

SOCIETY NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

Ice skating parties are the order of the day, now that the rainy season has made the weather unreliable for any other outdoor sport, and the skating rivals anything else of a similar nature that has been discovered in this section of the country. Wednesday night there were numerous parties skating until the closing of the Hippodrome and repairing either to a downtown grill or the homes of the hosts for supper.

Among those who entertained were Mr. and Mrs. M. Lloyd Frank, Harold Boyamith and the D. T. Honeyman. Already preparations are being made for the first hockey game of the season, which is scheduled for December 19. Society is taking an active interest in this sport, and many prominent business men and social leaders have reserved boxes for the entire hockey season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Parker and daughters, Janice and Helen, will leave November 6 for a winter trip to San Francisco, attending the fair and visiting other California cities.

Mrs. Benjamin P. Neustadter entertained Wednesday afternoon with a charming informal bridge tea, honoring Miss Clara Strain of New York, who is passing the winter in Portland. The honors fell to Mrs. Sigmund Frank and Mrs. Edward Ehrman.

Miss Beattie Bond is in San Francisco visiting the exposition. Later she expects to go to Southern California.

The "Halloween Revue" to be held by a group of prominent preparatory school students at the Multnomah Hotel Saturday evening, October 30, promises to be one of the largest affairs of the season. The committee includes Stanford Anderson, Thelma Richardson, Stephanie Strain, Lowell Paget, Gladys Anderson, Mary Dunbar, John Platt, Baeche Crofton, Edith Wright, Christine Parrott, Burdett Emery, Marion Grebel, Lowell Kern, Margaret Mansfield and Clara Sharp. Special dance music will be furnished, and the season's decorations will lend spirit to the affair, which will be held in the main ballroom.

Mrs. F. A. Lincoln and Mrs. E. R. Root are the hostesses at the Irvington Club card party this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Hackley Smith (Jeanette Thomas) are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Thomas, until Monday, when they will proceed to their new home in the San Joaquin Valley. The Smiths arrived Wednesday night, and their new home in Muskegon, Mich., and New York since their wedding last winter, which was a notable event in this city.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—Although the local manager of the Washington-Oregon Corporation, and Hazel Mae Bantz, also of this city, were married in Portland September 17, the friends who are celebrating, none of their friends knew of the marriage until today. While this wedding was expected locally, and a number of social functions had been given in honor of the prospective bride, the event itself was not scheduled for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Frank will make their home in Chehalis.

Honoring Mrs. Frederick Emery, of Pittsburg, who is the house guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Pittcock, Mrs. Benjamin P. Stevens presided at a charming luncheon yesterday. Additional guests were Mr. Pittcock, Mrs. Lockwood Hebard, Mrs. J. Edward Gantwein and Miss Almina Page.

The King's Daughters' class of the White Temple will give a skating party at the Oakbank this evening. All friends invited.

Mrs. Vincent Cook will leave today for Eugene to attend the Portland organization of the Associate Collegiate Alumnae, to whom she will give a talk. Mrs. Cook also will be honor guest for a luncheon to be given tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Thompson were hosts for a pretty informal dinner Wednesday evening, complimenting Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Bruere, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Templeton and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lawrence.

Mrs. William O. Van Schuyver will entertain this afternoon informally with a bridge tea.

Mrs. Maurice E. Crumpacker also will be a hostess this afternoon, giving a tea to which about 45 of the city's matrons and maids have been asked.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Haworth, of the Hotel Mallory, left yesterday for a fortnight's visit at San Francisco to attend the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Burke, of the Mallory, are passing a few weeks at Cannon Beach.

Recent arrivals at Mallory Hotel are Baron Mackay, from The Hague, Holland, accompanied by his wife, who have taken apartments for several days.

