

GROCERS ASK MARKET INJUNCTION

Land Owners, Insurance Men, Peddlers Will Contribute Funds for Suit.

SUBSCRIPTION IS STARTED

Place Will Soon Be Group of Japanese Stores, If Allowed to Continue, Says Speaker—Sunday Closing Demanded Also.

Action is to be started immediately to obtain a restraining injunction against the operation of the Portland Public Market.

This was definitely decided on at the meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association Tuesday night at Manchester 11th.

Robert G. Duncan, assistant secretary of the association, announced that land owners, insurance men and peddlers would provide three-fourths of the funds needed.

J. W. Colwell, member of the board of directors of the association, predicted that the market, which would soon become a place for housing several hundred little Japanese grocers, as in the case at Seattle.

Robert G. Duncan estimated that the grocers of the city lost the sum of $140,000 a month as the result of the operation of the public market.

Injunction is Forecast. "If the jitney drivers, with what little capital they have, can throw out the retail grocers with an investment in the city of $15,000,000 or $16,000,000 can secure an injunction against the operation of the Yamhill-street public market, the institution which is blocking the street and putting foreign-born people ahead of the citizens of the United States."

H. P. Hendon, said that the city council had no authority to put a public market on the street.

He said that he had discussed the matter with large numbers of farmers of the county who were in favor of abolishing the public market because it was blocking the street and putting foreign-born people ahead of the citizens of the United States.

Assistant Secretary Duncan announced that $40 for taking up the fight had been previously secured from different grocers and that the other interests who were to co-operate had had money raised for the purpose fully a month.

Subscription is Started. The sum of $55 was subscribed by those present last night and it was decided to have the Field Secretary, A. A. Kaddery, circulate a subscription paper and give all the members of the Association a chance to contribute.

The Association also decided to enforce the Sunday closing law among the grocers of the city and a committee was appointed to determine the best method to take that matter up.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Association a social and dance should be held and the families and friends of the members be invited.

LACK OF GUARD BLAMED Commission Thinks Flagman Should Have Been on Highway Sept. 6.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Failure of the Columbia River Highway September 6 to station a flagman at the Rockwood road—O. W. R. & N. Company's crossing—to notify the railroad of the unusual traffic to that way, is held by the State Public Safety Commission as a contributing cause of the accident in which Charles R. Ray, of Freewater, Or., and Louise Williams, of Portland, were killed.

The automobile in which they rode was struck by an excursion train. Declaring that the crossing is inadequately protected, the Commission recommends that a crossing bell be installed at once.

CLACKAMAS SCHOOL OPENS

Library Association Formed to Get State Books.

CLACKAMAS, Or., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Public school opened here Monday with an enrollment of 75. D. U. Cochran is principal and instructor in manual training. Miss Anna Bachman has charge of the intermediate department and Miss Win S. Osborne of the primary department and instructor in art and music.

A school library association has been formed to obtain the state traveling library and arrange for a needed addition to the library. Bernt Moore was elected chairman and Vera Flanery, secretary, both of the eighth grade. Miss Osborne, of the primary department, will be librarian.

FOREST PROTECTION URGED

H. S. Graves Says Fires Have Done Great Damage in Alaska.

Forest fires that have swept Alaska have wrought such ruin that similar conflagrations in the Pacific Northwest states pale into insignificance, declares H. S. Graves, Chief Forester of the United States, who reached Portland Tuesday on his return from several weeks in the North. He will leave for Washington today.

Forester Graves urges the need of government protection for Alaska timber and will make a strong plea for this on arrival in Washington.

SUBMARINE M-1 LAUNCHED

Vessel of New Style to Have Cruising Radius of 5000 Miles.

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 15.—Submarine M-1, built for the United States Government by the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation, was launched Tuesday. The new submarine is 135 feet over all, with a maximum steaming radius of 5000 miles and a surface speed of 15 knots. She is equipped with four torpedo tubes and a deck gun.

SLIDING SCALE IS WANTED

R. E. Kremers Says $3 Day Is Hindrance to Service.

Maintaining that experience has proved that a fixed wage of $3 a day for laborers in all parts of the city service, regardless of the ability of the men to work, has had a serious demoralizing effect upon the labor service as a whole, R. E. Kremers, chief of the Municipal Bureau of Highways and Bridges, has recommended to Commissioner Dieck the abolition of the $3 a day minimum. He says the move is one in the interest of efficiency and not economy.

Mr. Kremers recommends that the laborers be paid according to their worth instead of upon a fixed basis regardless of ability. He says the city should have one rate of $2.50 a day, another $2.75 a day and a third $3 a day. With the $3 minimum, he says, the service is retarded, made more expensive and a great deal of work is detracted from its efficiency.

Mr. Kremers says there are many men employed who are in their 70s, 80s and 90s, and that they are men who are held on the payroll by reason of civil service. He says it is impossible to get some men to work hard, yet they draw the same scale of wages as those able to do more work.

