Dr. W. T. Hornaday Appeals for Protection of Species Becoming Extinct.

RESERVE CHAIN PROPOSED

Naturalist Says Sauctuaries May Be Established on Poor Land, Prohibition on Hunting Placed and Revenue Source Created.

Oregon can have an important part in protecting game birds and game animals from extinction if it elects to devote its non-agricultural lands to this purpose, says Dr. W. T. Hornaday. naturalist and zoologist, who lectured before an appreciative audience at the Central Library Monday night.

Dr. Hornaday proposes that the land within the forest reserves of the West; ern states that cannot be used for other purposes be used for the protection of wild life. He pointed out that numerous beautiful and valuable species of birds and quadrupeds already have been made extinct by the destructive methods of so-called sports. en and predicted that many other fine species that now are pursued ruth-essly and slaughtered without fenson will become exterminated unless organized action is taken.

Forestry Officials Consulted. Forestry Officials Consulted.

In this connection he outlined a definite plan for the creation of "a great annual supply of big game," which plan he has proposed to officials of the National forestry bureau. He was in conference Monday with Thomas P. McKenkie, assistant supervisor of the forestry service in this city, and it is probable that the forestry officials will co-operate with him in carrying forward his plan which, in brief, he outlined as follows: lined as follows:

A Federal law empowering the Becreiary Agriculture to select and delimit areas in tional forests suitable for game sanctu-These sanctuaries shall be established by These sanctuaries shall be established by Presidential proclamation.

These sanctuaries shall be so located that they will not occupy lands chiefly soltable for agriculture.

These sanctuaries shall be located where they will interfere to the least extent practicable with the grusing of domestic stock, especially the stock of actual settlers.

These sanctuaries shall be established with the approval of the Governor of each state concerned.

state concerned.

It is expedient to establish a large number of sanctuaries of medium size rather than a few large preserves.

Chain of Preserves Proposed.

The ideal condition would be a chain of sanctuaries which in time would restore game to all the intervening territory.

Administration will be Vested in the Sections of Agriculture.

Administration will be vested in the Secrotary of Agriculture.

Boundaries are to be settled after full consideration of all conditions.

Predatory animals are to be killed.
This object of these sanctuaries is to provide breading places for game which will spread over adjacent territory, where it will be subject to the regular open season provided by law. This will prevent danger of overstocking the ranges. It will therefore not be the general policy to extend these sanctuaries.

mented by an interesting and instructive series of stereopticon views showing the effects of the unnecessary slaughter of game animals, and by way of contrast, the results of systematic protection and propagation.

Extinction of Species, Cited.

He showed, by these illustrations, how certain species of grouse have been actually exterminated by lack of legsi protection, and predicted that within a short time the sage grouse common on the plains of Eastern Oregon, will be extinct if it is not afforded absolute protection.

"It is a question even now," he declared, "whether we will be able to save this bird."

He related the experiences of the state of Vermont.

He related the experiences of the MRS. EMERY OLIVER DIESstate of Vermont in dealing with the white-tailed deer, which, in 1876, was entirely extinct in that state. Then a small herd was imported. Within 22 years the species had become so numerous that regulated killing was permitted. Now the State of Vermont derives a substantial annual revenue from its game. Similar conditions pre-vail in the State of Maine, he explained. Congress Expected to Help. Dr. Hornaday, who is one of the best-known naturalists in the coun-try, is making a tour of the West for the purpose of inducing citizens of the interest themselves in the west to interest incussives in the pian to preserve the game animals. One Occupant of House, Not Meddlesome, Sleeps Through Battle.

DARING CLERK LIGHTS GAS

Rays Draw Rain of Fire and Almost Cause Another Tragedy-Woman Has Thrilling Experience in Facing Police Rifles.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 14 .- Out of he welter of thrilling features to the battle between a force of policemen and George Nelson, bank robber, Saturday night, yesterday emerge many exciting, some amusing experiences of the ecupants of the house where Nelson made his stand until he killed him-self. They were cut off from escape by the rain of bullets—police rifles and the wicked accuracy of Nelson's auto-matic revolvers.

Invalid Unable to Move.

A hail of police bullets found the room of C. A. Nack, a veteran of the Franco-Prussian War. He is an invalid and was helpless. Although he couldn't escape himself, he forced his wife to leave the room against her protests. He lay there throughout the night with the intermittent bullets spattering against the walls.

It was George Klyer, a clerk, who had the temerity to light a gas jet in his room during the battle. He picked 75 bullets from police rifles out of the walls of his room. The police thought Nelson was there. Klyer dropped sprawling on the floor and crawled to safety.

"It was like the fellow who lit a match to find the gas leak," said Klyer. He was with Macbeth a few minutes before the latter was shot. Two Fice Untouched.

MISUNDERSTANDING

We offer the explanation below for the benefit of those who are contemplating building homes, and for those who have been under the impression that this organization simply finances and constructs homes for those who own shares in the company.

Yes-many have come to us believing this.

We finance and build homes for anyone-anywhere in Portland.

We will build upon the lot of the client or upon one he may select in any first-class district, or upon one of the many we own.

We will build according to the client's plan, or make a plan to fit his ideas. We maintain our own architectural department.

Every part of plan and cost estimate is approved by client before any obligation on his part is incurred, or construction begun.

Client may have the benefit of our easy payment plan of a small amount down and balance monthly like rent, or a cash basis. In either case the house has exactly the same value.

All material and labor is contracted for on wholesale basis.

Each and every home we build carries a written guaranty for one year, assuring client of firstclass materials and labor.

How to Absorb an Unlovely Complexion

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful locklins. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged, faded, or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a pained, complexion—is ordinary mercolized wax. This remarkable substance liferally absorbs the unsightly cutiels, a little each day, the clear, healthy girlish skin beneath gradually peopling out until within a week or so it is wholly in ovidence. Of course such blemishes agreedites, moth patches, liver spots, blotches and pimples are discarded with the old skin. It you will promure an oance af mercolized wax at the drug store, use like only cream every night, wathing this off mountings, you'll find it a verifable wonder-worker.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkies which can be easily prepared. Dissolve I or powdered sanolite in he pi witch hazed. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it "works like magic.—Phyllis Moore in Town Talk—Adv.
