

ROCKEFELLER SAYS STRIKES MUST END

Fuel Company Officers and Employees Told No One Benefits, All Are Hurt.

CREDIT GIVEN TO FATHER

Elder Rockefeller Depicted as Tenderest, Most Democratic of Men, Who, Though Maligned, Has No Bitterness.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 5.—"I have told the officers of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company and the miners employed by the corporation that there is one thing which must never happen again—that is a strike. A strike is wasteful of human life and property; no party is benefited, but all parties are harmed, including the public and the state."

This was the statement of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in an address before the Denver Chamber of Commerce today. Mr. Rockefeller was the guest of honor at the weekly luncheon of the organization.

Credit Given Elder Rockefeller.
Referring to the many expressions of friendship he has received during his three weeks in Colorado, Mr. Rockefeller said:
"These I have accepted as intended partially for myself, but mostly for my father, whose representative I am. My father has been for many years a good friend of the State of Colorado. His confidence in the future of the state has been shown by his placing of considerable sums of money in the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company. On the common stock of that company he never has received one cent in dividend, but he has not lost faith in the future of Colorado."

No Bitterness Is Felt.
Mr. Rockefeller declared his father was the tenderest, most democratic of men, and related several incidents of the dealings of the elder Rockefeller with his workmen.
"Criticism, maligned and condemned these many years, not only for his business success but also because of his philanthropic endeavors, there still is not the slightest trace of bitterness in his character and he holds nothing but good will for all men," said the speaker.

"Whatever I am or may be, I owe to my sainted mother and my honored father."

The speaker then referred to his testimony in 1914 before the Congressional committee which investigated the Colorado coal miners' strike.
"My statement before that committee," he declared, "that I believed in the freedom of every American workman to work for whom he pleased, upon such terms as he pleased, frequently has been misinterpreted. The inference sometimes drawn from it that my father and I are fighting organized labor is untrue."

Belief in Unions Extracted.
Mr. Rockefeller read extracts from his testimony before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, in which he declared his belief in labor unions, "provided they were so organized as to leave every worker free to associate himself with such groups or to work independently."
The extracts concluded with a statement that the interests of both labor and capital must be conserved or both would suffer.

Spirit of Democracy Felt.
"We cannot hope to prosper until labor and capital join hands. A spirit of democracy underlies our industrial plan, as contrasted with the plan which is in common usage among other organizations of labor, where only those who elect to join the organization are entitled to its benefits."

INDUSTRIAL PLAN IS ADOPTED
Majority of All Workers Vote Yes, With One Camp Dissenting.

DENVER, Oct. 5.—With the announcement of the complete return from the referendum vote of the coal miners employed by the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company, officers of the company declared the Rockefeller industrial plan adopted. The total vote for the plan was 255; opposed, 48.

About 75 per cent of the miners cast ballots in the referendum. More than a majority of the total number of men employed voted for the Rockefeller plan.

The latest returns received—those from Fremont County—cut down the majority in favor of the plan. A list of the miners in Fremont County belong to the United Mine Workers of America. One Fremont County camp—Rockvale—voted against the plan, the vote there being 81 to 156. The other two Fremont County camps, however, accepted the plan, although both are strongly unionized.

DUTCH CLAIMS REJECTED

German Prize Court Throws Out Case Like That of Frye.

THE HAGUE, via London, Oct. 5.—A private dispatch received in The Hague says the supreme prize court in Berlin has rejected all claims in connection with the sinking of the Dutch steamer Maria in the South Atlantic last year by the German cruiser Karlsruhe while the steamer was on a voyage from Oregon to Dublin and Belfast with a cargo of grain.

The case of the Maria is similar to that of the American ship William P. Frye, which was sunk by the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

STUDENT IS HELD AS SPY

Princetonian Prisoner in London; Friends Say Mind Is Weak.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Kenneth G. Triest, 19 years old, who disappeared from Princeton University last January when a student there, is a prisoner in London, accused as a spy, according to information his relatives here have received from the State Department in Washington. Triest is the son of W. G. Triest, a German by birth, but a naturalized citizen of the United States.

Mr. Triest said today that he had presented to Secretary Lansing testimony of many of his son's acquaintances to show that the boy was mentally unbalanced.

BOAT PATRONAGE URGED

ADVANTAGE OF SHIPPING EMPHASIZED BY CHAMBER MANAGER.

Mr. Hardy Says Support of Present Facilities Will Naturally Encourage Better Service.

Portland people are urged by George E. Hardy, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, to support by their patronage in every way possible, the steamship services which Portland already has, as a practical preliminary toward effective support of shipping lines to be developed later.

Shipping and its development he declares to be the future hope of this city.

Returning yesterday from San Francisco, Mr. Hardy expressed himself emphatically regarding the support of the present steamship service which is afforded. He said:

"The steamships Great Northern and Northern Pacific are certainly two fine boats. They are modern in every respect and excel all other steamships on this Coast. Portland should appreciate for more than she does what it means to have this excellent service between Flavel and San Francisco."

The people of Portland and vicinity should support the service in every way possible.

As a result of the service much money is expended in Portland, not only by those who travel via the route, but by those who supply the service. Certainly the service cannot be maintained without sufficient patronage.

Mr. Hardy made the trip from San Francisco on the Great Northern, and never did I travel with more comfort and a greater feeling of safety.

Through travel has made the earning of these boats satisfactory this summer, but with the season drawing to a close, it behooves the people of this city to patronize these boats by shipments of freight and by travel whenever they can do so.

Portland generally must wake up to the importance of shipping. Her people must learn that nothing will contribute so much to her growth and to her prestige as will large shipping developments.

It will help every phase of Portland's life and growth to have more traffic on the Columbia and Willamette rivers. Of course coastwise and river traffic only can be developed until after the necessary changes are made in the seamen's act, which precludes any development in offshore shipping.

Mr. Hardy then referred to his testimony in 1914 before the Congressional committee which investigated the Colorado coal miners' strike.

"My statement before that committee," he declared, "that I believed in the freedom of every American workman to work for whom he pleased, upon such terms as he pleased, frequently has been misinterpreted. The inference sometimes drawn from it that my father and I are fighting organized labor is untrue."