He thinks the city should take care of the old men by keeping them at work, but should make a difference between them and those more able-bodied men. He says the service as a whole is retarded and the city not only fails to get its money's worth from the older men, but also fails to get the most out of the younger men, who follow the pace set by the weaker men.

RIFLE TEAM IS CHOSEN

15 CRACK SHOTS OF OREGON'S FORCES TO GO TO FLORIDA.

War Department Restricts Number of Previous Winners of Matches. All Are High-Score Men.

Fifteen crack riflemen, the pick of the state forces, were selected Tuesday by Adjutant-General White to represent Oregon in the National matches in Florida next month. The selections were made following a competition among 30 riflemen who, in turn, had been selected from the highest shots in the state rifle matches last week at the state range.

Many changes in the personnel of the team which represented the National Guard at the last National matches, when third place was won, were necessary by the rules put out by the War Department, which permits not more than six former competitors to shoot this year.

All the members of the 1915 team, however, made high scores, and the good record of itself in the forthcoming contest, in which picked teams from every state in the Union and from every branch of the military and naval service will take part.

Nearly every part of the state in which state troops are located is represented in the 1915 team. The Coast Artillery, of Southern Oregon, secured seven of the 15 places; the Third Infantry, five; the Naval Militia, two; and the cavalry troop, one. The team will be reassembled at the Clackamas range in about ten days for practice and will depart for Florida the latter part of September in order to get preliminary practice on the range.

Three team officers are yet to be selected, and these will be detailed by General White within the next few days.

Following are the members of the team, showing the scores made by the individuals in the competition:

Sergeant S. W. Pearson, Fourth Company, Roseburg, 1139; Ensign E. B. Spooner, Naval Militia, 1125; Lieutenant O. A. Stevens, B Company, Portland, 1118; Sergeant J. E. Wooten, D Company, Portland, 1095; First Sergeant H. B. Conner, Sixth Company, Cottage Grove, 1095; Sergeant L. C. Tenen, Sixth Company, Cottage Grove, 1092; Corporal L. H. Spooner, Troop A, Cavalry, Portland, 1085; Sergeant A. A. Schwarz, B Company, Portland, 1081; First Sergeant H. L. Wooten, First Company, Roseburg, 1081; C. A. Myers, Naval Militia, Portland, 1077; Sergeant R. C. Hefferman, staff, Third Infantry, 1077; Corporal George L. Fry, First Company, Ashland, 1072; Corporal D. R. Chase, Seventh Company, Medford, 1065; Sergeant R. S. J. Milford, Fourth Company, Roseburg, 1061; Lieutenant Tasso W. Swartz, Machine Gun Company, Portland, 1056.

TOTS NOT TO GET PERMITS Judge Cleeton Says Children Not to Be Allowed on Stage.

No more permits will be granted for children under 16 years of age to appear on a public stage where admission is charged, it was announced by Juvenile Judge Cleeton Tuesday. In making this announcement Judge Cleeton laid down the policy of the Fourth with regard to child actors. He said: "That parents and show managers may not be misled, the court wishes to announce that no permit is to be given to any child under 16 years of age to act on the stage where an admission fee is charged, except the children who play a musical instrument and have musical talent, and are receiving a musical education may, under proper supervision and under proper conditions, be granted an occasional permit."

SOUND HAS FISH SHORTAGE Washington Fisheries Department Operation Is Threatened.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The fact that the run on fish back salmon in Puget Sound this year was only 20 per cent of normal threatens to affect seriously the operation of the Washington state fisheries department. The new fish code provides that expenditures of the department must be limited to its revenues.

It was the intention that the four-year period of fish runs should be taken as the basis for calculation, but it is declared that the language of the act, as adopted, prohibits such an interpretation.

Three Sue Gas Company. OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—The Portland Gas & Coke Company is made defendant today in three personal injury suits filed in the Circuit Court by Attorney L. Slipp. The plaintiffs, Mrs. Clara Randa, Ernest P. Randa and Miss Florence White, were injured May 17, 1914, when an automobile in which they were riding tipped over, owing, they allege, to a defective trench belonging to the gas company on one side of the county road. Mrs. Randa asks for $2500, Mr. Randa for $708 and Miss White for $1000.

Salmon Shipments Are Heavy. KELSO, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Heavier shipments of salmon are being made this fall from the station here than ever before. Almost every day since the opening of the season, September 16, from 10 to 20 tons of salmon have been loaded on the trains for Seattle and Tacoma. These fish are being caught in the Cowlitz and in the Columbia off its mouth and near Rainier. W. A. Mable, of Rainier, and J. J. Brain, of Rainier, are the two heavy shippers.

CHAMBER REVIEWS FIVE MONTHS' WORK

Georgé E. Hardy Becomes 'Executive Secretary' Instead of 'Manager.'

CHARITIES ARE CONSIDERED

Lack of Organization Discovers and Central Bureau Plan is Suggested—$25,000 Saving by Agreement is Reported.

OLD FAVORITES RETURN

ERWIN AND JANE CONNELLY AT ORPHEUM LOYAL TO PORTLAND.