Edwin C. Merrill and Miss M. A. Merrill are domiciled in apartments for the winter at the Mallory.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jaggy left tonight on the steamer Northern Pacific from Flavel for San Francisco. They will visit the Exposition and other points of interest in California.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

By EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

The first branch of the Lavender Club will meet today in the East Side Library at 2 o'clock. W. S. U'ren will speak on "Single Tax." All the members of the club are more than 50 years of age. Their meetings are of a delightful nature, concluding with a social half hour.

Another meeting today will be that of the Woodstock Study Club, which will be held in the Woodstock Library at 1:30 o'clock.

The Portland Woman's Club will hold a business meeting at 2 o'clock. The Abigail Scott Duniway memorial service will precede the order of business.

The dramatic department of the Portland Shakespeare Study Club will meet tonight at 7:45 o'clock in St. David's parish house, when "Much Ado About Nothing" will be rehearsed. The department will give the play on November 2 for the benefit of the church.

ONE MEMBER OF THE POPULAR COMMITTEE OF HALLOWEEN REVUE DANCE TO BE GIVEN SATURDAY.

Bauer on conditions at Nome, Alaska, where for two years Mr. Bauer was pastor of the Federated Church. Mrs. Bauer told of their own work at Nome and also of missionary work among the Eskimos, and showed a number of rare and beautiful curios and pictures illustrative of Eskimo life.

Mrs. C. N. Rankin, who has served for three years as treasurer of the state federation and who for five years was treasurer of the Portland Woman's Club, has been asked to run again for a state office, but she has declined.

Mrs. Sylvia W. Thompson, of The Dalles, president of the Sorosis Club, has been named as the favorite candidate for the presidency of the Portland Woman's Club next spring.

Mrs. J. A. Pettit, who is now serving as recording secretary, took the work temporarily, filling out the term of Mrs. Davidson, of Hood River, who resigned. Mrs. Pettit said, it is said by many friends, that her favorite candidate for the presidency of the Portland Woman's Club next spring.

The Rose City Park Parent-Teacher Association held its regular meeting October 19, at which time the organization for the year was completed and plans perfected for the year's work in a manner that convinced the large and enthusiastic crowd present of another successful year ahead of this organization. The officers are: President, Mrs. R. Gehr; vice-president, Mrs. E. Cady; secretary, Miss E. Carothers; treasurer, Miss Rowena Arthur. Committees on the following were appointed: Pure literature, community house, "back to home" programme committee.

The association has been successful in arranging to have cooking taught in the school this year to girls of the higher grades, and this department will be added in two weeks. A strong effort also is being made by the association to have a branch library for Rose City Park, which will fill a long-felt want in the community. This effort has such substantial backing that its success is almost assured. Mr. Benson has housed the library, at least for a time.

No small part of the enjoyment of the meeting was afforded by the programme committee in the delightful rendition of songs and recitations by the little people under their skillful direction. Before the meeting adjourned plans were completed for a most interesting junior exhibit, which will be held the afternoon and evening of October 25. The school will render a programme at this time.

GOOD THINGS IN THE MARKET

The very latest arrival in the fruit market appears to be persimmons, at 10 cents each. Pomegranates are showing up at two for 15 cents, and with black and green figs at 20 cents a dozen, are of great interest to strangers. Apples are coming into their own very rapidly. A splendid consignment of Jonathan, Ortley, Belleflower, Northern Spy and Spitzenberg is quoted at $1.75 to $2.25 a box. Winter bananas, $2.25 and $2.50 a box. Choice Belleflowers are 25 cents and Jonathans 20 cents a dozen. Bose pears, of the most select species, are 25, 40 and 50 cents a dozen. Comice, 35, and Bartlett, 25 cents a dozen. Winter Nells, three pounds for a quartet. Cornish grapes that have been looked for several weeks have come at

WOMEN WHO LEAD THE WAY

By MARIE DILLE.
The Bright Tin Pail.
ONCE upon a time there lived an old man and his wife. They had worked hard for a rich man when they had been younger, but now that they were old the rich man did not want them any longer, and, giving them a cow that did not give much milk and a small sum of money he told them to shift for themselves and not to bother him asking for work any more.
So the man and his old wife went to their little house with the cow and lived on the little money the rich man had given them, but there came a day when their money was nearly gone.
"Take the money and go to town," said the old wife, "and buy with it our last meal; the poor cow will no longer give milk and we cannot feed her. We will turn her loose, that she may find a better home where she can be fed." So the old man started for market, but on the way he met a tin peddler who urged him to spend his money for some of his wares.

