalted ruler of Malden, Mass.; Ora A. Meader, of Waterville, Me.; Mrs. Meader, and Miss Marjorie Meader; John B. Tracey and Mrs. Tracey, of Taunton, Mass.; Charles T. Matthews, of Roseburg, Ore.; Frank H. Volpe, Mrs. Volpe and Miss Lena Volpe, of Medford, Mass.

Other Parties Arriving. The New England party left last night for Everett, Brierley, and other attached Elks who attended the Los Angeles convention are traveling through Portland, arriving on almost every train.

Elaborate entertainment will be provided for the grand exalted ruler and his party today. They will be conducted to the Imperial Hotel, where they will have headquarters. Beginning at 3:30 o'clock they will be taken on an automobile tour through the scenic portions of the city. At 6:30 o'clock tonight they will be the guests of honor at a banquet at the Imperial, and at 9 o'clock they will hold an informal reception at the Elks' Club.

They will leave the following morning for Tacoma and Seattle.

COLLEGE WILL EXTEND

ACADEMY AT WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY TO BE BUILT UP.

Big Campaign Being Waged by Students and Faculty for Large Enrollment—New President Takes Charge.

That Willamette University will have one of the largest student bodies in the history of the school next winter is the belief of Dean George H. Alden, of the College of Liberal Arts, who was in Portland yesterday on business for the school. He says that a big campaign for students is being carried forward this summer, not only by the school itself, but also the students. Dr. Carl Gregg Doney, the new president, is now at Salem and has assumed charge of the institution.

"An special attempt is being made to strengthen the academy of the school," said Dr. Alden. "That department is to have a principal, Burgess Ford, formerly principal of the Estacade High School, and also five teachers. The academy is to be conducted in the old medical building."

Dr. Alden said that the head of the school of music and an athletic director were still to be elected by the faculty. He said that there were several applicants in view for both positions and that he would probably make a trip within a week or two to look up the qualifications of some of them before an election was made in either department.

The university had hoped to secure Dr. G. Sweetland, the former athletic director, who is now at Hobart College, New York, to take charge of the athletics again, but Mr. Alden said there is no possibility of securing him this year.

DEPUTY TO TAKE BENCH

JUDGE STEVENSON WILL LEAVE ON VACATION AUGUST 1.

Frederick Stadter to Serve as Same Salary Received as Attorney's Aide, With Saving to City.

Frederick W. Stadter, Deputy City Attorney, is to be appointed by Mayor Albion acting Municipal Judge to serve during the absence of Judge Stevenson, who leaves on a vacation August 1. He will continue on his salary as Deputy City Attorney, saving the taxpayers the $113 that is usually appropriated while the municipal magistrate is on his annual rest.

Judge Stevenson, who will be gone about two weeks, intends to visit the San Francisco Exposition and pass most of his vacation about the Bay City.

Mr. Stadter is planning no startling innovations while he is on the bench. He will continue the policy of leniency where offenses are not grave. He believes that the traffic laws, especially need to be enforced during the summer, when all who own machines are enthusiastic autoists, and will see that they are strictly enforced. Speeding in the business district will be dealt with harshly.

In addition to saving money for the city, in the appointment of Mr. Stadter a man is placed on the municipal bench who is familiar with Police Court routine and who knows the methods that have met with success and the old offenders that will come before him.

Judge B. H. Haney, of the firm of Joseph & Haney, served as Municipal Judge last year during the absence of Judge Stevenson.

SCORES ASK GUY BERTH

Preparations for Naval Militia Training Trip Are Completed.

Prompted by desire to go on the cruise that will be taken next week by the Oregon Naval Militia, scores have sent applications to Captain Blair, of the reserves. The Naval Militia, however, does not care for men who are eager to enlist just before a cruise and then tire of the work when the trip is over, and the applicants have been turned away with the advice to report again in the fall.

As head of the Canadian Homestead Company, Rossman engaged in many transactions which brought a flood of complaints to the District Attorney's office, and more than once he has been before the Grand Jury. The charges before the Grand Jury, especially to which he indicated he would plead guilty was that of passing a check for $17,000 on a local bank in which he had no funds. A charge of larceny by bailie was lodged against Rossman Tuesday, but will be dismissed when the case is returned to the state. At one time Rossman was a lawyer in Wisconsin.

A charge of larceny by bailie was lodged against Rossman Tuesday, but will be dismissed when the case is returned to the state. At one time Rossman was a lawyer in Wisconsin.

Still saying nothing, Inspector Ruddiford went to California. He went out alone to talk with McDaniels. The confession of the clerk, his arrest and that of his young wife as an accessory followed. More than that, McDaniels told where $13,000 of the stolen money was hid under a chicken coop in his yard, and that much of the $17,000 was recovered. The robbery took place in December, 1913, and there was little to cast suspicion on McDaniels. In fact, the postal authorities were inclined at first to suspect the postmaster and his assistant, who were both dismissed.

Inspector Ruddiford, however, had a "hunch" on McDaniels. For months this clerk, one of several others in the office, was watched almost continually. So quietly was it done that the general public and those in the postoffice, including McDaniels, supposed the case had been dropped.

McDaniels obtained a transfer to the postoffice at Palo Alto, Cal. All this time Inspector Ruddiford was working in his own way. A short time ago he obtained information that left no doubt that McDaniels was the man who had committed the crime.
