SPALDING WILL IS CONTESTED BY SON

Baseball Goods Maker's Death Declared Kept From Family Until Cremation.

SECOND WIFE IS ACCUSED

Father Alleged Not to Have Been in Right Mind for Several Years and Undue Influence Charged Against Stepmother.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Oct. 5.—A. G. Spalding, famed as the "father of baseball," was under the complete control and domination of his wife and Mrs. Katherine Tingley, for several years before his death September 9 last, according to a will contest filed in the Superior Court here Monday by his son, Keith.

One month before his death, alleges the contest, Spalding suffered a stroke of apoplexy, but no word of this was conveyed to his relatives until after his death. Then, it continues, they cremated him so quickly that relatives had no opportunity of seeing the body or being at the funeral.

The contest alleges that for several years before his death Spalding was not in his right mind; that his mental and physical strength was impaired by advancing age, by sickness and by business worries. The business worries, says the contest, were occasioned by the loss of $500,000 in "certain disastrous ventures." "Worries of other natures," also contributed to his alleged unsoundness of mind, according to the contest.

Undue Influence Is Charged.

That the will was procured through the undue influence of his wife, "the said Elizabeth Churchill Spalding and Mrs. Katherine Tingley" and was the "direct result of this undue influence" is the next allegation.

A fortune of $2,000,000 was accumulated by Spalding and his first wife, who died in 1899, according to the contest. This, says Keith, was the result of the joint industry of his father and mother and was accumulated before the second marriage, which occurred in 1900.

Up to the time of death, alleged Keith, he was the object of his father's strong affection and pride. Around the time the will was executed, says Keith, and both before and after, Spalding told him and various friends that he wished his son to succeed him in his business and property. At these times, continues the document, he expressed gratification over the business career of his son.

First Wife's Stock Claimed.

Three-fourths of the estate consists of stock in A. G. Spalding & Brothers, sporting goods houses, according to the contest, and a portion of this stock was turned over to Spalding by his first wife with the express understanding that it was to go to the son Keith.

At the time of the marriage to Spalding, says Keith, Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill was the intimate friend of Katherine Tingley in "a theosophical brotherhood at Point Loma" and was "held out by said Mrs. Tingley to the public and to said Elizabeth Churchill Spalding as her successor in the command of said work and institution."

Immediately after the marriage, says the document, Mrs. Spalding persuaded her husband to take up his residence within the grounds of the Theosophical institution. The purpose of this is, alleges Keith upon information and belief, was to alienate Spalding from his son.

ALLIES' LOSSES PUT HIGH

Germany Says Recent Fight Cost Foes 190,000 Men.

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 5.—A supplement to the German official statement says that the French losses in killed, wounded and prisoners in recent fighting were at least 130,000, and those of the British 60,000, while the German losses were not one-fifth of this number.

The German official estimate of the loss by the entente allies of an aggregate of 190,000 men follows within a few days of official estimates of German casualties made by the French War Office, which declared in its statement of Wednesday, September 29, that the Germans had lost since the beginning of the allied offensive a total in killed, wounded and prisoners which amounted to "More than the effective strength of three army corps" of about 120,000 men.

HOTEL BELLE KEEPER HELD

Fritz Boysen Accused of Selling Liquor on Sunday.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 5.—(Special.)—Fritz Boysen, the proprietor of the Hotel Belle, at Milwaukie, was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Frost on a charge of selling liquor on Sunday to James J. Green, of Lakewood, a station on the line of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company.

He was taken before Justice Sievers, waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. He was released under $250 bonds, while Green, held as a witness, was unable up to late today to furnish a $100 bond.

This is the second time within the year that Boysen has been arrested on a liquor charge.

SCHMIDT TRIAL DRAGGING

Four Ventiremen Examined Opening Day of Hearing.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 5.—Slow progress marked the opening day of the trial of Matthew A. Schmidt, on the charge of murdering Charles Haggerty in connection with dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, October 1, 1910. Four veniremen were examined in four hours. Of these one was excused and the examination of two others postponed until tomorrow. It is expected that from two to four weeks will be required to impanel a jury.

