

DISTRICT ATTORNEYS UNITE AND ELECT

Idea Exchange on Enforcing Prohibition Laws of Two States Agreed On.

MR. EVANS CHIEF IN OREGON

Newly Born Association Makes Agreement With Fellow Organization in Washington; Liquor Confiscation Discussed.

In the future the District Attorneys of Oregon and Washington will learn things from each other about enforcing the prohibition laws. This fact agreement is contained in resolutions adopted yesterday by the Washington Association of Prosecuting Attorneys and the newly born Association of District Attorneys of Oregon.

Instead of attending the joint meeting of the bar associations of Oregon and Washington as they were scheduled to do, the Prosecuting Attorneys attended their meeting yesterday, elected officers, exchanged ideas on several vital topics and conferred with some of the judges of the Superior Court of Washington, members of the board of control of that state.

Quick Expansion Indicated. One of the most important events of the day was the forming of the Association of District Attorneys of Oregon from so many counties of Oregon present, but the enthusiasm manifested indicated that the organization soon would expand.

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting Walter H. Evans, of Multnomah County, was unanimously elected president, Gale S. Hill, of Lion County, was elected vice-president; George Neuner, Jr., of Douglas County, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee consists of Gale S. Hill; Colin R. Eberhard, Union County; Willard Wurtz, Crook County; G. V. Wallis, Wheeler County, and George Neuner, Jr. A committee on constitution was named consisting of R. G. Cozad, Grant County; Arthur Clark, DeWitt County, and H. L. Conner, Yamhill County.

Washington Association Elected. The Washington association also elected officers yesterday. C. G. Jeffers, of Grant County, was elevated from the position of secretary to that of president of the organization; Howard W. Stull, of Stevens County, was chosen vice-president; W. H. Brown, Whatcom County, secretary.

The legislative committee consists of Alfred H. Lundin, King County; George F. Yantis, Thurston County; C. G. Jeffers, Grant County; Frank P. Christensen, Friday Harbor, and Fred G. Remann, Pierce County.

Nine Superior Judges of Washington and the three members of the board of control talked to the Prosecuting Attorneys briefly about the indeterminate sentence.

A committee, consisting of Judge Kenneth McIntosh, Judge Edward H. Wright, Judge John H. Mitchell, Assistant Attorney General H. M. McDermott and Frank P. Christensen, District Attorney of San Juan County, was named to investigate the possibility of altering the indeterminate sentence law.

Liquor Question Further Discussed.

The liquor question came up for further discussion when the prosecutors talked about the confiscation of liquor, but could not conclude what good it would do to confiscate liquor that cannot be sold or shipped out of the state.

The judges present at the meeting were Superior Judges William H. Pennington, Holliston, John H. Mitchell, Thurston County; John M. Halden, Jefferson County; Edward C. Mills, Walla Walla; R. L. McCroskey, Colfax; Kenneth McIntosh, Multnomah County; Darch, Goldendale; Edward H. Wright, Pacific and Washkium counties, and M. L. Clifford, Pierce County.

E. E. Skaggs, president, and W. H. Cochran and Frank C. Morse, of the Washington Board of Control, also were present.

tion, acquired the exclusive right to sell in the United States and Canada raw paper from European paper mills—a necessity in the manufacture of photographic plates.

That from 1899 to 1908 all Eastman products were sold by dealers under restrictions and with discounts which stifled competition. In 1909 the discounts were discontinued and subsequently so-called terms of sale were adopted, limiting dealers to the handling exclusively of Eastman products under penalty of revocation of the right to deal in any of the Eastman commodities.

The defendants denied restraining competition and declared their status was a result of the creation and development within their plants of products of a superior quality and of the manufacture of a camera in which they were the conceded pioneers.

Barriers to Competition Put Up.

The opinion reviewed in detail the acquisition of the control of raw paper and of competing companies, and declared that it was difficult to avoid the conclusion that these acts were done for the purpose of suppressing competition and in furtherance of an intention to form a monopoly.

In substantiation of this, it was pointed out that in nearly every instance the conveyances contained restrictive covenants prohibiting the officers of the acquired concerns from re-entering the business for periods ranging from five to 25 years, thus serving, as was said in the tobacco case, "as perpetual barriers to the entry of others."

Movie Contracts Unlawful.

Judge Hazet dismissed the Government's contention that contracts for the manufacture of motion picture films entered into between the defendants and the Motion Picture Patents Company were violations of the statute.

The court quoted the great gains accrued of the company for the year 1912, which amounted to $15,423,321.23, or $48,487.81 per share, and showed the large discrepancy between the cost of manufacture and the price paid by the consumers. It is undisputed, the court held, that the Eastman Company controlled approximately 75 per cent or 80 per cent of the entire trade, and had accordingly obtained a monopoly.

Barren of Proof Not Borne.

The burden rested upon the defendants to prove that this was accomplished by lawful methods. Judge Hazet said, "and after careful consideration I have concluded that such burden was not borne, but that on the contrary, the Government has shown affirmatively that interstate trade and commerce have been unjustly and abnormally restrained by the defendants."

While the defendant has a plea, no doubt, he does not go in strong for artistic temperament.
