

TENINO THRIVES AS QUARRYING DISTRICT

Large Output of Building Stone Is Big Factor in Prosperity of Town.

BUSINESS MEN ARE LIVE

Depression Caused by Bank Failures, Passes Away and People Regain Confidence—Commercial Club Is Active.

BY ADDISON BENNETT. TENINO, Wash., Oct. 13.—(Special Correspondent.)—When one speaks of Tenino the first thought is of building stone, for the stone quarries hereabouts turn out as fine stone as do any other quarries in the country, and in very large quantities. Just now one of the plants, the Hercules Sandstone Company, is filling a contract with the Government for stone for the Grays Harbor Jetty, the amount contracted for being 270,000 tons. At least that is the tonnage given me, but I did not get it officially.

The Hercules concern has three quarries, from which they get blue and gray building stone, sandstone and blue granite. Many notable buildings in the Northwest have been constructed of Tenino stone. Notably the capitol at Olympia, and, I think, the Post-office in Portland. Also the stone for the Seattle Public Auditorium.

The other company is the Tenino Stone Company, which turns out blue and buff building stone. These quarries employ a good many men during the entire year and their pay rolls assist very materially in making Tenino the prosperous little city it undoubtedly is.

The first thing I usually look for in a town is the Commercial Club. If I find such an organization, and discover that it is in a moribund condition I always feel sorry for that place, but if I find a good and active commercial organization, I feel sure that there is a mighty good reason for the town being on the map. Here I found a live organization with a capable secretary, one who took great pains to give me facts and figures, a man who has implicit faith in the Tenino of today and the Tenino of the future.

Secretary Owns Weekly Paper. His name is Maurice Macdonald. He is the owner and editor of the Tenino Journal, a fine weekly newspaper published here. He has only been here a few months, but he is making good in every way. The president of the Commercial Club is T. H. McLaughery, one of the solid and reliable business men of the place. The club issues some unpretentious but illuminating literature regarding the town and its surrounding country, which was sent to inquirers upon application to the secretary. There is also another good weekly paper here, the Tenino News, issued by John E. Vanner. Both of these plants have good job facilities, both enjoy a good advertising patronage, and both seem to be making money.

S. M. Peterson is the Mayor of Tenino, and under his administration the town has put down considerable good pavement, there now being nearly two miles of paved streets and several miles of cement walks. There are three good churches, the Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic. Rev. J. W. Miller is the pastor of the former, the two latter pastors are for various reasons, but services are held regularly by non-resident clergymen.

The people are mighty proud of their public school, and have a fine building. Professor C. Lee Martin is the principal. He must be efficient for he is now in his third consecutive year in that capacity.

Confidence Is Regained. Nearly every reader of The Oregonian knows that somewhere about a year or year-and-a-half ago, the entire Southwestern Washington coast was ripped up the back by a series of bank failures, about a dozen of them in all. No section was left unscathed, and the worst blow that gave this great area, Tenino was "in it." Her bank, considered as safe as Gibraltar, closed its doors, and left a mighty small dividend. That left the place without a bank. The day before Christmas, 1914, E. G. Friedrichsen came here and organized the Citizens Bank in substitution with a capital of $10,000. S. M. Peterson taking the presidency. It was pretty tough sledding for a time, as the people were wary of banks. But the institution has gone slowly ahead, confidence is returning, and it now has deposits of about $100,000. Which is mighty good for a bank about nine months old.

Tenino has a population of somewhere about 1500 people. The place is slowly growing, several dwellings having gone up here during the past summer. There is a fine water supply, and the place is well lighted. The water plant is owned by the Washington-Oregon Corporation, and the latter by the Northwest Electric and Water Works. The local manager of both plants is F. L. Stokes. Both are good systems, give good service, and the prices are considered reasonable.