"Hunch" of Wife Told Which Led to Cancellation and Escape From San Francisco Disaster.

An actor and actress now in Broadway's list of standard successes, who are visiting Portland for the fifth time in the past decade, regard this city as the best in all the United States. They are Erwin and Jane Connelly, who made their vaudeville debut right in Portland nearly 10 years ago and now are in big type on the Orpheum poster in the city that gave them their start.

Jack Connelly, as he is remembered on the Pacific coast, visited Portland at the head of his own company in the early part of 1905 and was snapped up by Keating & Flood as a likely leading man. This was shortly after Marjorie Rambeau had left Portland for the wider Eastern field, and at the same time Wanda Howard, who has since climbed to fame as a great stock favorite here, Mr. Connelly played with her in the city for six months and grew to be so popular with the Portland stock "fans" that he was offered a vaudeville engagement by James MacIntosh, who, in after years, became manager of the Orpheum.

Mr. Connelly was dubious about vaudeville in those "variety" days, but bowed to the wishes of her husband and joined him on the stage in the city, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

The Summer in a lumber yard at Astoria. Ex-Captain Gus Hofer, for three years a tackle and this season a prospector, and until a broken bone in his hand put him out of the game for six weeks, passed the Summer working in a vineyard in Southern California.

Leo Layton, all-Northwest tackle who reported for practice weighing 220 pounds, manipulated a pitchfork in Eastern Oregon during the early Summer.

"Hungry" Smyth, dependable line-man, who is at present inebriable, may usually be found astride a cayuse down in Jarro County during the Summer months. He has more than local reputation as a "ducker."

Abraham and Shuster, who will join the squad at Corvallis Saturday, have been working in the harvest fields.

Yeager, the remaining veteran, has been working on a ranch in Western Washington.

Cole, of last year's second string, took daily gymnasium workouts and participated in the championship games at San Francisco.

"Darkhorse" Newman spent his vacation fishing on the Lower Columbia. The remaining members of the team, with few exceptions, have been putting in long hours in forest and field in preparation for the Fall season.

BEACH HOTEL BURNS

Resort at Cohasset Is Lost in $150,000 Fire.

VISITOR YET IS MISSING One Not Accounted for May Have Died in Flames Which Attract Crowds From Towns Miles Away—Cottages Not Hurt.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Fire, the origin of which is unknown, destroyed the Cohasset Beach Hotel, one of the best-known North Beach resorts, late last night. The loss is estimated at about $150,000.

It is possible one man lost his life in the fire, although this could not be ascertained tonight. One young man who has been staying in the hotel could not be found tonight. When people from Westport and Bay City, about 20 miles away, arrived at Cohasset, the hotel was in flames. It was impossible to save the structure and also impossible to determine how the fire started.

The hotel was owned by E. B. Benn and H. S. Cook, of Aberdeen. It was closed at the end of the beach season about two weeks ago. The hotel and all of the cottages in the vicinity had been vacated. None of the cottages at Cohasset was burned.

The Cohasset Beach Hotel was built in 1909 and was the largest hotel on the North Pacific coast. It was a three-story building and had about 80 rooms. It stood back from the beach some distance and was a popular resort for automobile tourists of the Pacific Northwest.

AGGIES ARE IN FINE TRIM

HARD WORK IN HARVEST FIELDS AND ELSEWHERE AIDS MEN.

DRIVER TWICE HIT BY CARS

Second Bump Knocks J. Peebles to Safety After Auto Is Wrecked.

JEAN SLOAN HAPPY PARENT

Courthouse Elevator Operator Says "Both Doing Fine, Thanks."

Jurors, Judges, lawyers and clerks all stopped to shake hands with Jean Sloan, elevator operator in the Courthouse.

Yesterday, "the profusion of congratulations as means of gracefully, and shook with one hand while he operated the lever with the other."

"Both doing fine, thanks," he repeated over and over as the news spread.

Out at 704 Harvard street Mrs. Jean Sloan is attended by a nurse, and a lusty-lunged eight-pound baby girl occupies a crib beside her.

Vancouver Grants Divorces. VANCOUVER, Wash., Sept. 15.—(Special.)—Three divorces, granted in

Our Fiftieth Anniversary Sale a Big Event! Soap Sale Draws Big Crowds—It Should! Look! 10 Extra Trading Stamps on Each Item!

SOAP SALE

Eight bars Lurline Soap now at..... 25c

Eight bars Ivory Soap on sale now at..... 25c

25c bar Floating Castle Soap at..... 18c

10c Lister's Antiseptic Soap, three in box..... 14c

25c Packer's Tar Soap on sale now at..... 14c

15c Liebig's Skin Soap, three for..... 24c

25c Resinol Soap on sale now at..... 18c

10c Wood-Lark Almond Cocoa Soap, four for..... 24c

5c Fairy Soap, six now for..... 25c

31 bar Centi Castle Soap now for..... 75c

10c Bon Ami, four now for..... 25c