

ALLIES ARE READY TO FIGHT BULGARIA

Every Support Possible Is Promised Other Balkan States in Case of Attack.

"BRIGHT FUTURE" OFFERED

Sir Edward Grey Outlines Policy Regarding Small Neutral Nations, and Says Germany Is Seeking to Cause Disunion.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—"If Bulgarian mobilization should result in Bulgaria assuming an aggressive attitude on the side of our enemies, we are prepared to give our friends in the Balkans all the support in our power, in a manner that would be most welcome to them, in concert with our allies, without reserve or qualification."

Premier Asquith, who also addressed the House, made an urgent appeal to all his hearers to abstain from raising questions concerning recruiting for the national service.

"We are at a critical moment in the history of the world. We are watching with most intense sympathy and hope the gallant combined effort of the allied forces."

Old Friendship Emphasized. The speeches of Premier Asquith and Foreign Secretary Grey were followed with the closest attention, as they dealt with phases of the war situation which are of particular interest in England at the present.

Warning Given Categorically. After making the categorical announcement that if Bulgaria should assume the aggressive attitude on the side of Great Britain's enemies, the government would take action, Sir Edward continued:

"We are, of course, in consultation with our allies on the situation and I believe the view I express is theirs also; our policy being so secure an agreement in respect to the Balkan states, which would involve not only independence, but a brilliant future."

SOCIETY WOMEN ENLIST FORTY ARE DRIVING FRENCH ARMY AMBULANCES.

All Provide Their Own Automobiles. Wear Uniform and Are Under Military Regulations.

PARIS, Sept. 28.—Forty women of social distinction who have been driving ambulances have been doing their most effective work in France. They receive their orders from the military authorities each evening and are out at 8 o'clock every morning.

The women are not sent to the front line, but use their automobiles to transfer soldiers from depots in the rear and in quiet times to take them from hospitals to convalescent homes.

SUBMARINES LENT TO CZAR

British Vessels in Baltic Under Orders of Russian. LONDON, Sept. 28.—The silence of the Admiralty in regard to the work of British submarines in the Baltic was explained in the House of Commons today by Thomas MacNamara, financial secretary of the Admiralty.

"The House will realize that much gallant and successful work is being done by these vessels," Mr. MacNamara said, "but the responsibility of deciding what shall be made public of their proceedings in the Baltic must rest with the Russian Admiralty."

Commander Noel Lawrence is the officer who was decorated by the Russian government for a successful torpedo attack on the Moltke. The German cruiser Moltke was said to have been sunk in the battle of the Gulf of Riga last August, although this report was denied in Germany.

and officers in the field. Colonel C. H. Reeves, of Portland, formerly an officer in the Texas Rangers, formed a volunteer company here this afternoon for an organized patrol of different county roads.

Mr. Minto's Murder Related. Walter Johnson, only witness of the killing of Harry Minto, told the story of the murder. Mr. Minto was killed along the main line of the Southern Pacific about two miles north of Albany, about 200 yards north of where the Albany-Salem wagon road crosses the railroad at Cooper's crossing.

"We left the track," said Johnson, "and walked in a field adjoining it. We had gone about 200 yards when we saw Hooker coming up the track, running in a dog-trot on the ties. I jumped into the brush and got up against the fence and prepared to draw a bead on him when he got opposite. I meant to shoot. I called to an escaped convict once to halt and got shot."

Convict Shoots First. "When I saw Hooker coming I called to Harry, who was behind me, to get under cover with me, and thought he did. But he evidently went beyond the brush and was just above the ground. Suddenly I saw the man on the track halt slightly. Harry had stepped right out into the open in the brush and was looking at me. I heard Harry say 'you halt.' Immediately after there were two shots almost together, one close to my head and one that I think the convict shot first. I expected to hear Harry shout again, too, as he had fired only one barrel of a double-barreled shotgun. I didn't know he was down until I ran around the brush and found him on the ground. He was dead."

The bullet struck Minto just below the right eye and ranged downward, passing into the vertebrae and piercing his spinal cord. He died instantly. Minto was about 10 feet away from the edge of the right of way and about 40 feet from Hooker, in the center of the track. The railroad grade there is four feet above the ground. Minto evidently was killed by a chance shot, as Hooker could not have had time for a deliberate aim. Minto's body was brought to Albany and taken from here to Salem early this morning.

Four Shots Are Left. Shot from Minto's gun were found this morning in a fence post on a line directly beyond where Hooker stood. This led to the belief he might have been hit but no blood was found on the track and it is very doubtful if he is wounded.

TRAGEDY SHOCKS GOVERNOR

High Tribute Paid Harry Minto for Work at Penitentiary. SALEM, Or., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—"I am shocked and grieved at the terrible tragedy," said Governor Withycombe today, when he heard of the death of Superintendent Minto at the hands of Otto Hooker, escaped convict.

"In the death of Mr. Minto the state has lost one of its very best citizens and the prisoners at the penitentiary have lost their best friend. Harry Minto was as fair as he was fearless, and everyone in Marion County knows he feared nothing. I am shocked and sincerely grieved at his sad tragedy, which to me is a real personal loss, as the more I saw of Mr. Minto the more I respected and liked him. Affairs at the penitentiary were just rounding up into excellent shape, and Extra Payment of $30,000 on Welsh Coal Stock Declared Relatively Small—Money Is Given to Charitable Organization.

BY CAROLYN WILSON. (Copyright, 1915, by Chicago Tribune. Published by Arrangement.)

PARIS, Sept. 28.—I had dinner the other night with five British officers and an usual talk turned on a comparison of the spirit in the two countries. One of the men who had been here only two weeks said that he thought Paris was radiantly gay compared to London—a statement which amazed me, since the things which go to make up outward gaiety are lacking here—theaters, lights, beautiful gowns, sports, filled restaurants.