Most of the morning session was taken up in clearing away objections interposed by the defense as to the legality of drawing the jury and the alleged espionage by the District Attorney of the talesmen.

Objection by ex-Judge Fairall, chief counsel for Schmidt, that complexion of the jury panel did not comply with the new state law which permitted both property owners as well as non-owners to serve, was overruled by Judge Frank R. Willis. Examination of the jurors elicited the information that they had not been interviewed by detectives of the District Attorney's office as suggested by attorneys for the defense.

Incipient clashes between opposing counsel were nipped in the bud by Judge Willis, who announced he intended to try the case in an orderly manner. The attorneys were ordered to their seats on three occasions.

By Vote of 86 to 63, Club Decides to Make Annual Outing to Three Sisters Peak—Lecture Plans Out.

Frank Branch Riley was elected president of the Mazamas—Portland's premier mountain-climbing organization—at the annual election Monday night, after a spirited contest with A.

Frank Branch Riley, Who Was Elected President of the Mazamas Monday Night.

"SIN" IS MAJESTIC FILM

"GRUESOME, YET FASCINATING," IS PICTURE ON REEL.

Series of Stirring Human Adventures Is Herbert Brenon's Production, Says Critic of Attraction.

"Sin," gruesome, yet fascinating, holds throngs of film fans at the Majestic this week. Sinister, beautiful Theda Bara, known as the "vampire woman of the films," is seen in a production that exceeds all her former triumphs. A series of stirring human adventures is Herbert Brenon's production of "Sin," and a composite of strong dramatic climaxes, growing out of the clash of elemental human passions.

Luigi is played by William Shay, who, as the man that is lured by self-destruction, is a melodramatic character of rare type. The woodcutter's mother, Mariette, is played by Louise Rial. Luigi is betrothed to a fascinating Italian peasant girl. At the feast of Saint Carmel she sees Pietro, an Americanized Italian, who begins her career as a sinner. The plot takes them all to America. It is here that the faithful Luigi works out his sorrow by the theft of the Jewels of the Madonna by which he hopes to prove his love for Rosa.

The dramatic climax of the play is notable. The mobs, the individual characters, the futility of unreciprocated devotion and the mockery of "Sin," are objects that leave distinct impressions on the observer. Wherever Theda Bara, the great French tragedienne, is advertised she creates a furore. She is loved and despised by the same people, yet she never ceases to fascinate. Her "Sin" is the highest form of siren impersonation.

Along with "Sin" is Charlie Chaplin's latest release, "Shanghaied." There is more action, variation and novelty in "Shanghaied" than any former Chaplin movie. In this he has created some brand new eccentricities. The Ad Club Quartet will sing every night during the week.

All members of the league interested in taxation are urged to be present.

NIGHT SCHOOLS ON WITH BIG CLASSES

Lincoln High Leads Registration With 812 Students Drawn From Portland.

2 PAST 60 SEEK TO STUDY

Americanization Course Is Popular, but College Preparatory and Language Aspirations Attract Many Taking Up Studies.

Working Portland went to school Monday night.

And not in the history of education in Portland has so large a registration been recorded for the first night's session. There seemed to be no favorites among the different schools, although Ladd's attendance was lower this year than last, owing to the publicity given the Americanization school that opened at the Shattuck. Only last year's pupils returned to Ladd.

Lincoln High led the field with a total first-night registration of 812, a remarkable figure, according to the principal, John C. Veatch. Of those enrolled at Lincoln, all are taking high school and college preparatory work and the average age last night was given at 26 years.

"We should have at least 1500 registered at this school before the close of the term," said Mr. Veatch. Four years ago, when Mr. Veatch first taught in Lincoln, the registration was only 40, a fact demonstrating the popularity that the night courses have acquired in a remarkably short time.

Americanization Course Draws.

The Americanization school, where most of the foreigners of the West Side appeared to begin their studies of American institutions and manners, enrolled approximately 200 foreigners and they ranged in age from 16 to 20 years.

