

ORIGINS UNIVERSITY VARIETY ATHLETICS

Pre-Season Camp Abolished, but Training Table Is Retained Despite Protest.

SCOUTING IS PROHIBITED

Participation of Freshmen in Athletics Is Favored—Subordination of Gate Receipts Is Advocated. Session Continues Today.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Oct. 21.—(Special.)—The discontinuance of the pre-season training camp, the abolition of the pre-season period of variety teams and the forbidding of official representatives of the university to scout for athletics were some of the measures the university faculty adopted after three hours' debating over the investigation committee's official report which determined intercollegiate athletics be appointed by the president.

In addition state instructors agreed to the recommendation that representatives from Oregon at the annual conference meeting which determines intercollegiate athletics be appointed by the president.

Gate Receipts Regarded as Minor. The also acquiesced to the committee's athletic policy favoring the subordination of gate receipts as a minor factor in intercollegiate athletics and that the salaries of coaches, trainers and directors should be paid out of the general funds of the institution.

That any freshman or any other student during his first year be permitted to participate in intercollegiate contests was a policy meeting with favor at today's gathering.

Finally, the University of Oregon representatives at the Northwest Conference colleges in December urge upon other collegiate delegates to prohibit scouting and prohibit the adoption of the "one-year" rule.

Term of Scouting Is Revised. The term scouting is herewith defined as the offering of inducements to prospective students with a view of their becoming candidates for positions on any variety teams.

The variety training table for football men was retained after a recommendation to remove such from the expense of the associated students. This was the sole rejection made to the committee's report.

Although it was expected that this evening the decision would settle the matter and all the subject of intercollegiate athletics, it was found necessary to adjourn until tomorrow when, it is clear, little difficulty will be had in clearing up the remainder of the report.

The detailed report of the committee's investigation follows:

Recommendations Are Many. The faculty committee on intercollegiate athletics make to the faculty the following recommendations for immediate legislation:

That the pre-season training camp for the variety football be ordered discontinued.

That the pre-season training camp for the variety football be ordered discontinued.

That the practice period for variety teams be limited to from 4 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock.

That intercollegiate football contests shall be limited to seven in any season of which not more than three shall be conference games.

That intercollegiate basketball schedules of intercollegiate basketball is restricted to the Cascade Mountains, provided the intercollegiate basketball schedule to determine a conference championship with the champion of the easterly division.

That official representatives of the university be forbidden to scout for athletics.

That the University of Oregon representatives at conference meetings which determine intercollegiate athletics shall be appointed by the president from the faculty, and that the three faculty members of the athletic council shall constitute a standing committee of the faculty.

That no student shall, without special permission of the faculty, participate in any student activity during the semester next following the semester in which he failed in any subject, or in case of withdrawal from any course before the end of the semester has received in that subject during the period of attendance a grade less than "pass."

The committee recommends that intercollegiate athletics be retained, subject to the foregoing modifications.

Committee Makes Requests. The committee further recommends that the university's ultimate athletic policy should provide for the following:

Gate receipts should be subordinated as a factor in intercollegiate athletics. All coaches, trainers and directors should be permanent employees of genuine educational standing paid out of the general funds of the institutions in which they are attached, in no way dependent upon the commercial success of their respective sports.

No freshman or any other student during his first year of his university should be permitted to take part in intercollegiate contests.

The committee further recommends that the University of Oregon representatives at the Northwest college conference meeting in December urge upon the conference the prohibition of scouting. Scouting is hereby defined as the offering of inducements to prospective students with a view of their becoming candidates for positions on any variety team.

Adoption of the one-year rule as heretofore described.

Faculty Voted Warranted. The committee finally makes the following requests of the faculty:

That it adopt a resolution calling upon the proper person or body in all the institutions of intercollegiate athletics to send only faculty representatives as voting members of the conference.

That it consider whether it is desirable to have the present student body tax compulsory.

That it consider how to make the program for the junior year as much intellectual as social and athletic.

The faculty committee of seven on the status of intercollegiate athletics was appointed by President Campbell as the result of a motion passed at the faculty meeting of October 6. The motion was a substitute for a motion that called for the abolition of intercollegiate athletics altogether. The committee meetings have been numerous, lengthy and marked by the frank discussion. Representatives of the athletic side, of the student body, and of the alumni were present.

The committee agreed in the main that athletics had three proper functions—exercise, recreation, education.

The modifications of the present status of intercollegiate athletics in the University of Oregon, as recommended, are intended to prevent in this institution, or eliminate in it, the following evils commonly charged to college athletics:

That many members of competing teams carry what should normally be exercises to a point of strain and fatigue that produces permanent injury.

Scholastic Work Affected. That concentration of attention upon a few athletes prevents the main body of student men from getting adequate athletic instruction.

That the creation of an exaggerated interest in intercollegiate teams and games detracts the student body from scholastic work.

That the scholarship of varsity athletes themselves suffers because of the excessive time devoted to training, and the consequent over-fatigue.

To the end that this emphasis upon intercollegiate contests be greatly lessened, legislation intended to cut down the amount and intensity of training is contained in the recommendations, as well as legislation

AGGIE CLASSES PLAY THE

FRESHMEN-SOPHOMORES CLASH IN SEEN BY 600 ROOTERS.

