A. L. Mills Says Allies Intend to Spend Every Dollar in United States.

CREDIT THEIR ONLY DESIRE

Refusal Would Mean Unsold Crops, or Low Prices at Least, Says Financier-Portland Banks Not Yet Asked to Join.

Whether Portland bankers will take First Resident of Canyon City Is part in the financing of the proposed ig war loan to the allies has not ever been discussed by them as yet, for the simple reason that they have not been asked to take part in it.

"Consequently we have had no meetings to discuss the subject. So far as I know, what Portland might do toward taking part in the loan has not been considered, even informally, by Portland bankers. We are a good deal in the position of the girl who can't say 'yes' or 'no' to her sultor until she is 'yes' or 'no' to her sultor until she is a former resident of Grant Coungelon."

the amount of the loan has been determined, there will still be many things to consider.

Many Factors Important.

"The length or the loan, the rate of interest, the securities offered, whether there are to be separate loans to England, France and Russia, or whether the entire loan will be taken by England, which would in turn lend to its allies, are all important considerations. We certainly will not know what we shall do until we learn these details the entire loan will be taken by England, which would in turn lend to its ailies, are all important considerations. We certainly will not know what we shall do until we learn these details. "People must realize, however, that unless we make this loan, the whole country will suffer. The loss to the Pacific Northwest would be especially heavy, for we would be left with great quantities of agricultural products on our hands for which there would be no demand.

"We can only sell our products to those who are able to pay for it. Take our grain, for example. If those who wheat which farmers of the Northwest are now holding for 80 to 90 cents a bushel would drop to 30 or 40 cents. "If we don't sell our wheat and our other products abroad the only market left will be at home, and as we have a great surplus over what we can possibly use, the markets will glut and prices will go down, down, down. It is inevitable.

"We can only sell our products to those who are able to pay for it. Take our grain, for example. If those who want it have no money to pay for it we must sell it on credit and take their notes or keep it ourselves. What would that mean? Well, I am certain that it would mean, for one thing, that wheat which farmers of the Northeast wheat which farmers of the Northeast west. that it would mean, for one thing, that wheat which farmers of the Northwest are now holding for 80 to 90 cents a bushel would drop to 30 or 40 cents. "If we don't sell our wheat and our cotton and our other products abroad, the only market left will be at home, and as we have a great surplus over what we can possibly use, the markets will glut and prices will go down, down, down. It is inevitable.

Gold Is Drug on Market.

"Europe has reached the point where she cannot pay in gold. Why? Beaker County has been stored, nearly as much more is to be threshed, and gold in the country now. When the war broke out there was $1,200,000,000 in gold. That means that since the war we have absorbed thing the grain out.

Many growers are walling for dollar tit will require a 30-cent price to bring the grain out.

Many growers are walling for dollar tit will not go to the prices of a year sheet come a drug on the market. We have foom much of it. We don't want any more.

"We have what the European nations want to buy, but, as they can't pay gold for it, we must sell it to them on credit or they will go elsewhere for it."

Men of the content and our other products abroad the content wheat is will not go to the prices of a year and to buy, but, as they can't pay gold for it, we must sell it to them on credit or they will go elsewhere for it. See the content of the worling the grain out.

Many growers are walling for dollar tit will not go to the prices of a year ago. High prices then are giving independence to the growers now. Some stain is being left sacked in the fields until time to seil. Baker mills have been able to keep running on what they obtain, but reports from Pendie.

We have what the European nations want to buy, but, as they can't pay gold for it, we must sell it to them on credit or they will go elsewhere for it. See the content of the content of

"We have what the European nations want to buy, but, as they can't pay gold for it, we must sell it to them on credit or they will go elsewhere for it. For example, they will go to Argentina for wheat, where they can buy it on long-time notes. Unless they can obtain credit here they will buy from us only the things they absolutely must have, and manage and contrive some things. And it is amazing how much people can do without when they absolutely have to."

Mr. Mills said that many persons will put the money in circulation through the country.

"If we make a loan of $500,000,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 to England, or to England and her allies, as the case may be, it will be just as if we credited them with a checking account of that amount to be spent in this country.

"The loan is only a credit to be drawn against as needed in buying our products, and to secure the loan the products, and to secure the loan the borrowers are mortgaging their counborrowers are mortgaging their countries. If we make the loan, this money will go into circulation here. If we do not, it will remain idle, our products will rot on our hands because they will not have buyers, and our people will be heavy losers.

"There is still another point to be brought out in connection with this proposed loan, and it is an important one. Heretofore the United States has been a debtor nation. This has been in

been a debtor nation. This has been a been a debtor nation. This has been a embarrassing at times during financial flurries when Europe has suddenly called on us to pay up. European hold-ers of our securities have thrown them on our markets at such times faster than we could absorb them, and the re-sult has been panics.

"This loan will make us a creditor nation. Instead of being in debt to other nations, they will be in debt to us. And we will have a large sum against which to draw to offset our future obligations."
