

GOVERNOR REFUSES TO PURCHASE PEACE

Strike Amnesty as Fruit of Agitation Is Declared Too High Price to Pay.

COLORADO MOVE BLOCKED

Plan Rejected by State Executive Said to Have Had Indorsement of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Other Leaders.

DENVER, Oct. 8.—More than 1000 persons made defendants in cases growing out of the recent coal strike in Colorado must go to trial. Hope held out strongly during the past week that Governor Carlson would order a sweeping dismissal of the cases pending flickered out at midnight last night when the executive refused to interfere.

State Sovereignty Lost.

Reviewing the legal history of cases growing out of the recent strike and their present status, the Governor declares: "I do not feel that I can now order the annulment of these prosecutions. Considerations of so-called peace, mercy and business," says the statement, "have been urged as a justification for the action which it was hoped I would take. To find answer to these arguments I do not desire to review the history of the strike, it will be sufficient to remind our citizens that state sovereignty was lost and that Federal troops were sent to protect the state from organized lawlessness."

Price Too High For Mental Peace.

"The only question for me to decide," said the Governor, "was whether or not those who were legally charged with murder should be set loose without trial for the extra legal reasons urged. It has been asserted that such a course would put an end to the agitation and leave this state in a more peaceful condition. Granting such a result would follow it is in effect to say that a group of persons can commit a crime and receive immunity if they raise sufficient agitation to disturb our peace of mind. I do not believe our citizens are willing to purchase mental peace at such a price."

Criminality Not Mitigated.

"The wholesale character of these crimes does not deprive them of their criminality. It has been urged that so long as these cases are pending business will be stagnant and that foreign capital will not come into the state. In my opinion, capital will never invest in this state until it is demonstrated that attacks on life and property will not be tolerated. The decision of Governor Carlson, which was a surprise to many, is a blow close to the Administration, came only a few hours after the announcement of the decision of the Supreme Court ordering the release of John R. Lawson, labor leader, and one of the foremost figures in the conduct of the recent strike. Lawson had been confined in a Trinidad jail since his conviction several months ago of first degree murder in connection with strike disorders."

Thousand Defendants Involved.

Approximately 75 criminal and civil suits were filed and more than 1000 persons were made defendants, as a result of the recent Colorado coal strike. Strikers, sympathizers, local, district and international officials of the United Mine Workers of America were indicted. Actions were brought in Federal, state and district courts. Of the civil suits, the case of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company against the United Mine Workers of America, charging conspiracy in restraint of trade, and asking damages in the sum of $1,000,000, was the most prominent. Of the criminal cases that of John R. Lawson was the most noteworthy.

Several Eastern corporations are interested in the proposition, and are waiting until prospecting reports show that the venture will be worth while. Further work is contingent on extension of time on options granted last Spring, as it is estimated that prospecting will take nearly a year, and the options now in force will run out before that time.

Lyman had never had any football experience and this fact, added to that of his poor condition, resulted in his death.

FOREST GROVE HAS GALA DAY AT FAIR

Thousands See Children Take Part in Picturesque and Lengthy Parade.

EXHIBITS ARE BEST EVER

Dilley Takes First Prize in Class A, With Gaston Second—Cattle Entries at Washington County Event Treble Any Previous.

FOREST GROVE, Or., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—This was the banner day in the history of the Washington County Fair. It was school day, and between 8000 and 9000 people thronged the grounds to witness the two-mile school parade, with more than 1000 children.

The great exhibits of farm products, everywhere in evidence, drew throngs that later halted to inspect the splendid herds of cattle, which more than trebled any previous exhibit; gaze at the fine hogs, sheep and horses and watch the fast races on the excellent half-mile track.

The weather was ideal. The parade was headed by the Forest Grove High School band, then came the Dilley School, under the banner, "What made our country great?"

This was illustrated in the spirit of 1776, represented by boys dressed in Colonial style, carrying old-fashioned rifles; then came a float with "The Goddess of Liberty" and "Uncle Sam," followed by floats of pioneers, agriculture, education, increase in population, inventions, et cetera. Then came the Banks School, with floats representing "Yesterday," "Today" and "Tomorrow."

"Yesterday" was pictured by Indians and pioneers crossing the plains. "Today" was depicted by seven splendidly decorated automobiles filled to overflowing with school children. "Tomorrow" was forecasted by the flying machine, a large-sized model being carried by schoolboys. The Forest Grove schools came next, portraying education from the stone age to the present time.

A Chinese dragon, Catholic sisters, Turks, the dark ages, devils, witches, the first building of Pacific University, boys and girls as pioneers, votes for women, women's rights, learning and labor, domestic science and ten decorated automobiles filled with little children.

The Gaston schools followed with great loads of children under the banner, "Our best crop," four handsomely decorated automobiles filled with school children.

The parade winners were as follows: Class A—First, Dilley; second, Gaston; third, Forest Grove; fourth, Banks; fifth, Tualatin; sixth, Iowa Falls. Class B—First, Roy; second, Whitford; third, Kansas City. Favorable mention—Centerville, Watts, Hill, Johnson.

UNION COUNTY SCHOOL CHILDREN MARCH AT LA GRANDE FAIR.

Great Crowd Packs Grounds — Races Prove Interesting, and Varied Entertainment Pleases.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Union County school children passed in review today in La Grande. Rural and urban schools from all parts of the county sent pupils to participate in the children's parade, special trains from the north and east arriving during the morning. Union High-city team was defeated by La Grande High, 25 to 0, during the afternoon. As for the numbers, the crowd has been bettered only once in the past, and for entertainment few attempts have equaled it, notwithstanding the inferiority of harness races. The fair closes tomorrow with a Union County roadster race, the banner event on the programme.

Saturday Night Shopping Tours

SATURDAY night shopping is a diversion and a necessity with many.

—Work, care of the home and children are factors tending to keep many at home during the day.

—Following the theory that the modern store is a public service institution conducted for the benefit of the people, the establishments named below remain open Saturday nights for the express purpose of serving their friends and patrons who find it inconvenient to call at other times.

—These establishments will render a store service equal to that prevailing during the regular hours—no girls are employed during the evening, but instead you will be served by men who will make your visit a special opportunity to acquaint you with their store.

—This is the first of a series of articles on Saturday night shopping—watch for the next one.