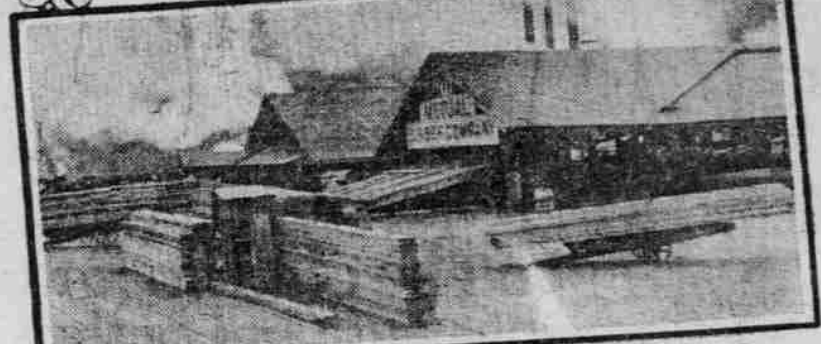

Among the many business houses I note the following: Campbell & Campbell, general merchandise; G. B. Peterson, hardware and furniture; L. A. McLain, grocer; Howard & Ingalls, general merchants; N. W. Everts, general merchant; J. H. Harris, general merchandise; "Goodline," dry goods, millinery and novelties; H. S. Barclay, dry goods and men's furnishings; Gristen branch market; B. & M., auto agency; garage; J. L. Johnson, garage; T. B. Fischer, garage; Monarch drugstore; J. W. Cross, confectioner, newspapers and periodicals, agent for The Oregonian, and wholesale manufacturer of ice cream; John Wick, bakery; E. W. Pluge, jeweler; Green, restaurant; E. J. Chapman, proprietor; two physicians, Mrs. W. A. Millington and F. W. Wichman, and one dentist, F. A. Dean; cigar factory. Charles Anderson, plumber; tailor; tailoring establishment, John Levee proprietor; Palace Cafe, G. W. Turner proprietor; laundry; H. B. Rose proprietor; three saloons.

Buildings Rented in Advance. As the saloons will go out of business on the last day of December I did not take the names of the proprietors. But I can say this: the three rooms now occupied by the saloons have all been rented to be occupied as soon as the saloons "expire."

Big Man Tries to Sell Dainty Powder Puff Case.

Prisoner Tells Police Judge Article Was Given to Him, and Gets Another Present of a Continued 30-Day Sentence.

CHARLES A. ROSS presented the unusual picture of a big, and not overly clean man, carrying a dainty little powder puff case when he was arrested by Officers Ferry and Nelson Tuesday night. Ross, when he was captured, was attempting to dispose of the case, which was fitted with a mirror and was altogether a beautiful little article.

When brought before Judge Stevenson yesterday he attempted to account for his possession of the case. "I suppose," he said, "well, you see, this was given to me and, me being hard up I was trying to sell it for a little money."

"Is that the way you do with your presents?" asked the judge. "I suppose now when people give you Christmas presents you go out and dispose of them for what they will bring. I wonder what you would do now if I would present you with a sentence of 30 days?"

The prisoner's face fell at the mention of such a gift, and he began to refute the suggestions that he would dispose of presents in such a wholesale manner as the judge intimated. "I won't give you 30 days this time," he broke in the judge. "Instead I will continue your sentence and give you your freedom. Be sure, though, that you don't give it away by getting into trouble again."

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Interest in the October term of court is greatest concerning the case of Mrs. Sophia Ludke, who is being tried for murder in the first degree, having been an accessory before the fact in the murder of her husband, Otto Ludke, who was killed by Edward Gail November 29, 1914. Gail was sentenced to life imprisonment and had been a witness in the present case, but he has refused to testify against Mrs. Ludke, so was not brought back from the State Penitentiary.

In selecting a jury today, the attorneys exhausted the regular panel and picked up several spectators in the room and these qualified as jurors. They are: Chester Rasmussen, C. S. Davis, L. C. Nelson, J. S. Pettit, Able Johnson, A. F. Mills, Lloyd Duflois, William Ballin, A. G. Evans, George W. Lampka, A. M. Johnson and James J. Wagener, Jr.

The state examined but one witness today, Gus Ecklund, by whom it was intended to show that Otto Ludke came to his death by a bullet fired through a window. Mrs. Ludke, who has four or eight children with her in the courtroom. J. O. Blair, County Attorney, is conducting the case for the state, and J. L. Sutherland for Mrs. Ludke.

Gail, in his complicated Mrs. Ludke in the crime, and said she knew he was going to kill her husband, and kept him informed where Mr. Ludke would be and suggested he get him at various places. Ex-Sheriff Ira Cresap, who worked up the case and arrested Gail, is one of the important witnesses for the state. Great interest is being shown in the case, which may last several days.

HOW TO GET RID OF CATARRH

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Bismuth (double strength), take this home, add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 1 oz. of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful 4 times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should be open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to make, tastes pleasant and costs little. Everyone who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need.