One couple, an old man and his wife, both past the 60 mark, natives of Denmark, inquired of Mr. Mosessohn, the principal of the school, if they were too old to learn the rudiments of the English language. According to Mr. Mosessohn, among the 200 that enrolled there were at least 20 nationalities represented.

A large class was enrolled in the salesmanship course offered to the clerks of the city stores and in this class both men and women were registered. The course is offered at the Benson Polytechnic for Girls, at Fourteenth and Morrison streets.

In all the classes that were started last night at the girls' school there were 385 registered, an increase of 167 over the first-night registration of last year.

Boys Study Engineering.

Evidence that the public receives the first consideration where night instruction is concerned was demonstrated by the inauguration of a course at the boys' branch of the Benson Polytechnic in the theory of operating engineering, started at the request of a number of students.

The course will be under the direction of A. P. Towner, chief engineer of the Meier & Frank building. A similar course will be given at the new Benson Polytechnic as soon as the required equipment is available.

More than 200 men and boys registered in all the mechanic, arts and crafts courses started last night in the boys' trade school. According to the principal of the school, C. E. Cleveland, approximately 1030 students should be enrolled in all the courses given at night before the close of the first term. "Despite the fact that we will perhaps be crowded," said Mr. Cleveland, "we will be able to take care of every person who desires to enroll in any of our classes."

Registration Increase Expected.

In the two high schools and the trade schools there was a total first-night registration last year of 1285. Last night before all the registration blanks had been filed 1787 prospective night school students had been enrolled and assigned to their classrooms. Allowing for the same per cent increase in this year's final attendance, approximately 1000 more students should register this year than last.

One hundred and fifteen teachers and principals were needed last year for night school work, although the Fall term was started with about 60. This year already 86 teachers have temporarily received positions.

CONSUL IS CALLED HOME

America to Get First-Hand British Trade Facts.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Robert P. Skinner, the United States Consul-General at London, has been summoned to Washington for consultation on the trade situation existing between the United States and Great Britain.

On his return here Mr. Skinner will confer, not only with Secretary Lansing, but with Counsellor Polk and the foreign trade advisers, who are handling the negotiations with Great Britain over contraband.

In London the Consul-General has gathered much information concerning British exports and re-exports, and it is this phase of the situation on which State Department officials are particularly desirous to obtain first-hand information.

In its last note Great Britain pointed out that in conversation with Sir Cecil Spring-Rice the "acting counsellor of the State Department referred to the unfavorable impression created at Washington by reports as to the increase in British exports to the Northern European neutral ports since the outbreak of the war received from Consul-General Skinner, these reports having given figures showing increases in the British exports of some commodities to those countries."

ARCHITECTS ARE ON VISIT

Celebrities Spend Day Seeing Scenic Highway.

Some of the most celebrated architects in the United States were the guests of the Portland branch of the American Institute of Architects Monday, stopping over for a day en route for San Francisco for the National convention of the association.

The party consisted of about 50 men and women. They reached here late Sunday night. Early yesterday the local committee bundled them into automobiles—and they did not reappear at their headquarters at the Portland Hotel until midnight last night.

All of the scenic drives about the city were visited, the procession of automobiles went out along the Columbia Highway as far as possible, and at noon the crowd was entertained at the Automobile Club for luncheon.

Immediately after the luncheon the sight-seeing trip was resumed, and in the evening the spokesman of the party telephoned in from the Waverley Golf Club that the crowd was being entertained at dinner there and would not be back before 10:30 or possibly midnight. The latter guess proved correct. The dinner at the golf club was followed by a reception from the local chapter of the institute.

The head of the party is R. C. Sturgis, of Boston, president of the Institute of Architects and designer of some of the most noted buildings in this and other countries. The party is under the guidance of C. J. Levi, of New York.

A. E. Doyle and F. A. Naramore will join them and accompany them to San Francisco as delegate from Portland to the convention. The crowd will leave this morning to sail for San Francisco on the steamer Great Northern.

ROBBERS GAG VICTIM

Mrs. N. M. White Bound in Bed While Loot Collected.

OTHERS MADE PRISONERS

Burglars Wear Black Masks, but Show No Guns and When Occupant of Room Awakens Whistle Calls Partner's Assistance.

