Will Lipman, Back From East, Says American Producers Will Rule Domestic Field.

GOODS' QUALITY REVEALED

Occupation of New Lines of Manufacture Applies Especially to Commodities-Conditions Met Are Same Everywhere.

When the European war is over American manufacturers will have wrested complete control of the domestic trade from European competi-tors, says Will F. Lipman, of Lipman Wolfe & Company, who has just re-turned from a five weeks' business trip through the East.

In many important lines of industry, reports Mr. Lipman, the American producer is filling the field formerly held exclusively by the European.

This applies particularly, he says, to many commodities handled by the firm he represents—laces, knit goods of various kinds, muslin underwear.

kinds, muslin underwear, tollet articles, hosiery and similar

Retention of Trade Predicted. Mr. Lipman visited a large lace fac-tory at Elyria, O. where he found a large force of men and women turning out faces that could not be equalled in Europe. That is, the factory is a large one now, but it was rather small up until a year ago. Then the war cut off the supply of laces from Germany Same Conditions Met Everywhere. Mr. Lipman says that he met on his travels scores of merchants from various parts of the country bent on missions similar to his own. They all had the same experiences.

He visited, also, Cleveland, Toledo, Detroit, Philadelphia, Boston, Springfield, Mass.; Baltimore, Indianapoits and other important manufacturing other important manufacturing

Wherever he went the same condi-tions prevailed. An interesting incident in this connection is the development of the hand embroidery industry in the of the hand embroidery industry in the Philippines as a result of the inability to obtain the same material from France, which country, previous to the war, enjoyed a monopoly in the manu-facture and sale of this commodity. "Since the French pessant women have been required to take the places of their husbands in the fields, while the men folks have gone to the front." the men folks have gone to the front," says Mr. Lipman, "the hand embroidery industry in France has suffered severely. These French women were practically the only producers of this material. Now it is next to impossible to get any of it.

Toy Production Here Expected. "I believe," he says, "that America hereafter will produce all its own toys, "It is noticeable that the demand is for a sensible toy for the children, Mechanical toys and toys that teach the little folks something are in growing popularity.

"There is only one detail of manufacturing in which America seemingly has not yet caught up with Europe, and that is in producing dolls. Europe has us beat in that particular, but I expect soon to see some enterprising American invade the European field

Business conditions throughout the East are noticeably better than they were when he was East last Spring reports Mr. Lipman.

VERDICT SAVES OFFICERS

lins were grateful Wednesday to the jury that rendered a verdict of not guilty in the case of Libby Kelly, charged with conducting the Antiers Hotel as a disorderly house. It is in this house that the two officers have their rooms, and Chief of Police Clark was reported yesterday as declaring that if the proprietor was found guilty of the charges made against him, Sergeant West and Patrolman Cullins would be released from further duty on the force.

The officers were present at the trial and their names were mentioned several times during the cross-examinations.

MR. DALY'S APPOINTEE IDLE

Jitney Inspector Retained, Though He Has Nothing to Do.

Although the jitney regulation ordinance was knocked out by the Supreme Court a month ago, thus doing away with jitney inspection, the city still has a Jitney inspector. C. S. Gallup, who was appointed by Commissioner Daly about two months ago, still retains his rosition at a salary of $100 a month.

There is nothing in the jitney inspection line for him to do and no prospect of any for some time to come, yet he is retained on the city's payroll.

ONE HEAD IS ADVOCATED

Informal Remarks Before Societies of Portland Engineers Regarded by Some as Apropos of City Administration.

"Most men, I think, cannot work under a commission," said Major-General George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, in the course of an informal talk at a smoker heid in his honor by Portland engineering societies at the Benson Hotel Wednesday night.

"Every successful organization, I don't care what it is," he went on, "must have a head who is absolutely in control. If he does not make good, waste no time in cutting off his head. But when a man is trying to work under five or six or seven commissioners, there is bound to be trouble."

General Goethals was discussing the organization by which the building of the Panama Canal was accomplished. His remarks were regarded by some present apropos of the Portland city administration. "Most men, I think, cannot work un-

"A commission," went on the General. "either will be dominated by one man who imposes his stronger personality on the others and becomes the real head, or if there is no such personality on the commission, there will be a weaker organization with six or seven heads. A commission is a good deal heads. A commission is a good deal like a board. In the army we think of a board as a long, narrow piece of wood."

General Goethals said that his pre decessors in charge of the Canal work had been greatly handicapped by the Canal Commission then in control, and that even he, with a military rank that

MISCONDUCT ON PART OF WIFE IN BRIEF PETITION.

John Francis, Newspaper Reporter of New York, Is Named in Suit as Co-Respondent.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 2 .- Harry K. Thaw Wednesday filed a petition in commo pleas court asking a divorce from his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, charging misconduct with John Francis, of New York.

The petition is brief, covering less than one typewritten page. In it Thaw alleges that his wife was guilty of misconduct with Francis at No. 31 West Thirty-first street, New York, in December, 1809, and January, 1910, and at various other places and times. Thaw also declares she deserted him in July, 1809. The petition contains nothing to throw light on the identity of Francis other than to give his name.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—John Francis expressed surprise when informed here tonight that he had been named as co-respondent in Harry Thaw's suit for divorce. "I have not seen Evelyn Thaw in three years," he said.
