HORSES ARE FOUND

Southern Pacific President Sees Results of Railroad Campaign and Believes More Money to Be Brought to Oregon.

"I am glad to see the increase in hografsing in the Willamette Valley," said William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific, upon his return to Portland yesternay after a week's tour over the company properties in Oregon, "Hograising will be one of the big industries of the valley in the future," continued Mr. Sproule. "It will give us more real money and less stage money. "The hog industry, well managed, does its own booming. While it is not does its own booming. While it is not us plotiuresque as some of the other activities of the farm, it produces one of the staples of life and there is not likely to be any glut of the market.

"A striking thing about my travels through the state is the evidence of the effects of the European war, in the strange lack of horses in the fields. The only horses that I saw were work animals and growing animals. animals and growing animats.

"Another observation that pleased to was the fine herds of horned cattle. There will always be room for airying and always will there be room."

Hogratsing in Oregon was of addi-tional interest to the Southern Pacific, president because the presence of hogs now doubtless is the direct result of the campaign of education and dem-onatration that the Southern Pacific has been conducting for the last two years.

Two years ago the Southern Pacific operated a demonstration train over all its lines in Oregon for the purpose of impressing upon the farmers the importance and the advantages of raising logs in connection with their other agricultural activities.

"Many of the hogs that we saw on our recent trip were the direct result of that campaign," observed Mr. Sproute of that campaign," observed Mr. Sproute

Mr. Sproule left last night for San Francisco. He will travel leisurely over the company lines in Western Oregon, observing the development along the main line. He has been in the state more than a week.

On his recent trip over the branch lines he was accompanied by John M. Scott, general passanger agent; H. A. Hinshaw, general freight agent, and F. L. Burckhalter, superintendent.

VANCOUVER VOTERS FACE PROB-LEM OF PAYING $35,000.

Increase of Year's Taxes Pointed Out Deas Means of Avolding Heavy Interest Charges.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 13 .- (Spectal.)—A special election will be held here tomorrow to bond the City of Vancouver for $55,000 to take up out-

It the bonds carry and are permitted to run 20 years, as provided, the interest alone will amount to $42,000. The sity has the privilege of paying at the end of ten years, in which case the interest will be $21,000 and the principal $15,000.

The City Council has included a levy of six mills for the couning year, which will make the taxes for the city about 16 mills. If the bonds are defeated, the Council will attempt to prune the operating expenses still more, so the levy may be less than 18 mills.

By making a levy of six mills this year to take up this indebtedness, the levy high year will be about two mills, which will take up the remainder and the dobt will be paid.

If the bonds are carried, the interest of $2100 a year, with about a tenth of the sum for sinking fund, the sum of $4600 will have to be raised by taxalon for the next ten years.

The News in Advertising

A "live wire" who was getting new subscribers for a live newspaper like The Oregonian turned in an unusually large number of subscriptions at the end of one week.

"Good work," said his chief, "How did you do it?"

"Well," said the live solicitor, "I showed them the great news service we gave them and the interesting special features, and then I talked about the advertisements. It's surprising how interested the women were in the advertisements. They found real news in them every day,"
So it is. The advertising in The Oregonian is one of the greatest news departments.
