Mr. Baker Introduces Act to "Fire" City Employee.

Commissioner Wants C. E. Christensen, Superintendent of Municipal Employment Bureau, Removed From Office, He Responsible for the Bureau.

"WHAT'S the purpose of this ordinance," asked Commissioner Dieck yesterday when the Council clerk at the regular weekly session called up the measure proposed by Commissioner Baker to abolish the Municipal Free Employment Bureau, of which C. E. Christensen is superintendent.

"Well," replied Mr. Baker, "inasmuch as Mr. Christensen, who has charge of the bureau is here today, I will say that the purpose of the ordinance is to get rid of him."

"A technical means of getting around civil service, isn't it?" asked Mayor Albee.

"Yes," said Mr. Baker. "Mr. Christensen is a hard worker and an honorable gentleman, but he is simply not big enough for the work of the bureau to do. There are no charges to prefer against him."

"It is an administrative matter," replied Mr. Baker. "If I have to run the bureau with Mr. Christensen in charge I will not have the time to do my department. I will ask to have it transferred. As long as I am responsible I want the results. Help me get rid of Mr. Christensen or take the bureau away."

"Mr. Christensen got up to offer a few words of explanation. He said it was the first intimation that Mr. Baker was so desirous of getting rid of him."

"Pretty good opportunity for you to save the day by resigning, isn't it?" asked Mayor Albee.

"I can't see why anyone would want to resign in a job where there is friction of that kind," interposed Commissioner Dieck.

So Mr. Christensen, with the invitation to resign put up to him in this positive way, took it under consideration until tomorrow.

War Tangles Justice Aspect in Damage Suit Jury.

Can Native of Germany Give Fair Verdict With Russian as Plaintiff Is Puzzling Issue.

CAN a native of Germany sitting on a jury give a fair verdict in a suit in which a Russian is the plaintiff?

Circuit Judge Davis had to decide this knotty question yesterday. Legally, the question is this: Does the fact that the juror was born in Germany constitute a "challenge for cause"?

James Walton, Jr., attorney for the plaintiff, thought it did. Judge Davis said he believed the court would have to be guided by the jury's statement if he said he thought he could give a fair verdict and would not be prejudiced because Russia and Germany are at war.

Mrs. Faina Nurmosky, who lives near Moscow, Russia, is suing Fuller & Bain, the Oregon Electric Railway Company and Twenty Bros. for $20,000 damages because her son, Constantin Nurmosky, was killed while working on the railroad near Orenco, Or., June 14, 1913.

Three men on the jury first called were Germans by birth or parentage.

'ROLL' BRINGS NEGRO GRIEF

Wealth Display in North End Causes Stir but Jail Looms Soon.

"I was sweeping out the house and I saw the bills under the carpet. I thought they were Confederate bills," was the excuse of John Lucas, colored, when he appeared before Circuit Judge Gantenbein yesterday charged with stealing seven $20 bills. He pleaded guilty.

Lucas was arrested while he was creating a sensation among his brethren in the North End with an unusual display of wealth. Investigation showed that he had a yellow bill in his pocket came from a house where he had been employed as janitor. The "roll" amounted to $105 when the police found him.

Neighbors Make Complaint.

A few weeks ago neighbor and business men in the vicinity of Sixteenth and Couch streets began complaining about the little waifs.

Mrs. June Nissen, of the Juvenile Court, went to investigate. She met Smith and his invalid wife and they told her, she says, that the children's mother was worth considerable money and they proposed to keep them. This aroused a suspicion that the waifs had been kidnapped.

Too bashful to talk, the little fellows, clad in clean clothes and with their hair clipped close, were led into the juvenile court rooms yesterday and introduced to their aunt.

SUED WIFE ASKS FOR AID

Woman in West Virginia Replies to Charge of Desertion.

Along with her 7-year-old child in West Virginia, Mrs. Jessie May Newby has asked the county board of relief in Portland for $5.50 with which to file an answer to the divorce suit brought by her husband, Ross M. Newby, in this city.

Stylish Clothes, to meet the test of service, must possess certain features: 1. Pure wool fabrics. 2. London cold-water shrunk fabrics (the only efficient process). 3. Absolutely fast color. 4. Every seam sewed with silk. 5. Hand tailoring throughout. 6. Canvas, linings and stays as thoroughly shrunk as the outer fabric. 7. Haircloth in coat fronts laid and taped to prevent "breaking" or wrinkles. All of these essentials are contained in Kirschbaum Clothes $15, $20, $25 and Up. The models for Fall and Winter cover the whole range from the very conservative to the ultra-fashionable—yet each one has points of merit to commend it to the man whose best ideals it meets. The fabrics present the latest ideas in fancy mixtures, checks, pin stripes, pencil stripes, invisible plaids, etc. We want you to see them. FATHER IS STILL SILENT

Little Lads Found Roaming Streets in Filthy Condition Are Embarrassed by Clean Clothes as Mother's Sister Is Met.

Albert and Lloyd Schlappi, the 4 and 5-year-old waifs who were found roaming the streets of Portland in a pitifully filthy condition by juvenile court officers last week, found a home yesterday. Miss Ross Seaman and Alfred Couch, aunt and uncle of the little fellows, arrived from Dilley, Or., and took Albert and Lloyd back with them on a late train.

The waifs have been in the Frazier Detention Home since last Thursday night. Still no word has been heard from Arthur Schlappi, their father, who left them in care of Edgar Smith, 530 Couch street, early in July.

"We have not heard from him. We don't know where he is," said Miss Seaman yesterday. Her sister is the mother of the two little boys.

State Not Known to Relatives.

"We didn't know where they were. We hadn't heard from them at all, until I saw the article in Sunday's paper. I was going to cut it out and mail it to daddy, who was down at Wheeler fishing, but he saw it, too, and sent me a clipping," said Miss Seaman.

The condition of the boys was the result of the separation of their parents, early in June Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schlappi, then living at Wheeler, separated. Two children remained with Mrs. Schlappi, and two went with the father.

According to the story told by Edgar Smith, who nominally had charge of the boys when the juvenile court officers found them, he met Mr. Schlappi on a steamer coming up the Columbia River about July 1. Mr. Schlappi wanted to go to Walla Walla to look for work and left the boys with Smith, agreeing to pay him for keeping them.
