

ROADS IN FOREST RESERVES FAVORED

Secretary Houston to Urge Congress to Advance Cash From Future Receipts.

LOCAL DIFFICULTIES MET

Policy Advocated by Which Federal Government Shall Do Its Share Toward Developing Latent Resources of West.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash- ington, Aug. 8.—The Secretary of Agriculture intends, when Congress reassembles, to renew his recommendation that the Government anticipate future receipts from the forest reserves and advance money for the construction of roads, trails, bridges and other public works.

His trip, early in the summer, through many of the forest reserves of the West, convinced Secretary Houston of the necessity for early opening of the various reserves, and he returned to Washington firmly believing that more and better roads are today the first need of the great reserve system.

Not only would an efficient system of roads through the forest reserves be of great benefit to the forest rangers and to settlers living within their confines, but in the Secretary's opinion, roads would greatly encourage agricultural settlement and would be of equal benefit to communities outside the reserves but adjacent to them.

Government to Do Its Share. The Secretary, moreover, was greatly impressed with the road-building activity of many of the Western states, and believes the Government should do its share by building all necessary roads through the forest reserves.

With this view of the Secretary, the Forest Service is in hearty agreement. A recent statement issued by that bureau, commenting on the Secretary's plan, says: "This policy would apply exclusively to those counties where there is a considerable area of forest reserve land so situated that the forest resources cannot now be marketed, although later they will yield a large revenue."

Head Building Dis Problem. "Millions of acres of farm lands are today undeveloped because of a lack of good roads. In opening any new country road, the building of a road is a problem for the settler. At first, while the settler is struggling to erect his home and farm buildings and to clear his land, he usually cannot afford to pay high taxes or other expenses which would fully meet the local difficulties arising from the fact that the forest reserves are not subject to taxation."

THAN IT CAN AFFORD TO LOSE. WE ARE NOT getting the justice that even the meanest criminal is entitled to under the Constitution, and that is the right to a fair trial before an impartial jury.

Our pictures are censored by one board and we think we have been unjustly dealt with we have not even the right to show the film over which the controversy has been raised before any other than members of the censor board. I can't see any justice in that method of procedure.

If a dominating factor appears in the censor board we are at the mercy of that dominating factor, and as a result it is possible for many hardships to be wrought on us. A right to appeal would eliminate the possibility of dictation by any dominating factor, and I think we are entitled to that appeal.

The former ordinance that admitted a board of appeal was entirely satisfactory.

OLD TIME RESIDENT OF OREGON LAID TO REST.

Thomas D. Cundiff, who died at his home at Lafayette, Or., July 25, from heart trouble, was born in Hampshire County, West Virginia, August 30, 1825. He came to Oregon 25 years ago, and was once the owner of what is now the Linn County Poor Farm near Albany. He married Miss Mary E. Pendleton in West Virginia in 1854.

Funeral services will be held in the Evangelical Church of Lafayette, July 25, and burial was in the Masonic cemetery of that city. Mr. Cundiff is survived by his widow and two sons, Charles A. Cundiff, a musician of Portland, and J. Frank Cundiff, of Eugene.

ROSE GARDEN PROPOSED

BOTANICAL PROJECT LIKELY, DUE TO MR. PYLE'S VISIT. Noted Expert and E. G. Hill, of Indiana, Originator of Many Boscus, to Be in Portland for Week.

Portland may get a botanical garden of roses as the result of the visit of Robert Pyle, of West Grove, Pa., vice-president of the American Rose Society, who is on his way to this city and will stay here the week of August 23. Mr. Pyle has been actively interested in the establishing of municipal rose gardens in various cities of the United States, and it is believed that he will take up with Commissioner Baker, the matter of establishing such a garden here.

Mr. Pyle will be accompanied by E. G. Hill, of Richmond, Ind., who is known not only in this country but also in Europe for his roses. He has a large collection of roses and has a rose garden that would be unrivaled. While here they will be the guests of J. A. Curry, the Portland rose culturist. The two are accepting an invitation extended to them by Mr. Hill last winter, when he met them on the lecture platform before the Philadelphia Horticultural Society.

Speaking of the visit of the two men yesterday Mr. Hill said: "Mr. Pyle no doubt will take up with Commissioner Baker the establishing of a botanical garden of roses in Portland. Mr. Baker has taken a great interest in such a project and has expressed a great desire to meet Mr. Pyle and Mr. Hill. I have had considerable correspondence with Mr. Pyle on the subject, and I know that he stands willing to give Portland all the aid possible for such a garden."

Mr. Pyle has pointed out to me that Portland is the natural home of the rose and that here we could have a rose garden that would be unrivaled. While here they will be the guests of J. A. Curry, the Portland rose culturist. The two are accepting an invitation extended to them by Mr. Hill last winter, when he met them on the lecture platform before the Philadelphia Horticultural Society.

VETERANS TALK WAR

G. A. R. Annual State Convention at Oaks.

ATMOSPHERE IS PATRIOTIC

Civil War Comrades Gather With Families and Celebrate Reunion by Feasting and Gayety.

