

GERMANS PRESSING ATTACKS IN WEST

French Trenches in Artois Shattered by Shells and Taken by Assault.

HEAVY LOSSES REPORTED

Infantry Attacks Are Renewed Frequently and Conducted With Desperate Courage—French Bombard Lines in Rear.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A strong German force attacked the French lines around Souchez and Vimy today.

A violent bombardment preceded the infantry attacks, which were renewed from time to time and desperately carried out.

The Germans succeeded in penetrating some of the trenches which had been badly shattered by the shells, but, according to the French official statement issued in Paris tonight, were repulsed elsewhere with heavy losses.

The enemy renewed today with strong forces his attacks to the northeast of Souchez against the wood 'Le Bois de la Haine' and the road from Souchez to Angres; against other positions on the crest of Vimy, and against the small fort previously taken by us in the Givency wood, and the neighboring trenches.

German Tanks Destroyed Trenches. Despite the extreme violence of the bombardment and the desperate nature of the renewed assaults, the enemy was able to penetrate only some parts of the trenches in the Givency wood which had been completely shattered by shells of heavy caliber.

Artillery action of particular intensity is reported to the south of the Somme in the sector of Lihons, in Champagne, in Artois, and between the Meuse and the Moselle to the north of Elroy.

The Belgian official statement says that German artillery has been very much active all along the front, bombarding Furnes, Ypres, Roussdamme, Cassinette, Reininghe, Noordschoote and Oost-Vleteren.

The correspondent of the Frankfurter Zeitung at the German headquarters on the western front telegraphs that the artillery duel in the Champagne is continuing with great violence, says a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam.

French Shell German Rear. The French, the correspondent says, are particularly attempting to disturb the lines of communication in the German rear by means of heavy shells.

Berlin, via London, Oct. 13.—The German War Office report today says that British shells near Ypres were repulsed and that the French lost some positions in the Vosges.

FLAX COMPANY FILES

Farmers Over State Interested in Plans for Valley Plant.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Articles of incorporation of the Willamette Valley Flax Company were filed with County Clerk Harrington today.

John W. Loder, one of the organizers of the company, said today that he had received many inquiries from all parts of the state regarding the announcement of the plan of the concern.

DEFENSE PLAN IS HOPE

quarters is that a bond issue will be proposed as a means of meeting the added expense.

The President's determination to urge on Congress in his message a defense program to cost $400,000,000 has been emphasized in official quarters during the last few days, following Mr. Wilson's recent speech saying the American people were convinced that the United States should be adequately prepared, not for war, but for defense.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

Secretary Daniels has already had an opportunity to get the President's ideas on naval appropriations. He said today that both the President and Chairman Padgett, of the House naval affairs committee, seemed to approve of the idea of a five-year naval building program.

shown us," said Mr. Daniels, "the great value of not only air craft, but of fast, heavily-armed vessels and scout cruisers and the importance of big guns. Particularly it has taught us that we do not have large supplies of ammunition than Congress or the general board has hitherto provided."

The Secretary revealed that most of the information sought from American naval attaches abroad before making up next year's building programme had arrived. He said the delay in holding the two battleships authorized by the last Congress was due to a desire to perfect plans for protection of these vessels against the torpedo.

Congress Behind Schedule. In general the idea of continuing programme has been recommended by the general board of the Navy for years, but no Secretary of the Navy ever has recommended to Congress. Originally the general board aimed to have 48 battleships by 1915, but Congress in the last ten years has fallen behind the schedule.

Mr. Daniels' estimate today of ships built and building, exclusive of that which may be authorized by the next Congress, the fleet would number 39 capital ships by 1922, with 12 in reserve. Naval officers estimate that out of the total number which would be authorized in the five-year building programme, 12 first-line ships could be finished by 1922, so that the total would be 27.

The belief was expressed by Mr. Daniels that American shipyards could build more ships annually than at present, if a definite number of a single type of vessel of either the dreadnaught or battleship class were authorized.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Jack Wilson, alias Robert Avon, Wilbur Sexton, H. Weston and George Sanford, a holdup man, wanted for complicity in the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, on the North Bank road, in October of last year, was arrested today by Sheriff Fred Smith, of Klickitat County, while at work in a sawmill near Kiloikat Station on the Goldendale branch of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway.

