

AMERICAN MARINES IN BATTLE IN HAITI

One Killed and Ten Wounded, Among Those Shot Being H. P. Youngs, Portland.

50 HAITIENS ARE SLAIN

Natives Object to Expeditions Sent Out by United States and Engage Troops, Who Rout Superior Force.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Details of fighting between natives and American forces near Cape Haitien yesterday, in which one marine was killed, 10 were wounded and more than 50 Haitians were killed, reached the Navy Department today in messages from Rear Admiral Caperton.

The first expedition sent out on Saturday afternoon to Hait Vu Cap and Pett' Anne, closed the city, and on the main line of supplies passed native outposts whose commanders objected to the expeditions, but offered no resistance.

About 50 Natives Killed. Next day two patrols went out again, and after the expedition reached Hait Vu Cap firing became general, and both patrols were engaged. About 50 natives were killed. The patrols returned to Cape Haitien last night, and Admiral Caperton reported the supply routes had been completely cleared of hostile forces.

A later message said Captain Underwood led an expedition of 50 mounted marines to Petit Riviere and Dalarte Bonite Sunday, and encountered 150 armed Haitians who drove him into the hills after a vigorous skirmish, in which one marine and two natives were killed and three natives were wounded.

Marines Hold Two Towns. The marines are holding the two towns, where quiet has been restored. The marine killed in the fighting near Cape Haitien was Sergeant John Platt, of Detroit, Michigan, who had served long and honorably in the corps.

Platt had been ashore in Haiti since July 29, attached to the Twenty-fourth company. He enlisted in 1901, and had three honorable discharges. He was seriously wounded by Corporal George Washington Strout, Eleventh company, First Regiment, of Baltimore, and Private Vincent Gage, of the Connecticut detachment, of Canton, N. J., both of whom were shot in the right shoulder.

HOUNDS TRAIL SLAYER

EDITOR'S MURDERER BELIEVED TO BE HIDING IN MINE.

Colorado Poses Guard Entrances of Workings Where Fugitive May Evade Them for Days.

WALSBERG, Colo., Sept. 27.—Armed men tonight guarded every exit from the Walsben, Cameron and McSally coal mines, and the entrance of Robert Mitchell, Democratic county chairman and editor of the Walsben Independent, is believed to have taken refuge. Bloodhounds today went directly from the place where Mitchell fell at his home last night to an entrance to the Walsben mine, which is connected with the other. The authorities believe that the murderer is hiding in a section that has been worked out and abandoned.

Late today four miners reported that they had seen a man near what is known as the ninth west back entry, making his way with the aid of a searchlight. Upon receipt of this news, a posse entered the Robinson mine, hoping to intercept the fugitive near where it is connected with the Walsben mine. Meanwhile other posses are systematically searching every portion of the abandoned workings.

Men familiar with the mine declare that one acquainted with the workings might avoid capture for days. Mitchell was shot while he was returning home last night with his wife by one who is believed to have been engaged in robbing the house.

GERMAN APPEALS CASE

BRIDGE DYNAMITE QUESTIONS EXTRADITION PROCEEDINGS.

Objection Also Raised to Court's Refusal to Permit Reservist to Invoke Law of Nations.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—Werner Horn, the German army reservist who tried to blow up the international bridge between Canada and the United States at Vanceboro, Me., last week, today filed an appeal from the decision of the Federal Court in denying his release on a writ of habeas corpus. Through his counsel, ex-Representative O'Connell, the prisoner questions the regularity of the extradition proceedings by which he was removed from Maine to this state, and also the refusal of the court to permit him to invoke the law of nations, or present a commission as an officer in the German army in defense of his actions. The appeal will be heard by the Federal Court by a three-judge panel sitting here next Monday. In the meantime Horn will remain in the Essex Cambridge Jail, where he is awaiting trial on the indictment charging him with illegal transportation of dynamite from New York to Vanceboro.

HOLDUP SUSPECTS FREE

JAMES TAYLOR RELEASED WHEN CONDUCTORS FAIL TO IDENTIFY.

Erstwhile Prisoner Promises to Remain Away From Clackamas and Keep Friends Out.

OREGON CITY, Or., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—James Taylor, arrested Friday night as a suspect in the Woodstock, Mount Taber and Casemah streetcar holdups, was released today by Sheriff Wilson, following the inability of the officers to produce evidence which would connect him up with the three crimes.

Taylor wore the same confident smile he has had for the last three days when he left the courthouse and took up his job as a streetcar driver. "I want to ask you to keep out of this country," said Sheriff Wilson as the two shook hands.

"I will," was Taylor's reply. "And I want you to tell your friends to steer clear of Clackamas County," Mr. Wilson insisted.

"If I do," Taylor promised. The Sheriff invited Taylor to visit him whenever the erstwhile prisoner returned to Oregon City. Taylor is said to have admitted to Sheriff Wilson before he left town that the burglar's shop was his own property.

The case against Taylor was greatly weakened Saturday, when the conductors on the three cars which were held up failed to identify him. Each of the three declared that Taylor was taller than the highwaymen who robbed them.

Special Agent McShane, of the Southern Pacific, and Special Agent Lillis, of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, were in Oregon City today and had a talk with Taylor. Mr. Sibane accused him of stealing speeders from the company, but Taylor denied it.

"Whenever I use a speeder on one of my jobs I always return it," he said. "I have never stolen one of your speeders in a creek yet."

GERMANY ADJUSTS SELF

ECONOMIC CHANGES MEET NEW CONDITIONS, SAYS BANKER.

Gold Influx and Traffic on Railways Increase, While Steel and Iron Output is 70 Per Cent of Normal.

