

PATENT FOR GREAT PACIFIC NAVY-ARD

Bremerton Favored as Site by Head of Senate Naval Affairs Committee.

DEEP WATER ADVANTAGE

Mare Island Site Declared to Be of Secondary Importance — Best Modern War Machines Advocated by Visiting Senator.

"We should have a navy-ward on the Pacific Coast equal in importance and capacity to the Brooklyn Navy-ward on the Atlantic," declared Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, of South Carolina, upon his return yesterday from a two weeks' trip to Puget Sound and Alaska, and then continued with this important observation:

"And I believe that Bremerton, on Puget Sound, is the place destined for the future great navy-ward of the Pacific. Senator Tillman is chairman of the naval affairs committee in the upper house of Congress, and his utterances on this subject carry with them the weight of authority.

He proceeded then to explain his reasons for preferring Puget Sound to Mare Island as the site for further naval development. Mare Island has shallow water with a mean depth of not more than 26 feet. By constant dredging this can be extended to a depth of 30 feet. The water right off the dock at Bremerton is 42 feet deep—deep enough to accommodate the largest war vessel afloat.

Expense at Bremerton Lower. The expense to the Government in equipping and maintaining a big naval plant at Bremerton would be far below the probable cost of the same work at Mare Island, says Senator Tillman.

"By this I don't mean that we should neglect the Mare Island station," he continued. "In fact, it is in need of development, and doubtless will get a large share of development, but with the completion of the Panama Canal and the growing importance of the Pacific Coast we should make this Coast equal in the ability to protect itself with the Atlantic Coast. That means that we should have the best naval station of prime importance on this Coast, and my notion is that that station should be at Bremerton. Experts may not agree with me. I am not an expert, but after looking over the situation I am convinced that Bremerton is the place."

As his remarks indicate, Senator Tillman is not a "little Navy" Congressman, or a "disarmament" theorist. "We must have an Army and a Navy to maintain the dignity of the country," he says.

He favors adequate appropriations at the forthcoming session of Congress to provide for navy-ward expansion, that will meet the conditions of warfare brought about by the present conflict in Europe.

Submarines and Cruisers Wanted. "The only reason I did not ask for more battleships at the last session," he said yesterday afternoon, "was that the war is demonstrating that the battleship may be rendered obsolete. I favor plenty of submarines and fast cruisers or anything else needed to give us proper naval footing. And I want to see good gunners. I don't want 17-inch guns are best. I want them; if 18-inch guns are better, I want them; I want our guns to shoot as far and as hard as any navy that may come against us."

Questioned regarding Senator Lane's proposal to establish a submarine base in the Columbia River, he said that he had not heard of such plans, but added briskly: "I am in favor of it, though, if we need it to give adequate protection to the Pacific Coast." But he insisted that he does not expect this country to engage soon in war with Germany, with England or with any other country.

"I believe in peace," he asserted emphatically. "I believe in peace just as much as any of the peace preachers believe in it." "But I believe in peace with honor." "This country should be ashamed to crawl on its belly before Germany or England or any other country."

Alaska Surprises Senator. The Senator was much impressed by his trip to Alaska. He was accompanied on the journey by Mrs. Tillman, their daughters, Mrs. Henry W. Hughes, of Portland, and Miss Sally May Tillman, and by his two grandchildren, Adeline and Sarah Elizabeth Hughes. The Tillmans are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, 1124 East Davis street.

"I believe Alaska is destined to become a great stock country," commented Senator Tillman. "I was surprised to see red and white clover growing profusely on the streets at Skagway. And I saw some of the prettiest flowers I ever saw growing in a garden there. The flowers were produced by an expert. It is true, but it shows of what the country is capable."

"I don't know whether this clover is native there or not. The seed may have been brought in with hay shipped into the country in the boom days, but it may lead to a growth like that of lez pedeza in the South following the war. The seed for this plant, which is a form of clover, was brought in by Sherman's army. It spread over the country and proved one of the most valuable stock foods that could be produced."

Senator Tillman while in Alaska did not inquire into Alaskan railroad development, he said. Senator and Mrs. Tillman will remain here until August 13. They will go from here to Prince Rupert, B. C., and return East over the newly constructed Grand Trunk Railway.

SPINAL TREATMENT WITHOUT RESORTING TO THE USE OF THE KNIFE

Surgery for the cure of koster, he declared, has in the past few years become a desperate and a danger to the patient from the operation has been reduced to a minimum. Cases in which operation is impossible, however, owing to the condition of the patient's heart, yield to osteopathic methods to such an extent that either a complete cure may be brought about or the patient brought to a condition where the cure may be completed with safety by surgical methods.

Resection to Be Held Today. The preliminary work of the nominating committee and the board of trustees in preparation for the annual election, which will be today, went on actively all through the morning, and the political aspects of the convention began for the first time to be apparent, although the committee kept their proceedings under strictest secrecy.

