J. A. Emery Predicts Keenest Rivalry for Marts When Peace Is Restored.

LACK OF SHIPS DEPLORED

Colonel Pope Says Employers and Employes Working to Same End and Labor Legislation Is Criticised to Chamber.

Organisation of employers to produce "industrial equilibrium," so that the United States will be able to maintain Itself in the markets of the world in the keen competition that is to arise in the reconstruction period after the war, was the necessity urged by James A. Emery, general counsel for the Na-tional Association of Manufacturers, in an address at the Chamber of Com-merce Monday night before the memof the Employers' Association. "In that time," he said, "we will be confronted with the bitterest competition in the bistory of the world; the tition of desperate nations criven to the wall and striving to rehabilitate themselves in markets threatened or lost. All or this will be in the face of conditions at home, under which the delivery wagon has been taken from the front door of the manufacturers, so to speak, through the legislation that has driven the American flag from the sea, and will leave most of the carrying trade of the world under foreign flags."

Labor Blamed for Conditions

These conditions he maintained to have been brought about largely through the determined and organized efforts of the labor bodies to procure legislation designed to better their conditions, without regard to the condition of the employer. The remedy he recummended was a National organization of employers for defense.

Employers' Associations he declared.

Employers' Associations, he declared, are not apposed to labor organizations, but to the efforts of labor organizations to impose unfair restrictions upon employers in their business.

"The only thing we quarrel with is the common falling of humanity, which the labor organizations are in innumber labor organizations are in innumber labor organizations are in innumber labor organizations.

the labor organizations are in innum-erable cases guilty of, in the misuse of great power to enforce their indi-vidual wishes upon society. The thing we object to is that any combina-tion should try to be bigger than the great social combination in which we all live."

all live."

Colonel George A. Pope, president of the National Association of Manufac-turers, gave an address before Mr.
Emery's speech on the work of the National organization.

Benefits Declared for Both.

"The benefits of our work are not confined to employers alone," he said, "or to members of the National association alone, but to the country at large. When employers understand that the employers are working for the benefit of all, they will rely upon them more and upon labor unions less, for the interests of employer and employe are the interests of employer and employe are the same."

The allies contend that American cotton shippers, in many cases alleged to be backed by German capital, have been shipping cotton to Germany through neutral ports.

The allies contend that under those conditions a great deal of the cotton got through Sweden, Denmark and Holland into Germany.

From the allies' point of view the orders in council were ineffective because they obligated the British government to buy cotton and at the same time offered an incentive to blockade runners.