BERLIN, Sept. 27, by wireless to Sayville.—Rudolph Havenstein, president of the Imperial Bank of Germany, reviewed the financial and economic position of the country at a meeting of the executive committee of the bank. His remarks are given in full by the Overseas News Agency.

"The gold influx again has increased, after a period of relaxation. In the last three weeks the gold receipts have increased 8,000,000 marks ($2,000,000) notwithstanding gold shipments to other countries for reasons well known. "Economic conditions have been adapted entirely to the changed conditions. Iron and steel production have reached 70 per cent of the amount in times of peace. The figures for coal and coke production still are higher. In spite of the call to arms of a majority of the railway workers, traffic has increased steadily. The figures for July established a record surpassing that of peace times.

SWAMP IS TO BE DRAINED

South Beach Property-Owners Vote to Let County Dig Ditch.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—More than 1500 acres of swamp land at South Beach will be reclaimed this winter by a three-mile ditch constructed by the county at the expense of owners of the property benefited.

The cost of the job is estimated at between $5000 and $10,000. Most of the land to be drained is suitable for cranberry culture, some 20-odd acres of marshes having been converted to that purpose already.

The new ditch will connect with that already dug in Pacific County and when completed will make travel by canoes between the two harbors possible. Property owners in the South Beach district voted unanimously Saturday to have the work done.

PACKERS PROTEST AT SHIP SEIZURE

Big Chicago Concerns to Complain to Secretary Lansing of Britain's Action.

FOOD ON WAY TO NEUTRALS

Consignment From America to Holland, on Norwegian Craft, Held to Be Immune Under Recent Pact With England.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—Attorneys for Armour & Co. and Swift & Co. tonight said they would protest to the State Department against the seizure by England of the Norwegian steamer Vitaiva, with a cargo of 70 carloads of Chicago packing-house products.

The attorneys' statement adds: "In the past shipments were seized and held on the pretext that the products eventually were to reach Germany. This claim was based on the unsound theory that neutral countries then were importing products of this character far beyond their normal requirements.

"These attorneys said they were at a loss to understand the seizure, as the products were shipped aboard a neutral ship to a neutral port and consigned to the Netherlands Overseas Trust, which was primarily established to assist American shippers in their commerce with neutrals, England apparently being satisfied that those in charge of this organization would see to it that none of the products was reshipped to Germany."

The attorneys' statement adds: "The past shipments were seized and held on the pretext that the products eventually were to reach Germany. This claim was based on the unsound theory that neutral countries then were importing products of this character far beyond their normal requirements.

"In this particular shipment, the consignor has given bonds that the products are consigned to, and their disposal is subject to the decision of the Netherlands Overseas Trust; and no sales or deliveries can be made except on permission of the trust, which names the buyers and furnishes whatever other particulars are specified.

"As we understand the Netherlands Overseas Trust is virtually dominated by England, it is impossible to understand the reason for the seizure. The packers have made every effort to avoid friction, as witnessed by their consigning all shipments to the Netherlands Overseas Trust, instead of as usual to their branch houses."

when the force of the explosion shattered buildings and threw down outside walls.

Charles Smith was standing on Main street when the shock occurred. He was killed by bricks from a building nearby. M. E. King, a drayman, was three blocks away when the explosion was felt. The wall of a building buried him. A. C. Gould, a huckster, was driving across the Santa Fe tracks. He met death, along with his horse. His wagon was blown to pieces.

Damage Is Widespread.

Along Main street, from the Santa Fe station to the Whitlington Hotel, everything was demolished. On the opposite side of the street Swift & Co.'s plant was wrecked and burned. A two-story rooming-house at the corner of Main and Cadoux streets was razed, as was Bigg's restaurant. The body of a woman was dragged from the ruins. The bodies of several negroes also were taken from the place.

GRAND ARMY IN SESSION

PRESIDENT WELCOMES VETERANS 50 YEARS AFTER STRIFE.

Blue and Gray Meet at Nation's Capital to Re-Enact Parade of Half Century Ago.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—President Wilson tonight welcomed to Washington the Grand Army of the Republic. It was the first day of the 50th annual reunion of the men who wore the blue during the civil strife of 50 years ago.

The veterans are here by the thousands to participate in the celebration of the review 50 years ago of the greatest army that the world had known at that time.

They are here eager to retrace the steps of the presidential march, when Grant stood beside President Johnson and saluted them when General Sherman led them from the capitol to the corner of the Treasury building, where his equestrian monument now stands to give them inspiration.

Ten thousand veterans of the Union Army had registered tonight at Camp Matthew G. Emory, the headquarters of the reunion. Thousands more were expected during the night and preparations have been made for entertaining a crowd that will rival any inauguration assemblage.

ONSLAUGHT NO SURPRISE

GERMANS SAY NEW MOVEMENT IS TO AWE BALKAN STATES.

"Iron Wall Unshaken and Insurmountable," Is Declaration of Berlin Publication.

BERLIN, Sept. 27, by wireless to Sayville.—The German General Staff was not surprised by the new Franco-British offensive movement, says the Lokai Anzeiger, although on this occasion it was not announced in advance. "The brave German troops withstood the onslaught," the newspaper continues, "and will hold out until the enemy has been driven back. The German iron wall is unshakable and insurmountable."

It is possible that the new movement was inspired more by political than by military reasons, in the desire to influence Balkan states, particularly Greece and Roumania, and to awe Bulgaria. Germany quietly awaits the issue.

Postal Service to Use Jute Twine. WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Jute, instead of cotton twine, will be used for tying letters in the postal service during the year beginning November 1. The contract for the twine, of which about 2,500,000 pounds will be used, was let today to a Boston manufacturer at 59c a pound.

The Diesel oil engine, which is working well in water craft in Europe, will be thought to be used in locomotives by the Prussian railroads.