The campaign for the 12th convention warmed up a trifle with the entrance of Boston formally into the field and an increase in the energy of the campaign of Denver, Kansas City has been waiting a fight for the convention since the opening of the present session, and Denver has been a close second.

Boston and Denver Unite. Yesterday the Chamber of Commerce of Denver sent to the board of trustees its formal invitation to bring the convention to that city, and the Chamber of Commerce of Boston sent in a similar invitation. It is probable that these three cities will be the principal contestants for the next convention.

The applicants for treatment in the clinics continued to throng the office of the chairman of clinics yesterday, and the pressure of the demands was so great that many operators besides those regularly on the programme for work were pressed into service.

Extra Assistance Called In. Dr. H. W. Forbes, of Los Angeles, was invited to spend the greater part of the day in clinical work, and at night was again pressed into service to handle a clinic on "Neurology."

Some of the most important clinical features will be handled today, both at the Good Samaritan and St. Vincent's hospitals and in the clinic rooms at the Multnomah Hotel. Among these will be demonstrations of the Lorenz operation by Dr. R. Kendrick Smith, of Boston, and Dr. H. H. Fryette, of Chicago, and critical demonstrations in orthopedic surgery by Dr. Otis Aklin and other prominent surgeons.

The annual banquet of the association will be held tonight at the Multnomah.

SERUM HELD SECONDARY

THEORY DECLARED EXPUNDED BY "FATHER OF OSTEOPATHY."

Serious After-Effects of Antitoxins Argument Against Their Use Un- less Absolutely Necessary.

That Dr. A. T. Still, the "father of osteopathy," expounded the theory upon which the present system of serum therapy was founded, 19 years before Metchnikoff, Ehrlich and other scientists developed the elaborate serum treatments that are in vogue at the present time, was the statement made by Dr. S. V. Rohbeck, of Chicago, before the American Osteopathic Association.

"Dr. Still discovered and expounded in 1874 the theory that the body produces its own antitoxins necessary to combat its own use. Metchnikoff and others observed that, during infectious diseases, the blood contained antitoxins and antibodies, and have shown that their action is specific in the destruction of bacteria and in neutralizing toxins. "I don't expect any opposition," he declared, "teaches that when the blood supply is unimpeded and the lymph supply normal, and when the nerve system is relieved the result is a prompt response and a development in the blood itself sufficient antibodies to cope with the diseases."

The serum treatment, on the other hand, supplies the antitoxin artificially from without. He declared, however, to condemn the use of serious after-effects from the use of antitoxins militates against their use, if it is possible to cope with the disease otherwise.

By correcting adjustments of the spine, osteopathy materially assists nature in establishing immunity to disease or in inducing reaction for adjustment of the spine to normalize circulation and secretions. If the quantity and quality of the blood is depleted, the chemical environment of that part immediately becomes inimical for the tissue cell, but forms an excellent medium in which germs will grow.

In most infectious diseases, he maintained, that osteopathy would produce satisfactory results, and that serum treatment was uncalled for. Even in diphtheria, except in extreme cases, he declared that the disease would yield to osteopathic treatment without resort to antitoxin.

"Osteopathic physicians have not time to argue with serum therapy, but to condemn the old school physician for practicing serum therapy. The principles of osteopathy are right," he said, "and we can demonstrate that osteopathy is more effective and practical than serum therapy to stimulate antibody formations and phagocytosis in a way entirely compatible with the laws of nature."

Need of Preparedness for War Admitted, but Haste Not Believed Necessary.

BRYAN'S STAND FACTOR

Mr. Tillman and Oregon Delegation Think Congress Will Authorize Increased Military Forces and Opposition Not Expected.

While Democratic members of Congress are not apparently in accord with ex-Secretary Bryan's peace policies, they see no necessity of an extra session to consider plans of National Defense as advocated recently by President Wilson, Secretary of War Garrison and other Administration advisers.

Senators Lane and Chamberlain, of Oregon, and Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, who arrived in Portland yesterday, are heartily in favor of increased efficiency in the Army and Navy, but they believe the regular session of Congress can handle the problem.

While leading Democrats are at pains to place on Mr. Bryan's recent resolutions an interpretation that will accord with the Administration's policy of better preparedness for war, it is believed that the Bryan adherents will wage passive, if not active, opposition to any movement by Congress or by the National Administration that will not harmonize with the "peace-at-any-price" plan.

Chairmen Favor Increase. Senator Chamberlain, as chairman of the military affairs committee, and Senator Tillman, as chairman of the war affairs committee, are eager for development and improvement in their respective departments of National Defense.

"The Army ought to be increased from a footing of 100,000 men, as at present, to a footing of 150,000, and recruited up to its full strength," said Senator Chamberlain yesterday. "Then we would have a nucleus of a good fighting force in the event we were called into war."

The Senator explained that he has conferred with Secretary Garrison at various times within the last few years on plans for increasing the size of the Army, and he is confident that Washington at least a month before Congress convenes in December to co-operate further with the War Secretary on details of the Army programme.