Proponents of "peace at any price" found little encouragement for their views among the gathering of white-haired veterans and their women assembled at the Oaks Saturday at the annual convention of the Oregon Veterans' Association of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Grand old men and women, the majority of them well past the allotted term of three score and ten years, listened to inspiring oratory and emotional music during a well-balanced program rendered in the auditorium. Shortly after noon, amid the exchange of many recollections, luncheon was served in picnic style to more than 1000 people.

Speech is Patriotic. A definition of the position of the American people as to war was given by ex-Senator E. W. Haines, of Washington County. He said there was an inclination to war that if it became necessary for America to defend the rights fought for by such men as were represented among the veterans present, there would be the same response as in earlier days.

George Caldwell spoke on topical subjects, with an appeal for general support of the American flag regarding the present crisis in international affairs. Mrs. T. D. Pollock, Miss Grace Felling, Mrs. H. L. Towne and Miss Stella Strong took part in the program. Miss Florence Garside was accompanist.

After the programme in the Auditorium, the Drum Corps gave a concert on the lawn. The effect of their music was such as to cause two of the "boys," B. S. Barnard, 84, and L. J. Orendorf, 75, to break into a waltz. The career of these two veterans brought many smiles and, in a few instances, tears to the eyes of the crowd gathered around. They were invited to dance with the girls of the music had it not been for the timely arrival of a wife who dragged her "boy" to her side and, incidentally, from in front of a movie man who was interestingly filming the scene.

Old Comrades Meet. An interesting feature of the convention was the meeting of S. R. Worick, J. F. Worick, J. Worick and D. C. Lounsbury after a period of 50 years' separation. The four were last together in June, 1865, when they were discharged at Madison, Wis. They fought together through 49 engagements, including the battle of Gettysburg, and were reviewed after the war in Washington, D. C. They were members of the Fifth Wisconsin Battery, Light Artillery.

Seventeen women of the city of these two veterans brought many smiles and, in a few instances, tears to the eyes of the crowd gathered around. They were invited to dance with the girls of the music had it not been for the timely arrival of a wife who dragged her "boy" to her side and, incidentally, from in front of a movie man who was interestingly filming the scene.

Two suitable locations were found near the Crown Mills, front and Pettygrove streets. The plan of Mr. Baker is to put in buildings containing suitable dressing rooms and also put in all necessary safety precautions. He also plans to have an instructor at each bathing place whose duty will also be to prevent accidents.

To put in the bathing places, it will be necessary to drive piles and establish a safety line. To do this the consent of the government must be obtained. Mr. Speler and Mr. Coville will take up this question with the Government authorities and also will select sites for the bathing places. They will also investigate the matter with a view to determining what equipment is necessary.

of the First Church of the Nazarene in Spokane until his removal recently, following a church trial on a charge that he had kissed a young wife who was a communicant of the congregation, has set out to organize a new church in Spokane.

Services, Rev. Mr. La Fontaine announced today, will be held under his direction in Boulah Hall at 11 A. M. and 11 P. M. Sunday, with a gospel meeting to be held Friday.

"These are the first services of a new congregation that I shall attempt to form," he said today, "and which will be continued if there is a sufficient number of people who wish to have it. I haven't any idea of who will be there or whether any will be, but the invitation to attend runs to all. There has not been any name selected, or officers named. I have hired the hall myself, and will use it so long as it is required."

Following the alleged kissing which led Rev. Mr. La Fontaine's removal, his connection with the Nazarene denomination was also broken, and the new congregation will have no attachments.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Aug. 8.—Peter Scott, driven by Murphy, romped away with the $10,000 paper mill stake, the principal event of the Grand Circuit race meeting here Saturday. Worthy Prince was unable to match his supposed speed with that of Murphy's horse in the classic 2:08 trot, and it was decided in straight heats. The other events, however, furnished plenty of excitement.

In the Burdick Hotel 2:09 pace it was necessary to go five heats before Geers won with Russell Boy over Hal Boy, the even-up favorite. Russell Boy took the first two heats, but broke in the third and fourth. The fifth was a neck-and-neck affair to within 50 feet of the wire.

The 2:06 pace for the Park-American Hotel purse went five heats. Single G. won over Major Ong. The leading horse, Major Ong, took the first two heats in a driving finish, but broke on the back stretch in the third. He finished behind Major Ong in the fourth heat, but won by half a length in the final heat.

Bondella, the favorite, won the 2:21 trot in straight heats with Todd McGregory second. Summary: 2:06 pace, Park American Hotel purse, $10,000. Single G. won by Anderson. Worthy Prince, b. h. SITES FOR POOLS SEEN

MUNICIPAL BATHING PROJECT ON RIVER INVESTIGATED. Arrangements to Be Made With Government to Drive Piles and Arrange Safety Appliances.

Commissioner Baker, Park Superintendent Coville, Harbormaster Speler and Roy Keal made a trip down the river Saturday to investigate the possibilities for establishing municipal bathing places at various points along the river bank where suitable beaches are available. It is probable that, as a result of the investigation, several bathing places will be established, published so as to be available next summer.