Wilson has done time at Walla Walla and Kelso, Wash., and at present is an escapee from the North Dakota Penitentiary at Bismarck, where he was incarcerated for burglary after the Towal robbery.

Wilson made his escape from the North Dakota Penitentiary in March, 1915. He is about 25 years old, and was in the employ of the Towal Coast in 1910, and is regarded as one of the most desperate and wary crooks in the business. He is an expert pistol shot, but was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

At the robbery of the section crew at Towal Station, Wilson and his pal, George J. Miller, an ex-convict who is now doing time at Walla Walla for his part in the affair, secured $145 in money and some clothing and jewelry. Wilson was unarmed when arrested and submitted quietly. He had an improved heavy-caliber automatic pistol and several boxes of ammunition in his grip. Sheriff Smith made the arrest without drawing his gun on Wilson.

RUSSIANS AGAIN IN IMPORTANT VICTORY

Last Line on Southern Front Pierced and 3 Austrian Divisions Defeated.

GERMANS RETIRE IN NORTH

Forces Menacing Divinsk Are Driven Back From Three to Ten Miles. Galician Advantage May Impress Rumanians.

PETROGRAD, via London, Oct. 13.—Another striking victory has been won by the Russians on the southern front in Eastern Galicia.

They have pierced the last line of Austrian defenses on the Stripa River and stormed one of the strongest points on the Austro-German right flank. This achievement of the Russians represented a continuation of the recent strong offensive movement north of the Rumanian frontier. The position they stormed was a hill to the east of Gyorvanka, on the right bank of the Stripa, 13 miles north of Buebach.

Tenton Blow is Warded Off. This fortification was of great strength. From this base the Austrians had prepared to strike at the Russian force on the left bank of the Stripa, which seriously menaced their opponents.

Having thus completely secured the Rovno district and the road leading into Volynia and the marsh region, the Russians occupied strong positions along the rivers Chynka, Styr, Dniester and Sereth. They prevented the Austrians and Germans from entrenching and warded off a blow aimed at the Russian wing.

Cavalry Rushes Ahead. By careful reconnaissance the Russians prepared a counter offensive reaching a series of entanglements and trenches. They drove out the Teutonic forces from their positions, seized a considerable number of prisoners and widened the breach sufficiently to enable the cavalry to engage in energetic pursuit. The cavalry seized the supply trains and threw the Teutonic rear into confusion.

Between 2000 and 3000 prisoners were captured by the Russians. The war office estimates that up to 4000 prisoners of the Austrians were disorganized. It characterizes this success as a tactical, strategic and political victory, asserting it will have general consequences and re-group his forces on the whole front, which will affect operations in the entire southeastern district.

Other opinions are expressed. The greatest importance is attached to the political significance of the Russian accomplishments in Eastern Galicia, inasmuch as large Austro-German forces had been concentrated on the Galician front, apparently to impress Rumanians.

Simultaneously with the movement the Russians are developing their operations around Divinsk. Some time ago the Germans were within artillery range of the city, but they have now been driven back a distance of nine or ten miles on the northwestern and southwestern fronts.

The Russian army in the northwest of Novo Alexandrovsk, Russian artillery dispersed the Germans. North of the immediate Divinsk district the Russians drove back the Germans a distance of three miles.

German Efforts Costly. Efforts of the invaders to reach Divinsk by the highway from Novo Alexandrovsk have cost them enormous losses and caused them to turn to the road leading in from the northwest. The Germans had been concentrating so in width between the lakes forming the gateway in the direction of the city.

Quotation From Judge Cited. In setting forth their contention that Judge McGinn's action in refusing to grant a change of venue, Ottenheimer's attorneys submitted affidavits in which Judge McGinn was alleged to have used language as follows after the first decision of the Supreme Court in the case:

The case was one in which the plaintiff sought damages for personal injuries as a result of being struck by the defendant's automobile. The case was tried three times. The jury failed to agree at the first trial.

Case Declared Prejudged. Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

COURT FINDS BIAS

Judge McGinn Declared to Have Prejudged Case.

REVERSAL SECOND IN SUIT

Supreme Court Thinks Trial Judge in Woman's Action for Damages Should Not Have Presided at Rehearing—Error is Found.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—In an opinion by Justice Benson, the Supreme Court today, for the second time, reversed Circuit Judge McGinn in the case of Albertine H. Rugenstein against Henry J. Ottenheimer, appellant.