But I realized, as he talked that strangeness consists in a deviation from the usual, and that to him the change which he saw in London was not necessarily be ten times greater than that to him—unseen change in Paris. It may possibly be the reason which makes Paris citizens think London so gay when they get there.

War Bonus Angers Recipient. Another of the men speaking of the Wales coal strike told an interesting incident which as far as I know has come out in no paper. One of his friends who has been getting her 6 per cent interest on some coal stock recently got a letter with a check for $30,000 in it. She was stunned at first with wonder and later with anger. For it was her comparatively small share of a bonus.

Now since this woman had two sons at the front and was a very energetic and patriotic Englishwoman and wished these damaging strikes to end she wrote the letter to the Times, telling where the money had come from, and that she neither wanted nor could keep money which had come under such disloyal circumstances, except for the criticism of the mine owners, and begged the Times to use the money and publish the letter.

The check was returned to her with a note from the Times saying they regretted they could not publish the letter, but they would be glad to send it over to a charitable organization and reported the matter to certain labor leaders who were trying to solve the situation. One of the men told me that her check was small, that he knew many men who were getting $10,000 to $12,000 for their bonuses—more than $50,000.

Miners Excused for Rebellion. "Now when the miners know that this state of affairs exists it is to be wondered at that they rebel. So you shouldn't blame them nor in the days when men make money their god can you expect them to be any other than that. Be sure that I excuse them—not after all, shouldn't the government take hand and settle the matter once for all."

From that the conversation passed on to the amusing discussion which has been going on in the newspapers the last month as to the truth of the vision of angels at Mons. I don't know if you have heard about it, but there is a story in England, the English assert that the British forces at Mons were saved by the appearance of a host of angels who hid them from the enemy.

Clear and long descriptions have been published of the vision, but in almost every case the vision is described as a hand—much like the famed children with mutilated hands, which could not be touched, but which had always "just been seen by my cousin in Kent."

Flaw Found in Affidavit. However, finally, there was one man brave enough to come out and swear the following affidavit: "I personally was at Mons and saw the vision of angels with my own eyes. I saw them in the trenches near Cleaveur, first described by Private Robert Cleaver, a certain Mr. Hazelhurst of the 2nd Battalion, the 1st Regiment of the Cheshire regiment and received word that Cleaver was mobilized August 22 and was posted out to France with a draft on September 6. Now as the battle of Mons began August 23 and the battle of the Marne ended September 5, Mr. Hazelhurst concludes that there is something the matter with Cleaver's oath and evidence.

Brokers Want Legal Opinion on Washington State Issue.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—Before attempting to market the projected $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 Capitol bonds, however, the recent Legislature, bond brokers, want Caldwell, Massich & Reed, of New York, to pass on the validity of the issue. The Legislature, however, fails to make any provision for meeting this expense.

TWO FLEE FROM FLAMES

Fire Sweeps Farmhouse and Barn on Once Foremost Oregon Hopyard.

QUINCY, Or., Sept. 28.—(Special.)—A farmhouse and barn on the Conrad Krebs place, cleared last Tuesday night by fire of an unknown origin, and the manager, B. E. LaFontaine, says that the narrow escape of the barn 70 tons of hay were destroyed and much farm machinery.

The loss is covered by insurance and Mr. Krebs will rebuild with modern fixtures. The two hophouses burned last year were not rebuilt and the place once the great of hopyards and the largest in Oregon, has changed considerably. The Krebs Bros. were the first to build a kreb for dancing on the grounds about 1880, and some 1800 of whom once were required to build the crop.

GERMAN SEES GOAL Military Resources Declared Vast Compared to Foes'. OWN AGE LIMIT 20 TO 45 Major Morahit Thinks Youthful Enlistment Means Desperate Efforts Are Being Made by Allies to Improve Situation.

BERLIN, Sept. 28.—(By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.)—Germany has not ceased to make the most of her military efforts, while her foes are drawing near the end of their resources, declares Major Morahit, military critic of the Berliner Tageblatt, in a review of the present status of the belligerents. In his review, an abstract of which is given by the Overseas News Agency, he points out that Germany places the military age limit at 45 and has not even registered younger than 20, while France, he says, is preparing to send to the front in December 13-year-old boys and is unable to relieve from service on the fighting lines soldiers who are even more than 45 years old. Boys of 18 years already are fighting in the Russian front line, mixed with older troops, he declares, while England, fearing that Russia would make a separate peace, recently landed additional troops on the Continent.

"The discussions between the Anglo-French financial commission and the American bankers have resulted in the formation of a definite plan for a loan to the British and the French governments to be issued in this country on a broad and popular basis. The proceeds of the loan will be employed exclusively in America, for the purpose of making the rate of exchange more stable, thereby helping to maintain the volume of American exports."

Joint Obligation Created. "The plan contemplates the issue of $500,000,000 5 per cent five-year bonds, constituting a direct joint obligation of French and English governments as regards capital and interest. No other external loan has been issued by either of these governments, apart from notes of the French treasury to a limited amount, maturing in the next six months. The bonds will be repayable at the end of five years or convertible, at the option of the holder, into 4 1/2 per cent bonds of the two governments, payable not earlier than 15 years and not later than 25 years from the present time by the two government jointly and severally.

Loan to be issued to the public at 98, yielding approximately 5 1/2 per cent to the investor. The work of offering this loan will be carried out by a syndicate, which J. P. Morgan & Co. and a large group of American bankers and financial houses will at once set about to form. Such group will include representatives throughout the country and all members of the
