"I won't wait so long before coming to see you again," continued the speaker, "It is not a good thing for us to let so much time pass without meeting each other. We are in danger of getting to believe some of the stories each hears about the others. If anybody tries to tell you that I am your enemy don't believe him. I'm your friend.

We are partners in this business and neither can get along without the other. Your labor would not earn you a living without capital to provide a a living without capital to provide a place to work and a market for your product. My capital would not avail to get the ore out of the ground without your strong arms and brave hearts to toil at ateam shovels and under the earth. We must work together or both will auffer.

Secretary P. F. Snyder, of Kelso, is already in Washington, having left here last week.

"The question of preparation for National defense will be the chief issue before the 64th Congress," said Mr. Johnson, "and the discussion will be extensive. I favor proper and reasonable preparation for defense, but I oppose any militaristic tendency. I do not intend to sanction any proposal that will place a soldier to support on the back of every civilian in the country. I believe this Nation should be equipped so that it can take care of its citizens wherever in the world they citizens wherever in the world they may be, and so that its demands-I asany of and so that its demands—I asume these demands always will be just

His father, George ulio of oral arithmetic or grammar matches, which will replace the spelling bees of the last two years. Mr. Calavan believes that arithmetic would be a more appropriate study for the schedule than grammar, although he is still considering both subjects.

While the spelling bee schedules have been a decided success, according to the reports of teachers, Mr. Calavan said today that he believes a change in the subject necessary to keep up the interest and the friendly competition between the schools.

Mr. Chlavan has not worked out the plan in detail, but it will probably follow along the general lines of former work. Each school will probably have two teams, one for the upper grades and one for the lower. The county will be divided into districts of from six to 10 schools each, and district matches held in a centrally located school building. At the close of the schedule there will probably be a county-wide bee, in which the district winners will compete. The district bees last Spring drew crowds that taxed the capacity of some of the county's largest schools, while the final match filled the Oregon City High School auditorium. LESS COAL USE HITS LINE

Operating Revenues of Columbia & Puget Sound Drop Half.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 6.—(Special.)
—Decreased use of coal for fuel this year has reduced the operating revenues of the Columbia & Puget Sound nues of the Columbia & Puget Sound Railroad 50 per cent, is shown by its annual report for the year ending June 30, 1915, just filed with the Public Service Commission. The freight handled by this line, operating into the Western Washington coal fields, consists almost exclusively of coal. Increased consumption of fuel oil is regarded as partially responsible for this decrease. The Columbia & Puget Sound, according to its previous report, was the most prosperous road operating in Washington. In spite of the sharp reduction in its revenues, the road during the year just ended earned in dividends and undivided profits 7.9 per cent on its $1,000,000 capitalization.

and should be decided by the states, not the National government. The following statement was given out at the White House:

"I intend to vote for woman suffrage in New Jersey, because I believe that the time has come to extend that privilege and responsibility to the women of the state, but I shall vote, not as the leader of my party in the Nation, but only upon my private conviction as a citizen of New Jersey, called upon by the Legislature of the state to express his conviction at the polis. I think that New Jersey will be greatly benefited by the change.

"My position with regard to the way in which this great question should be handled is well known. I believe that it should be settled by the states and not by the National Government, and that in no circumstances should it be made a party question, and my view has grown stronger at every turn of the agitation."