The old man said he could not spend his money for anything but a good near for the festive occasions.

"Then," said the peddler, "you need a bright tin pail to put your food in. What will you put milk in? You cannot carry it in your hand."

The old man had not thought of that, and he had not intended to buy any milk, but somehow he found the peddler in hand, his money gone and the peddler gone too.

"Now, what shall I do?" said the man. "I have a bright tin pail, but I have nothing to put in it, and what will my poor wife say and what will we do for our last meal?"

"What a beautiful bright tin pail!" said the old wife when the old man reached home. "But where is our last meal? Surely, you did not forget that!"

"Then," said the old man, "I had not intended to buy the pail, but that he had found it in his hand and his money gone before he knew what had happened."

"Well, it is nice and bright," said his wife. "Let me have it and I will get some berries and we will have our last meal of this year."

When the old wife began to pick the berries, to her surprise the tin pail filled with berries at once, so that she had enough for herself and her old husband and some to sell besides. With the money she got she bought bread and butter and instead of eating their last meal the old man and his wife ate the first good meal they had had in many a day. The next morning she saw the cow in the yard. She had returned in the night.

"Perhaps the poor creature had a good meal somewhere and has returned to be milked," said the old wife; "go out, good man, and milk her."

So the old man took the tin pail and began to milk the cow, and his wife had started than the pail was full of rich milk.

BLACK TRIAL DUE TODAY

Man Is Accused of Luring Girls Through Personal Advertisement.

George H. Black, who is charged by Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin of luring girls to his establishment on East Twenty-eighth and Ash streets by means of personal advertisements in newspapers, will be tried in Municipal Court today, the case being set for trial by Judge Stevenson yesterday.

Mr. Black, who conducts a blueing and ammonia factory, is said to have made advances toward her which she resented.

ESTATE EXCEEDS $500,000

Widow of Richard Everding Made Sole Beneficiary.

An estate variously estimated at from $500,000 to $700,000, all in personal property, consisting of stocks, money, notes and accounts, was left by Richard Everding, pioneer Portland merchant, who died October 13 at the age of 77.

Under the will, which was executed July 15 last, the widow, Caroline Everding, aged 52, is sole beneficiary. Mr. Everding in his will expressing confidence that she would make suitable provision for their son, Henry Richard Everding, their grandchild, Caroline Louise Everding, and his sister, Sophia Clark.

The will was admitted to probate yesterday, with Henry Richard Everding as executor.

THREE ACCUSED OF CRIME

Arrests Made for Robbery of Sailor in Randolph Hotel.

Enmett Rachford, who is declared by detectives to have assisted in fleeing Frank Bristow, a sailor, of $110 and jewelry valued at probably $50 yesterday night, was arrested yesterday by City Detectives Hellyer and Tackabery. His arrest followed that of Blanche Davis and Cecil Sloan, who were taken to the police station early yesterday morning, charged with complicity in the crime.

Rachford, who is employed at a small restaurant on Morrison street, near Second, is said to have lured the sailor to the Randolph Hotel, on Third street, where Blanche Davis and Cecil Sloan were staying.

REED BROS.

TAILORS

203-204 WILCOX BLDG. Sixth and Washington Sts.

If a Portland man can afford the best there is in clothes, it is not our idea of business to expect him to patronize a Portland tailor if he can find a better in New York or London. If, however, there is a tailor in Portland of the first rank, considerations of convenience, accessibility and personal service before and after the transaction, tip the scale heavily in favor of his home town.

Reed Bros.' clothes at $60 cannot be excelled in any respect anywhere, we know. We have critically examined them all.