Reserve Organization Proposed. "Our general scheme also contemplates preparation of some organized reserve force, the nature and character of which have not been definitely determined," he said. "This question, together with the plans for the enlarged Army, has been submitted to the National War College for the consideration of which doubts will have a report ready for us when I return to Washington in the fall."

The entire programme for increasing the size and efficiency of the Army, Senator Chamberlain pointed out, depends upon the disposition of Congress to make appropriations for that purpose. "But I don't expect any opposition," that is, any organized opposition to the programme, and not so far as I know, as the Administration measures.

Repeating Opposition Expected. "There are some individual opposition among the Democrats of the Senate, but no organized opposition. On the other hand, I am certain that we have the support of many of the Republican Senators. In fact, since it will not be a party measure, I rather expect the support of all the Republicans except those individuals who may be opposed to all forms of preparedness."

The Senator scouted the idea that Mr. Bryan's influence would be brought to bear upon Democrats in Congress to oppose the preparedness policy. "I don't think Bryan, by any of his remarks, has the plan," he insisted. "Mr. Bryan, in common with 99 per cent of the people of this country, is opposed to war and wants to keep the country out of it."

Congress Believed to Favor. Senator Tillman is convinced, he asserted yesterday, that Congress will back the programme for a better Navy and a better Army, regardless of politics.

CLEANSE THE LARGE INTESTINE

Present War Cry of Advanced Physiologists.

Some of the leading surgeons of the world have gone so far recently as to remove part of the large intestine in cases so serious as that of tuberculosis and removed the patient to perfect health by so doing. The New York American has recently said: "During constipation the poisons in the Large Intestine often become so great as to form a serious menace to health and even to life. Through the walls of the intestine they enter the blood and consume the healthy blood cells, impoverishing the blood, and if this process is continued long enough an acute poisoning is produced. It is impossible under our present-day mode of living for the intestine to rid itself of all waste, and it is easily proven that there is an accumulation, no matter how regular we are."

Drugs, if taken regularly, form a habit, but Internal Bathing, by means of the "J. B. L. Cascade," cleanses the Lower Intestine of its entire length with pure warm water, and makes it clean, sweet and healthy.

At the same time it regulates the system and makes one feel that every function is working smoothly and naturally—and indeed, this is so.

Over three hundred thousand are now enjoying the benefits of the "J. B. L. Cascade," the entire length with pure warm water in Portland. Ask for free and interesting booklet, "Why Massage or To-Day Is Only 50 Cents." Efficient.

RELIEF WORKERS MEET

UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM WILL BE TAKEN UP TODAY.

Mr. Baker Says Women's Committee Will Be Selected and Work Begun at Once.

This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the committee authorized at the meeting on unemployment held at the Council Chamber Monday will meet with Commissioner George L. Baker for the first conference looking toward the relief of the unemployed workers of the city. Commissioner Baker announced the personnel of his advisory committee yesterday. The members are: W. H. Young, Chairman; E. S. Smith, Bishop; Walter T. Sumner, Father E. V. O'Hara, Isaac Sweet, Marshall N. Dana, H. L. Corbett, C. P. Adams and C. P. Berg.

Mr. Baker, "I tried to see that all the different organizations interested in the movement should be represented as far as possible. The committee represents the Chamber of Commerce, Central Labor Council, the Oregon Civic League, the Muts and other organizations."

Mr. Baker said last night that the committee today would select a women's committee to co-operate in the work. He said that this committee probably would consist of seven or nine members.

He also said that the work for the relief of the unemployed situation was to be started without delay, and that nothing was to be left undone to secure the best possible results systematically," he said. "We will first take a census of the workers. The organization of the municipal employment bureau will be one of the first steps."

At 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, the "Better Babies" clinic will be held under the auspices of the American Society of Osteopaths at the headquarters of the Oregon Congress of Mothers at the Courthouse this afternoon, at which demonstrations of the regular eugenic tests will be made by some of the most prominent osteopathic specialists in the United States.

Among those who will participate in the demonstration are: Dr. R. Kendrick Smith, of Boston; Dr. T. J. Ruddy, of Los Angeles; Dr. E. S. Merrill, and Dr. C. W. Young.

TONSILLITIS CURE OFFERED

Untwist Neck, Don't Use Knife, Warns Osteopath.

Cure of tonsillitis is a matter of setting one's head on straight and not removing the tonsils or using medicine, according to Dr. Charles Reid, of Denver, who was chairman of the eye, ear, nose and throat clinics at the National Osteopathic convention yesterday.

"Instead of gargling," he said, "have an osteopath untwist your neck, for crooked necks are the real cause of tonsillitis.

"All cases of chronic follicular tonsillitis that I have examined have some spinal lesion which disturbed the normal nerve tone and blood circulation to the tonsils. Some twist of the upper dorsal or cervical vertebrae are always the predisposing cause of attacks of tonsillitis, though colds and local irritations may be the aggravating cause."
