M'LOUGHLIN WINS BUT FORM NOT BEST

Second Set Lost to Beekman, 3-6, and Three Taken, 6-2, in Match Full of Errors.

WILLIAMS ALSO SLOWS UP

Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, who captured two legs on the champion bowl in 1812 and 1813, won from Leonard Beekman, of New York, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 6-2; Karl Behr, of New York, disposed of Robert Leroy, also of New York, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4; W. M. Johnston, of San Francisco, put out D. S. Waters, of New Orleans, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2, while Clarence J. Griffin, of San Francisco, eliminated a Pacific Coast teammate in Ward Dawson, of Los Angeles, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

Without exception the victors were never in danger of being defeated. This was particularly true of both Williams and McLoughlin. The former started like a whirlwind against Hall, slumped badly in the third set, which he lost, and won at the same speed at which he began.

Williams Shows Form.

The powerful New York expert, who defeated Wallace F. Johnson in a sensational five-set battle yesterday, showed the effect of this gruelling match, but made a plucky struggle against the champion. Williams was a regular wizard with his racquet in the opening set, driving the ball to the rear corners of cross courting almost at will. Hall attempted to force his way to the net, but Williams passed him first on one side and then on the other, when he was obliged to retreat to the baseline again. Then the titleholder came in and chopped Hall's returns for the winning points.

Once safely in the lead, Williams seemed to lose control to a great extent over the ball, and Hall was able to drive the internationalist into a deuce before he would acknowledge defeat. During this portion of the match Hall held his own with Williams, executing shots and returns that kept his opponent on the run back and forth along the base line. The Har-Williams Shows Form.

McLoughlin Is Erratic.

McLoughlin Is Erratic.

The wide gulf that separated McLoughlin and Beekman in the ranking list was not so evident when the pair met on the turf. The famous conquerer of Brookes and Wilding appeared to be experimenting with a mixture of not and deep-court play, and as a result, he was not up to the form that has made him invincible in past years.
His judgment of distance was bad at times, and he netted both his service and returns in a surprising manner, in addition to having a number of foot faults recorded against him. At times he was almost sluggish, but when accaston demanded, proved entirely too fast and clever for Reekman.

The New Yorker took advantage of McLoughlin's slow play in the second set and won on merit by mixing up his shots in a manner that frequently found the far coast expert out of position. He passed McLoughlin at the net as the latter came in and when he stayed on the back line won a number of points with cleverly executed cross-court chops. Beekman, however, was unable to hold his star adversary in check when the latter chose to exert himself.

Night Classes Will Be Opened for Naturalization Applicants and Others-Elimination of Illiteracy Is Aim.

Illiteracy among applicants for American citizenship is to be eliminated through the joint efforts of the Federal through the joint efforts of the Federal Government and the public school authorities throughout the country.

For the purpose of fostering this movement in Oregon a conference was held at the Federal naturalization headquarters in the Custom-House yesterday, between local educators and Raymond F. Crist, special agent for the immigration bureau of the Department of Labor.

The plan proposed by Mr. Crist is for the immigration authorities to communicate all the names of applicants for citizenship to the local school authorities as fast as the applications are received.

The school officials then are expected to get into personal touch with the applicants and invite them to attend the night schools.

the applicants and invite them to attend the night schools. In other words, the school authorities are supposed to prepare the foreigner for citizenship.

The plan met with the emphatic approval of L. R. Alderman, City Superintendent of Schools; J. A. Churchill, State Superintendent, and Miss Mary Frances Isom, librarian for the City of Portland, who met with Mr. Crist. As the local representative of the naturalization service Heary B. Hazzard, in charge of the office in Portland, also attended the meeting and prepared to carry out the Government's end of the programme in this territory.

Local Approval Given.

Local Approval Given.

Mr. Crist explained the purposes of the Federal authorities in detail and received the earnest approval of the local officials. They promised to coperate in every particular with the Government in its purpose.

In fact the Government's plan coincides nicely with that already in effect by Superintendent Alderman, of Portland. More than a year ago Mr. Alderman started a movement to carry the man started a movement to carry the educational advantages of the public school system to the homes of illiterate foreigners. He met with ready response and the plan is progressing satisfac-

FUNERAL TO BE TOMORROW

Man, Who Held County Offices and Platted Many of Subdivisions on East Side, Succumbs After Illness of Several Weeks.

Capain Robert S. Greenleaf, one of he oldest and best knows engineers of Multnomah County, died early yes-terday at his nome, 105 North Eighteenth street, after an Illness lasting several weeks. Funeral services will be held Saturday from the First Unitarian Church, with either Rev. William G. Ellot or Dr. Thomas L. Ellot officiation officiating.

Mr. Greenleaf was 67 years old and was born in St. Louis. He left his home when the war broke out and, though only 17 years of age, enlisted in the Union Army. He came to Oregon in 1884. He was immediately placed upon the staff of engineers of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, having studied surveying in St. Louis.

Some years later Mr. Greenleaf aided

Louis.

Some years later Mr. Greenleaf aided in the organization of the old Title & Trust Company and did much of their work in platting new additions and running property lines. In this work he became associated with Arthur Hed. ley, present assistant in the United States engineers office in Portland.

Many of the East Side subdivisions were platted by Mr. Greenleaf. His work became noted for its accuracy and his personal business grew to such proportions that in 1890 he and Mr. Hedley left the trust company and formed a firm of their own. They remained together for two years.

In 1891 City Engineer T. M. Hurlburt appointed Mr. Greenleaf to fill his unexpired term as County Surveyor, and in 1892 he was elected to that potion and made Mr. Hedley a deputy. At the expiration of his term, Mr. Greenleaf was elected County Assessor, in which capacity he served until 1902. He then withdrew from political life. Among the subdivisions he platted were Rose City Park. Laurelhurst, Westmoreland, Bellecrest, Euclid Heights, Greenlils and Eastmoreland, a widow, Agnes M. Greenleaf, survives him.

Pallbearers at the funeral Saturday will be William Ladd, A. B. Slauson, Douglas Taylor, D. P. Dabney, John McQuinn, William F. Woodward. The body will be cremsted. Some years later Mr. Greenleaf aided
