from six Western associations belonging to the Amateur Athletic Union will meet here Friday night to protest against what are considered overbal-anced conditions in the management of amateur athletics in the United States. The date of the meeting was announced Dundee. today, and 't was said that R. G. Par-vin, of Denver, president of the Far-Western association and of the Rocky Mountain association, would occupy the

The feeling has grown in the Western states that athletic affairs are too much controlled by the East, and the announced purpose of this meeting is to draft proposed amendments to the constitution of the Amateur Athletic Union which will give the member associations autonomy in local affairs. This, it is asserted by officers of the Pacific association, will greatly facilitate the conduct of affairs west of the Mississippi Valley and will stimulate athletics.

From official sources comes the statement that the awarding of the indoor awimming championships to Eastern cities this year after they had been granted to San Francisco is a fact behind the calling of the meeting. Among the delegates whose names have been given out in connection with Friday's meeting are:
