CHARMING GIRL WHO SANG AT WEDDING ON FRIDAY.

Miss Elise Cramer

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Pratt and attractive daughter and guest are still in the social limelight. Last night they were honored at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ladd Corbett, additional guests being only members of the family.

It is the afternoon Mrs. Allen Lewis entertained the visitors with a motor trip to the Highway, lunching at Crown Point. Other guests were Mrs. Corbett, Miss Failing and Mrs. George Goode. Sunday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lewis complimented the visitors with a dinner party. It was a charming affair, exquisitely appointed. An arrangement of Mexican orange blossoms, combined with brilliant-hued dahlias, decked the table, and covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Wheelwright, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Farrell, Mrs. Corbett, Mrs. W. D. Washburn, Miss Failing, W. B. Ayer, C. E. S. Wood and the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will leave this evening for their home, going via California, where they will make an extensive visit, attending both fairs and motorizing through Southern California. Miss Pratt also entertained a party of young folk at Crown Point yesterday for luncheon, following an interesting motor trip over the Columbia Highway. Miss Helen Ladd will accompany her cousin and aunt to San Francisco for a few days.

Miss Nelle Bayly will be the honor guest today at a large luncheon at Hotel Portland, to be presided over by Miss Hazel Russell. Additional guests will be Mrs. Bruce Stewart, Miss Marguerite Thomas, Miss Florence Steine, Miss Kathleen Seely, Miss Marjorie Cameron, Miss Marguerite Hale, Miss Ruth Plummer, Miss Angie Owen and Miss Irma Autzen.

A number of other affairs are being planned for the popular bride-elect, among them a luncheon tomorrow at the University Club with Mrs. Carl Latourette as hostess. On Saturday Mrs. Ralph Robinson will give an Orpheum party, followed by tea at Hotel Portland.

One of the prettiest social functions yesterday was the large card party for which Mrs. Raymond E. Watkins was hostess at Laurelhurst Club. Nine tables were arranged for the guests, and the rooms were decked with brilliant-hued autumnal foliage and dahlias. The hostess was assisted in receiving by Mrs. William B. Hare and Mrs. H. L. Chandler. At the tea a number of additional guests called.

Mrs. George W. McMath entertained yesterday at a children's party, presiding herself at Mount Taber in honor of the ninth birthday of her son, Robert Borthwick McMath.

St. Dominic's Court, No. 955, Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, will entertain their members and friends at a card social, to be held at the Dominican School hall, First and Welder streets, Wednesday, October 20. All are cordially invited to attend.

At the ball given by the naval officers of the Engineering Corps on board the Boston, Friday night, a graceful and artistic exhibition of fancy and ballroom dancing was given by Miss Aza Genevieve Page and A. J. Juna. The contest was won by the prettiest numbers, was seen in Portland for the first time. For an encore the couple danced the latest waltz.

Friday's affair was the first dancing party on board the Boston and it was well attended and thoroughly enjoyable.

Mrs. William Reid of Green Gables, entertained last week with a delightful birthday party, as a surprise for her husband, in celebration of his birthday. The evening was passed with card, dancing, full games, followed by a delicious collation. Card honors fell to Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Peters, Mrs. J. J. Kaddery and George Taitt.

Miss Elise Cramer is a popular belle of the Irvington set and is possessed of a pleasing voice and a winning personality at social affairs, not only for her delightful accomplishment, but because she is a charming girl. She recently sang at the Himmelright-Ramsdell wedding.

The G. N. C. B. Girls have prepared an attractive program for their evening in Japplyland Thursday at Cothill Hall. The hall will resemble a dainty garden and the girls will be dressed in the decorative scheme will be played.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Virden (Florence Shambrook) will leave today for a visit with relatives in Illinois. They will visit the Chicago and Pacific roads, making stops at Winnipeg, Minneapolis and Chicago, and return through the south, stopping at the fairs.

The Boulevard Dancing Club will hold their weekly party at Vincent's Hall, Forty-third and Broadway, tonight, this evening. Instruction 8:30 to 9:30, dancing till 11:30.

The Junior members of the Rose City Park Club will give a hard times party at the clubhouse on Friday evening. Cider and doughnuts will be served. The committee on arrangements are Mrs. Blasing, Donald Frenouguy, Olin Lewis, Alma Scharp and Laura Shay. The patroness and patronesses are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Slater, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Otto and Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Grenfell. The next party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritsch, also in Irvington.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin A. Freeman have returned from a three months' sojourn in California.

Invitations will be sent shortly for the Halloween revue dance to be held in the main ballroom of the Multnomah Hotel on the evening of October 30. A local preparatory school committee is in charge of the affair, which promises to be a success in interscholastic circles.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

MULTNOMAH CHAPTER, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. H. H. Parker, 314 East Fifty-first street, two blocks south of Hawthorne avenue. The board will assemble at 1:30 o'clock and the chapter at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Isaac Lee Patterson will give a report of the National conference held recently in San Francisco.

The Daughters of the Confederacy will meet on Thursday at the home of Mrs. P. L. Thompson. The chapter had the distinction of entertaining Miss Mildred Rutherford, historian-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, a Colonial Dame, member of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Young Women's Christian Association, who was their guest on Saturday at a luncheon and gave an inspiring lecture on Saturday night.

The Aloha Psychology Club will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock in the theosophical room, 728 Morgan building. The subject will be "The Power of an Evil Thought," discussed by Professor J. C. Diamond.

The MacDowell Club will hold an extra meeting today in the Hotel Portland. The compositions to be presented at the Symphony Orchestra's concert on Friday will be discussed and studied. Musicians will be present to explain the orchestration of various compositions.

A recent edition of the General Federation of Women's Clubs Magazine, H. Castner, state chairman of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, and candidate for the presidency of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. George Zimmerman, of Ohio, National chairman, was much impressed with the manner in which the clubwomen of Oregon, under Mrs. Castner's chairmanship, were handling civic work. Many of her plans are being adopted in other states.

Mrs. J. W. Tiff is being strongly urged by many of the clubwomen of the state to accept the nomination for second vice-president. She has been active in all departments of work, but especially in arranging the federation luncheons. She would be an acceptable representative of the federation from Portland, as she is gracious, tactful and capable.

Mrs. Sylvia McGuire Thompson, president of the Sorosis Club, of the Dalles, is being asked to run for the recording secretaryship. She is an able young woman and well informed in club work.

The Junior exhibition at Holman School will be held on Friday, October 23, from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock and from 8:30 to 9:30 o'clock. During the latter period a reception will be given to welcome the new principal, L. D. Roberts, and his wife.

Holladay Parent-Teacher Association has arranged for the exhibit at Holladay on Friday. An interesting collection of exhibits made.

Shattuck Parent-Teacher Association will hold a dahlia show and junior exhibit today. The officers will be elected and a program will be given. The dahlia show for the day will be donated by M. A. Miller.

Many local Daughters of the Confederacy are interested in the annual assembly of the United Daughters, which will open in San Francisco today. The meetings will continue until next Monday.

OUR SUIT WORRIES FOR THIS WINTER ARE ENDED

"We Bought Them on Credit"

"How do you like them, Alma? That high collar is awfully becoming to Rhoda, don't you think so? And I can't stop admiring this lovely fur on mine, and the cute little skunking. Oh, you both look perfectly darling. Kitty, and I'm dreadfully envious! If you only knew how I long for a set of those bewitching Fox Furs everyone is wearing!"

"Why, Alma, didn't you hear us say we bought our Suits on CREDIT? At CHERRY'S, you know—that big, reliable place at 738-391 Washington street, where so many of the girls go. The Fox Furs they're showing up there are beautiful—priced no more than at other high-grade stores, but still for sale ON INSTALLMENTS. And did you know that they have exclusive agents for the Arrow Brand clothes for men? Sure, they sell them on the installment plan also. Now, don't forget the number, 388-391 Washington street, Pittcock block."

saw the tarts and doughnuts and he smacked his mouth and smiled almost out loud.

"Doughnuts and tarts?" he said. "could anything be nicer? Well, as Mrs. Rabbit is not at home I shall have to help myself, for, of course, she would wish me to do so if she were here. Now, how will I get in this window, I wonder? I shall scrape my sides and take off all my beautiful fur if I try to do that. I guess I can fish them out with that pair of tongs I saw standing by the door."

So Mr. Bear went back and got the tongs. Rabbit let him out to dry after she had scrubbed them in the morning and pretty soon Mr. Bear had eaten every tart and every doughnut Mrs. Rabbit had cooked that morning. After waiting a long time and being sure that Mr. Bear had gone, Mrs. Rabbit came out from her hiding place and came downstairs. She looked all about and saw that the door was still fastened and the windows still closed.

"When Mr. Bear went back and got the tongs, Rabbit let him out to dry after she had scrubbed them in the morning and pretty soon Mr. Bear had eaten every tart and every doughnut Mrs. Rabbit had cooked that morning."

After waiting a long time and being sure that Mr. Bear had gone, Mrs. Rabbit came out from her hiding place and came downstairs. She looked all about and saw that the door was still fastened and the windows still closed.

When Mr. Rabbit opened the pantry door she held up her hands and screamed, for only the crumbs on the empty dishes on the shelves showed there had been tarts or doughnuts on them.

"When her husband, Peter Rabbit, came home for dinner, Mrs. Rabbit was crying. 'Oh, Peter, Peter, Mr. Bear came here and stole all my tarts and doughnuts I had for your dinner.'"

"Well, let us be thankful he did not get you, my dear," said Peter Rabbit, trying to comfort her. "Your doughnuts and tarts, my dear, are the best in the world, and I am only afraid Mr. Bear will be back for some more, and now we must think of a way to get rid of him for good and all."

"I have an idea," said Mr. Rabbit, suddenly, with a burst of laughter and slapping his hand on his hip. "I have the very idea that will rid us of this Bear family."

"What is it, Peter, what is it?" asked his wife. "Make some doughnuts and fill them with cotton, and some tarts and fill them with stones. Cover the stones well with sugar and Mr. Bear will swallow them at one mouthful. The cotton will choke him and the stones will keep the cotton from coming up so he will have to choke."

The next morning Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit saw Mr. Bear coming over the hill with his basket on his head and they hid in the attic and waited.

Along came Mr. Bear. He was about to knock at the door. He always did that first to make sure that no one tried to be polite, anyway, but he didn't knock, for on the door he saw a paper pinned to it. It was what he read: "Gone to market; will be back at noon."

Mr. Bear looked at the paper in the window with fear in his eyes for he knew if he went home he would find tarts he would suffer. But the look soon

THE SANDMAN STORY

By Mrs. F. A. WALKER

Mrs. Rabbit's Tarts and Doughnuts. MRS. RABBIT was a very fine cook, and her doughnuts were famed the woods around and so were her strawberry tarts.

One day she had baked a dozen tarts and fried a panful of doughnuts and put them in the pantry on the shelf to cool.

"Now I must go upstairs and make the beds," she said. Upstairs went Mrs. Rabbit two steps at a time just to show herself how spry she really was and she shook the sheets and made the beds in less time than it takes to tell you all about it.

But just as she was dusting the bureau she saw something that made her jump back from the window and run downstairs as fast as she came up.

It was Mr. Bear, and he was looking heart beat so loudly she thought it would be heard downstairs, for she had seen Mr. Bear coming down the road, and she knew him to be not only a thief and robber, but he sometimes carried off rabbits and other animals to live in the forest on the other side of the mountain.

Mr. Bear knocked three times on the door and then he kicked it, but it did not open, and about that time he espied the open closet window and left the door to look in.

Mr. how his eyes popped when he

COFFEE DWARFS CHILDREN PHYSICALLY--MENTALLY

Prominent School Workers Assert Coffee Drinking School Children Are Underweight and Backward in Studies.

The State Board of Health of Texas has been making inquiries into the effects of coffee upon school children. "Children who drink coffee for breakfast," says one report, "come to school exhilarated, they work strenuously in the morning, and are overflowing with energy and vitality. BUT THEY DO NOT LAST under the school routine; they become fatigued more quickly than the other pupils, and by the close of school in the afternoon they are exhausted to the point of stupidity. They are nervous and therefore unstable in their deportment."

It has also been found by other investigators that "children who drank coffee averaged from one and one-half to more than four pounds less in weight, and from one-half inch to more than one inch less in height than the children who abstained from coffee. They were also found to have an average of three pounds less in hand strength than the children who never drank coffee."

NOTE—Many parents have found it to their children's advantage to give them instant Postum as the hot morning beverage instead of coffee. This delicious food-drink resembles coffee in looks and flavor, but is entirely free from the disturbing coffee drug caffeine, or any other harmful ingredient.

The Wonder Millinery

The New Store—at Alder and Sixth Streets

turned to joy for the window was open and a dish of bigger doughnuts and tarts he never saw.

Without stopping to look about, Mr. Bear reached in the window, for Mrs. Rabbit had been careful to place them within reaching distance and soon Mr. Bear's basket was full and off he ran.

Of course Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit could outrun Mr. Bear, and as soon as he was well on his way they ran after him, being careful to keep from being seen.

When Mr. Bear reached home Mrs. Bear was waiting for him in the doorway and she grabbed the basket and ate a doughnut, then a tart, and then she choked and choked.

Mr. Bear, seeing she was busy, grabbed a doughnut and tart, and he began to choke and while they were in this state Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit ran away home.

"They won't bother us any more even if they do get over that choking spell," said Mr. Rabbit; "but I'll bet a tart to a doughnut they will not get over it."

Shasta Limited Halts to Save Dog.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 18.—(Special.)—The northbound Shasta Limited train was brought almost to a dead standstill this morning in order to save the life of a dog. The dog was on the trellis near Fourteenth street and would have been killed had not the train slowed down and then almost stopped. The animal jumped from the trellis and walked away. A gang of laborers saw the incident.
