Find There Is No Single Remedy for High Cost of Living.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 10 .- The time is not ripe for direct co-operation between farmers and consumers for elimination of the middleman with a view to reducing the high cost of living, according to the report submitted today to the Federation of German-American Catholic societies in annual convention here.

Catholic societies in annual convention here.

The report by a special committee declares that the cost of living has increased materially, that farmers are not obtaining proper prices, that the middleman system is open to pointed criticism, but adds that the retailers sold are rendering a service to the consumer which are farmers at present are not qualified to replace. For relief of present conditions no single remedy is recommended by the committee. It suggests, however, co-operation among farmers, legislation by various states, voluntary organizations of local dealers and education of consumers.

The Darkest Chapter in England's History

The Convict Ship Now in Portland

The Convict Ship has been visited by millions of persons in this and foreign countries, including Kings, Emperors, Governors and Dignitaries in every walk of life. The united efforts of the people of the British Empire were necessary to change her business, after which she lay submerged under Australian waters for years and was finally resurrected to be exhibited to the present generation.

Everything on Board Is Shown Absolutely in Its Original State

No other exhibition ever received the publicity accorded by the world's press to the "Success." Leaders of public opinion everywhere realize that in her lies a great and striking object lesson of the softening and civilizing influences that are now animating human progress. A few extracts from many thousands:

DR. FRANK CRANE, the brilliant editorial writer of the NEW YORK GLOBE, in a leading article in that paper, dated May 3, 1913, said:

"* * Here you see punishment raised to its highest power. The record of the cruelties here practiced by the English people is so frightful that no one can be blamed for not believing it; the truth is more incredible than the wildest fiction. It is impossible to believe the story, yet it is perfectly authentic.

'Out of the past this ghost ship sails to us. Its solid teak we can touch. Its rusty iron manacles are all too tangible. Its hideous cells our feet may explore. Its appalling record books and documents we can see with our

NEW YORK EVENING SUN, April 23, 1912-"One of the strangest ships in the world—a strange ship because it is hard to realize that the inhumanity of which she is a floating reminder could exist under the rule of any nation calling itself civilized."

BOSTON TRAVELER, June 16, 1912-"The 'Success,' today, is as the hulks they (John Boyle O'Reilly and James Jeffrey Roche) pictured; the same in her barred cells, the same in her gibbet-halter, the same in all ways except that the prisoners are not inside her to clutch the gratings which close her hatchways and cry out to the square patch of sky above them."

BOSTON GLOBE, July 19, 1912—"The 'Success' has reated a record in Atlantic voyaging. No other ship of anything approaching her great age could even have attempted the task, and it certainly speaks wonders for the builders of the wooden walls of olden days. It is undoubtedly the most noteworthy feat of seamanship since Christopher Columbus sailed his gallant little fleet to fame in 1492."

On May 5, 1912, MR. ARTHUR BRISBANE, the distinguished editor, in a full-page editorial, which was reproduced in ten other leading daily papers throughout the States, devoted his brilliant pen to a picture of the Convict Ship "Success" as a vivid and striking lesson in the progress of humanity and civilization. Describing the Convict Ship as a sad but valuable lesson to the people of America, he

When you study these scenes of cruelty and atrocious torture, when you realize they have disappeared forever from this earth, except in isolated savage corners of the world, where men revert to animalism, and when you realize that these scenes of cruelty, brutal as they are, were as nothing as compared with what preceded them, you realize that this world DOES advance.

"* * It shows what government did to the poor, the ignorant, the helpless-making them infinitely worse than they were at first, even though they were the worst of criminals.

We can thank God that the Convict Ship, with the men tortured and branded, is today an exhibition, intended to educate and no longer a dreadful reality, planned to punish and brutalize."

NEW YORK HERALD, March 30, 1912—"America has captured one of England's most historic ships, one of the most interesting vessels braving the breeze at the present

BOSTON TRANSCRIPT, Oct. 26, 1912-"Let us send this convict hulk, this eloquent rebuke to penal systems, around the world. She is a floating parable of the crimes of man against man. And when she has finished her mission search out the deepest soundings in the Pacific and there sink her and the thing she signifies in a thousand fathoms of dishonored oblivion.

Lecturers guide visitors over every portion of the ship, explaining all exhibits. The ship is brilliantly lighted by electricity and can be seen as easily at night as by day. She can be boarded direct by gangway as she lies alongside of dock. The price of admission is twenty-five cents.
