The pigs entered his vineyard Monday and Mr. Kleemann undertook to eject them. After chasing them around he succeeded in getting a grip on one of the pig's hind legs. The pig dragged the architect over some logs, through a blackberry jungle and landed him in a barbed-wire fence so firmly that he was held like a vise. Having disposed of Mr. Kleemann, the pig returned to the vineyard and finished that job. The occupants of a passing automobile seeing the architect's predicament came to his assistance, released him and chased the pigs away.

COUSINS TO WED AT SEA

Pair Are Determined on Marriage Despite Legal Obstacle.

Because first cousins cannot marry in the United States, John Jay, a rancher of Blachly, Lane County, Oregon, and Miss Ida Birtheisen, of Leota, will go to the high seas, three miles beyond the coast, to be married. They declared their intention of doing so yesterday when they were informed by John W. Cochran, Deputy County Clerk, that they could not secure a license to wed.

Jay's mother and Miss Birtheisen's mother are full sisters. When they appeared at the Courthouse yesterday they had some doubt about their ability to be married here. "If we can't get out on the high sea, we will go to Canada, and if we can't do it there, we will go to some country where we can. We're going to be married anyway," said Mr. Jay.

SHOW TO BE SCENIC

Wonders of Oregon to Feature Manufacturers' Exhibit.

MANY TOURISTS EXPECTED

Government Relief Maps Will Outline Trails and Roadways and Guidebooks Will Give Information on Attractions.

Oregon's scenic wonders will feature the coming Manufacturers' and Land Products Show. Space will be reserved for a division of the big exhibits to be called "With the Camera in Oregon."

In the section to be devoted to the state's tourist attractions will be a display of photographs, showing the Columbia River Highway, Mount Hood, Crater Lake, Josephine caves, scenes along the scenic coast, the house of the Dalles, trails and roadways to lakes, mountains and rivers, automobile trips out of Portland, the fishing streams, hunting grounds and many other such features.

Heavy Tourist Travel Expected.—Thousands of tourists from every part of the country will visit Portland this year, attracted by the two California expositions. Many have made the trip over the Columbia River Highway and returned to their homes in the East, South or Middle West enthusiastic over the beauties here.

It is the opinion of many that Portland will have a heavy tourist trade the next few years, the direct result of the visit of these tourists, since they have left with a good impression of the scenery and what Portland and Oregon has to offer the tourist, and may return themselves to pass more time in the state.

Railroads Aid to Be Asked.—The plan will be to assemble photographs from commercial organizations over the state and display them in an attractive manner. The railroads and steamship lines will be asked to cooperate. Literature descriptive of the state's scenic beauties and points of interest will be distributed.

Government relief maps showing trails and roadways, National forest reservations for game purposes, guidebooks and a general line of information regarding the scenic attractions will be available for visitors.

Exposition officials believe it would be an excellent time to impress upon Portland people who visit the show the necessity for knowing just what the state has to offer to the tourist, as well as the manufacturer and the homemaker.

Sisters Take Turn as Maids of Honor for Each Other.

Amelia Kessler Surprises Newly Wedded Pair by Demanding Similar Aid at Own Wedding.

"W"ONT you be bridesmaid at our wedding?" Carrie Kessler, aged 18, asked her sister, Amelia, aged 13, several months ago, when the wedding day of the younger sister and A. Langdon, a butcher living at Union avenue and Clackamas street, was set for July 26.

"Why, certainly, dear," was the sisterly reply. Now, Amelia had been engaged for nearly two years to Eldon Crewse, a motorman in the employ of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, and the couple about had decided to be married next Fall. When Langdon asked his friend Crewse to officiate as best man at the Langdon-Kessler ceremony a new idea was born.

The idea came to maturity Monday noon. The ceremony at Vancouver, Wash., had been solemnized by the minister was blessing Mr. and Mrs. Langdon, when Amelia whispered in her sister's ear.

"Really?" was the astonished, but pleased, reply.

Langdon said something to Crewse, and the latter replied with a question. "Why, sure I will," was Langdon's response.

Whereupon Mr. and Mrs. Langdon carried off honors as best man and bridesmaid as the Crewse-Kessler knot was tied.

Mrs. Crewse was formerly a telephone exchange operator at the Good Samaritan Hospital, but told none of her friends of her intentions. Where she is spending her honeymoon is not yet known to her friends, most of whom have not heard of the wedding, but the Langdons are honeymooning at Tacoma.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied by rubbing it on the skin, then off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone.—Adv.

Tan, Red or Freckled Skin Is Easily Shed

To free your Summer-soiled skin of its mudlines, freckles, blotches or tan, the best remedy is to use Freckle Remover on the skin itself. This is easily accomplished by the use of ordinary mercurized wash, which can be had at any drug store. Use at night as you use cold cream, washing it off in the morning. Immediately the offending surface skin begins to come off in fine powder-like particles, gradually the entire cuticle is absorbed, without pain or inconvenience. The second layer of skin now in evidence presents a spotless whiteness and sparkling beauty obtainable in no other way I've ever heard of.

If the heat tends to loosen and wrinkle your skin there's an effective and harmless remedy you can readily make at home. Just let an ounce of powdered salicylic cleansive in a half pint of water and bath your face in the liquid. This at once tightens the skin and smooths out the lines, making you look years younger.—Daily Citizen in Rome, Queen.—Adv.
