The statistics on canned salmon are usually authentic, because the figures are made by the United States Government, and not by any individual or firm. The total pack of salmon for 1914 was 6,570,000 cases. The total shipments for the fiscal year from June 30, 1914, to June 30, 1915, were 6,635.

O00 cases, showing clearly that consumption a shead of production, based upon last provisions. is ahead of production, based upon last year's results. Of this 6,570,000 cases of all grades of salmon, there was included a total of Alaska red salmon of 2,172,000 cases. This was the record pack of Alaska red.

A shortage, as is now indicated, of 331-3 per cent, is accepted by factors who are deeply interested in the question of production and distribution as a very serious situation to face.

So far, it is quite apparent that the Puget Sound sockeye pack will be lighter than the corresponding year, four years ago, which is always taken as the basis for present estimate.

The so-called red salmon, based upon 1914 included British Columbia, and, including Alaska red, shows a total of the red varieties of but little short of 7,000,000 cases, or nearly 50 per cent of the total pack of salmon of the world. That there is a shortage of pack to date of Alaska red salmon one appears to controvert. This situation in this particular grade of salmon will b ched with a good deal of interest by

SUGAR MARKET IS 30 CENTS LOWER. Sharp Decline Is Announced by the Local BEST PRICE PAID AT LOCAL YARDS

All grades of refined sugar were reduced cents a hundred yesterday, following the decline in the Eastern market. As the New York market dropped another 30 cents yesterday, it leaves the Coast market a very weak one. The present local quotatio on cane sugar is $6.00. A year ago, sugar was selling in the local market at $5,21 two years ago at $5.05, three years ago two years ago at $5.05, three years ago at $6.25.

A mail report from New York says of the sugar situation:

"The natural accumulation of offers in cidental to the comparatively small business of the preceding three weeks was evidenced by a supply exceeding the demand of the refiners at this level, with the result that, instead of responding to the increased activity by a greater show of firmness, as on previous occasions of similar character, our market has relapsed into a state of duliness. There are now rather free sollers of Cubas for August shipments at 3.875c, c. f., without finding buyers interested thereat. However, the quantity so far purchased will not by any means suffice for meeting requirements during the month of August, which is expected to be unusually heavy in view of the continued inquiries for American granulated from both the United Kingdom and France.

There was a fair run of livestock at the yards yesterday, but the —market was inclined to be week all around. The best price obtainable for the lambs offered was $9.15, a dime under the quantity of the opening of the week. Wethers offered was $1.15, a dime under the quantity of the opening of the week. Speculation in War Stocks Is Less Extravagant.

Substantial Advances Scored Under
Lead of Reading—Foreign Exchange Rates on All Centers
Are Lower—Bonds Strong.

NEW YORK, July 30. — Trading in the stock market today was characterized by less extravagant speculation in war issues. Yesterday's violent reaction caused traders to proceed more cautiously and the outside demand fell off. For the most part they hid under the high records made yesterday, but they did retain the greater part of their recent large gains. The volume of business diminished from the exceptional figures of the two preceding days, amounting to 550,000 shares.

At the opening, efforts to resume the upward movement met with temporary success. On the early rise there were gains or a points in Republic Steel, 9 in American Coal Products and or a points in Republic Steel, 3 line-chainers, Westinghouse Electric and others.

Large offerings were made at the highest figures and there was a reaction. Thereafter, the market was unsettled, frequently changing in tone.

As the position of the industrials became As the position of the industrials became more uncertain, the railroads began to come to the fore. The demand for these stocks increased and under the lead of Reading a number of substantial advances were achieved. Later there were recessions, especially among the Western railroads. St. Paul was heavy on the reduction in the dividend rate.

showing, as they do, the largest monthly output since October, 1913, and a daily average 6346 tons greater than in May of this year. The total in June reached 2,350,827 tons, or 73,615 tons a day, against 2,263,470 tons, or 73,615 tons a day in the preceding month, while the capacity of the 218 furnaces in hinst on July 1 was 80,411 tons daily against 75,645 tons for the 106 furnaces active on June 1.

Production is now estimated at the rate of 29,500,000 tons a year, against 27,400,000 tons a month previous and only 18,000,000 tons on January 1.

Some foundries have been sounding the market for deliveries in the first quarter and half of 1916 and, while no important bookings are noted, holders generally are firm in their views and in some instances former quotations have been withdrawn.

As to the finished lines, recent gains are fully maintained and it is alguificant that activity promises to continue throughout the Summer months, with the probability of further expansion being made. This is an unusual condition, inasmuch as there is invariably a luil at this session of the year. Operations, however, steadily broaden and many mills in the Pittsburg district are running practically at capacity, the Carnegies Steel Company having all but one of its plants active. and half of 1916 and, while no important bookings are noted, holders generally are firm in their views and in some instances former quotations have been withdrawn.

As to the fluished lines, recent gains are fully maintained and it is significant that activity promises to continue throughout the Summer months, with the probability of further expansion being made. Operations, however, steadily broaden and many mills in the Pittsburg district are running practically at capacity, the Carneties Steel Company having all but one of its plants active.

The demand from the railroads leaves continues a feature and it is the urgent foreign requirements that are causing gradual strengthening of prices. Generally, the tendency is upward, atthough some irregularity still prevails, especially in plates and shapes. The 1914 period preceded all thought of a general war in Europe. The complete paying of 23 blocks in the business year 1914 thowed the effects of the war and high sugar prices on consumption by siving an increase in consumption for the whole year of only 0.473 per cent.