Reversal was made on the ground that the lower court had prejudged the issues and erred in his instructions to the jury.

The case was one in which the plaintiff sought damages for personal injuries as a result of being struck by the defendant's automobile. The case was tried three times. The jury failed to agree at the first trial.

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

Justice Benson, in his opinion to argue, declares that "it needs no argument to convince an impartial jury that the trial judge had prejudged the issue of this case and that he ought not in face of the record, to have undertaken the trial thereof."

No Charge for Alterations Dress Up Week

During Dress Up Week I shall be glad to have every woman in Portland and vicinity inspect my fine exhibit of Tailored Suits and Coats. Bon Selling Morrison at Fourth

47 TAKE PHARMACY TESTS

Examination of Applicants by State Board is Completed.

Forty-seven applicants for pharmacists' licenses completed the examinations before the State Board of Pharmacy yesterday at the North Pacific College of Pharmacy and Dentistry. The examinations were begun Monday. The subjects were chemistry, pharmacy, toxicology and materia medica.

PORTLAND EXHIBIT SOUGHT

Union County Farmers May Enter Salem Prize-winners.

LA GRANDE, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Several leading Union County farmers and the La Grande Commercial Club today started a subscription to raise $500 needed to send an exhibit and publicity agent to the Portland Lane Show.

CITY ANSWERS IN COMPANY'S SUIT

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—City Attorney Schuebel today filed an answer in the suit of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company against the city to clear title to a triangular strip of land at the southern end of Main street, near the basin.

SWAMP-ROOT SAVES KIDNEY SUFFERERS

You naturally feel secure when you know that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit-producing drugs.

SHAKE OFF THE CLUTCH OF DANGEROUS RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism may mean not only the suffering of the present, but a complete breakdown from which there may be no recovery.

MURDER TRIALS BEGUN

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—C. W. Campbell, a rancher living near Touchet, was put on trial in Superior Court today, charged with murder in the first degree. He is accused of having administered to a man named Ethel McDonald a dose of poison which caused her death.

AN-URIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry.

"An-uric" manufactured by Dr. Pierce, or even written Dr. Pierce's, is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid, and is a harmless but reliable chemical compound that may be safely given to children, but should be used only by grown-ups who actually wish to restore their kidneys to perfect health, by conscientiously using one box—or more in extreme cases—as "An-uric" (thanks to Doctor Pierce's achievement) is by far the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector obtainable.

COURT FINDS BIAS

Judge McGinn Declared to Have Prejudged Case.

REVERSAL SECOND IN SUIT

Supreme Court Thinks Trial Judge in Woman's Action for Damages Should Not Have Presided at Rehearing—Error is Found.

47 TAKE PHARMACY TESTS

Examination of Applicants by State Board is Completed.

PORTLAND EXHIBIT SOUGHT

Union County Farmers May Enter Salem Prize-winners.

CITY ANSWERS IN COMPANY'S SUIT

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—City Attorney Schuebel today filed an answer in the suit of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company against the city to clear title to a triangular strip of land at the southern end of Main street, near the basin.

SWAMP-ROOT SAVES KIDNEY SUFFERERS

You naturally feel secure when you know that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit-producing drugs.

SHAKE OFF THE CLUTCH OF DANGEROUS RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism may mean not only the suffering of the present, but a complete breakdown from which there may be no recovery.

MURDER TRIALS BEGUN

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—C. W. Campbell, a rancher living near Touchet, was put on trial in Superior Court today, charged with murder in the first degree. He is accused of having administered to a man named Ethel McDonald a dose of poison which caused her death.

AN-URIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry.

CITY ANSWERS IN COMPANY'S SUIT

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—City Attorney Schuebel today filed an answer in the suit of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company against the city to clear title to a triangular strip of land at the southern end of Main street, near the basin.

SWAMP-ROOT SAVES KIDNEY SUFFERERS

You naturally feel secure when you know that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit-producing drugs.

SHAKE OFF THE CLUTCH OF DANGEROUS RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism may mean not only the suffering of the present, but a complete breakdown from which there may be no recovery.

MURDER TRIALS BEGUN

WALLA WALLA