Binding and gagging Mrs. N. M. White, locking her daughter, Mrs. Julius Pincus, on her sleeping porch, and Herman Kerstein, proprietor of the Pioneer Soda Works, a border, in his room, masked burglars ransacked a handsome residence at 764 East Twenty-fifth street, North, Sunday night.

The crime was disclosed and the plight of the robbers' victims, when Mrs. Pincus succeeded in attracting the attention Monday morning of James Englehart, son of George E. Englehart, a neighbor at 762 East Twenty-fifth street, North. The boy called his father, who placed a ladder at the side of the house, cut through a window screen, burst the locks on the doors and released the prisoners.

Robbers Maintain Silence.

The robbers, both of whom were of slight build and wore black masks, carried flashlights, but no guns. They did not utter a word, but when surprised at work by Mrs. White, one of them called the other by a low whistle. Their plunder consisted of $2.50 and a valuable gold pin from the room of Mrs. Pincus; $3 from Mrs. White's bedroom; $18 in a sack, $8.50 in loose change, together with a handsome gold watch, gold chain and pin from the room of Mr. Kersten.

The men were evidently disturbed at their work by the barking of a dog in the yard of Mr. Englehart, for they did not stay long and left much jewelry and silverware untouched.

They gained entrance to the house through a rear door, according to Detectives La Salle and Leonard, who investigated the robbery yesterday. This was about 10:30 Sunday night. Mrs. White had retired at 8:30 and was awakened by the noise of someone rummaging through the drawers of her dresser.

Whistle Calls Patrner.

She asked him what he was doing there, and the man in her room whistled softly, which brought the other in from another part of the house. Both seized Mrs. White, and using her stockings, bound her hand and foot. They then stuffed three handkerchiefs into her mouth, covered her with the bedclothes, and paid no more attention to her.

Mrs. Pincus did not hear the men enter room, as she was sleeping on the porch. Mrs. Kerstein did not know when the men ransacked his room. Mrs. Pincus discovered her predicament when she awoke in the morning and found herself locked off from her bedroom. She saw young Englehart playing in the next yard and called to him. The lad then brought his father to the scene and the rescue began.

Mrs. White is nearly 60 years old. She was in a state of collapse when found, but last night showed no trace of her trying experience.

Mrs. Pincus is the divorced wife of Julius Pincus, a hop dealer.

Mr. Kersten has been a boarder at the home for nearly three years. He would not discuss the burglary last night.

A FINE TREATMENT FOR CATARRH

EASY TO MAKE AND COSTS LITTLE.

Catarrh is such an insidious disease and has become so prevalent during the past few years that its treatment should be understood by all.

Science has fully proved that Catarrh is a constitutional disease, and therefore requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers, salves and nose douches seldom if ever give lasting benefit and often drive the disease further down the air passages and into the lungs.

If you have Catarrh or Catarrhal deafness or head-noises, go to your druggist and get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and 4 ounces granulated sugar; stir until dissolved, take one tablespoonful 4 times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head-noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and mucus stop dropping into the throat.

This treatment has a slight tonic action which makes it especially effective in cases where the blood has become thin and weak. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Every person who wishes to be free from this destructive disease should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

MOTHER OF SCHOOL GIRL

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health.

Plover, Iowa.—"From a small child my 13 year old daughter had female weakness. I spoke to three doctors about it and they did not help her any. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had been of great benefit to me, so I decided to have her give it a trial. She has taken five bottles of the Vegetable Compound according to directions on the bottle and she is cured of this trouble. She was all run down when she started taking the Compound and her periods did not come right. She was so poorly and weak that I often had to help her dress herself, but now she is regular and is growing strong and healthy."—Mrs. MARTIN HELVIG, Plover, Iowa.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

Safe Home Treatment for Objectionable Hairs

(Boudoir Secrets)

The electric needle is not required for the removal of hair or fuzz, for with the use of plain delatone the most stubborn growth can be quickly banished. A paste is made with water and a little of the powder, then spread over the hairy surface. In about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple treatment not only removes the hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.—Adv.
