the Orkney Islands Sunday night. The episode has created widespread discussion in England, coming as it did almost coincidentity with the delivery of the American note to Germany.

Only mesger facts of the destruction of the Leelanaw have been received here, but it is clear that the submarine gave the commander of the steamer ample warning, even permitting the crew to collect part of their effects before taking them aboard the under-water craft, which then, through the combined use of shell fire and bombs sent the vessel to the bottom. The London evening papers in telling of the incident, employ in some cases, suggestive captions, such as an "Unfriendly Act," but because the American note laid so much stress on the demand that American lives on merchant ships should not be jeopardized without warning, it was difficut for the English mind to determine whether the sinking of the ship after the crew were taken off constituted what America would regard as a repetition of acts which she insists must cease.

Reply by Sir Edward Grey Presents New Blockade Problems for Study.

DIFFERENCES NOT RADICAL

Legal Experts for United States Take View That America's Contention of Right to Ship to Belligerent by Neutral Stands.

WASHINGTON, July 26.-In announce ing today the receipt from Great Britain of a reply to the American note of March 30, which protested against the British order-in-council and French decree of similar contents, Secretary Lansing said that the dispatch of a new note to the allies on the subject, which has been under consideration for sev-eral weeks, would now be delayed until the latest communication from London was thoroughly studied.

With the sending of the note last week to Germany on submarine warfare, the general impression given in official quarters was that the protest to Great Britain would go forward within another week. The arrival of a new note from Sir Edward Grey, argu-ing at length in defense of the socalled blockade under the order-in council, has given the lawyers of the State Department additional phases of the case for examination.

Civil War Case Precedent. The note, which arrived from Am bassador Page today, does not, it is upderstood, reveal any important devia-tion in the argument already made by Great Britain, but lays added emphasis on the policy pursued by the United States in the Civil War as a precedent Justifying the British position.

Legal experts of the Government indicated that, while the new British note would require study, it does not, in their opinion, affect the American position in insisting that non-contraband goods destined to or from a bei-ligerent through a neutral country, are not subject to the rules of blockade.

Matamoros Case Cited. In support of this, the American Gov ernment stands on the famous Mata-moros cases in the Civil War, in which the United States Supreme Court ruled that the non-contraband portion of cargo shipped from England to Mexico destined to Texas, which was ther blockaded, must be released, since a blockade could not be legally operated against a neutral coast. It is probable that Secretary Lansing will draft a new note on the entire matter and submit it to President