Game Marked by Intense Rivalry and Elder Students Win in Mix After Half-Hour Struggle.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CORVALLIS, Oct. 21.—(Special.)—Before a crowd of 600 enthusiastic rooters the annual freshmen-sophomore football game was played last night to a 9-0 tie.

Intense rivalry and enthusiasm, always strong in the two lower classes during the early months of the college year, was at a climax as each lined up en masse on opposite sides of the field and cheered on their gridiron representatives. Following the game the sophomores started to serpentine around the field and were hotly attacked by the freshmen, who endeavored to break up the parade. The annual class mix was on with a vengeance, and for a half hour the battle waged as fiercely as had the football game. At the end of that time the sophomores were victorious.

During the football game the tide of battle flowed from one end of the field to the other, each team being halted by stubborn defense when threatening to score. Barnes, the primitive captain of the freshmen team, engineered a forward pass, which was good for 20 yards, and made several long runs. De Loeb, Smith and Bixby were the headlines for the sophomores. The juniors will clash with the seniors tomorrow.

STANFORD AGAINST YEAR RULE

New President Declares in Favor of Freshmen in Athletics.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 21.—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, the new president of Stanford University, went on record today as being opposed to the kind of college sport "in which everybody but the team chews gum."

"Freshmen should be allowed to compete on Stanford teams," he said. "He has as much right to play as a sophomore or junior. In the interest of real sportsmanship I see no reason for a rule limiting the athletic activity of freshmen. I am interested in competition for all and not in one big event in which everybody but the team chews gum."

"Any man registered at the university, who does his work," the president declared, "should be allowed to play."

The recent athletic split between Stanford and the University of California was the result of Stanford's refusal to bar freshmen from intercollegiate competitions.

SQUAD IS ON WAY NORTH

Eleven That Will Play Whitman Tomorrow Now Realizes That It Does Not Know Everything in Football, Says Oregon Coach.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. "Best thing that ever happened," is the philosophic way in which Hugo Bezdek, coach of the Oregon football team, refers to the 23-3 walloping his team received at the hands of Washington State College a couple of weeks ago.

Coach Bezdek and 16 athletes were in Portland yesterday on route to Walla Walla where they will endeavor to take out some of their revenge on Whitman College tomorrow.

"Yes, sir," continued Bezdek, "before that I had difficulty trying to make my men believe they didn't know all there was about football. Now they are willing to learn, and, as profiting by my observations in that game, I think I will be able to place a real team against the Oregon Aggies in the state championship battle at Eugene on November 20."

Licking Considered Big Aid. "Too bad you didn't meet Idaho or Willamette before running into the Washington Staters," someone observed.

"Not a bit of it," replied the Oregon mentor. "Even with our original lineup we doubtless would have beaten them. I think I had some idea under the delusion that my combination was O. K. And then, think of it, it had happened after the game. We'd have been licked unmercifully both by Washington State and by the Corvallis bunch."

"No," said Bez. "That licking was the best thing that could have happened. Before we had played five minutes I could see that the combination was not a winner and before the first half was done I was busy conjuring up a new arrangement."

"No," expected to lose," said Bezdek, "but not by any such score. Diets had an entirely new attitude to begin working with, and, with all due respect to his ability, he had a cinch compared to Oregon's. We lost several stars from our team, among them Philbin, 200-pound tackle; Cook, 200-pound guard; Bryant, 185-pound fullback; Powrie, 175-pound end; West, 180-pound end; Parsons, 170-pound halfback, and others."

"If these men had returned to school I think Oregon would have had the best team that has represented the institution in many years."

Others in the party included Cornell, Bigbee, Cossman, Cawley, Hoskins and Trauer Hayward. They will be back for the practice tomorrow morning.

BERKELEY TRAINING AT TABLE

University of California Athletes Grinding to Meet Washington.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Berkeley, Oct. 21.—(Special.)—The California varsity football training table began Wednesday. The table each year is at a different fraternity house. This year the Phi Delta Theta house has been selected by graduate manager Jonny Stroud and Coach Jimmy Schaeffer. The house is a new one and will accommodate all. At least 20 men will be chosen.

With the training table starts the real hard work of the season. The men on the squad realize this and from now until the big game with Washington is over will live in an atmosphere of football. The coaches are planning

ALBANY WILL PLAY PACIFIC

College and University Arranging Game Saturday, October 30.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—The football teams of Albany College and Pacific University will play in this city Saturday, October 30. As the teams of these two schools are among the leaders in non-conference circles, a well-contested game is expected.

A second game between Albany and Willamette University is being arranged. In the first game, played at Salem recently, Willamette won, 7 to 3. The two teams are so well matched that a second game will arouse a great deal of interest.

Coach Bailey is rapidly putting Albany back on the football map. The smallness of the squad has been discounted by the "pep" which Bailey has put into his team.

CLUB TEAM CHALLENGED

ORIGINAL TEAM, OF OAKLAND, ASKS FOR MULTNOMAH GAME.

Contest Dates in California Open to Play Are November 17-19, in Portland Eleven's Reply.

Gill Thomas, manager of the Original football team, of Oakland, Cal., sent a telegram to Dow V. Walker, superintendent of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, asking for a game between the two clubs. The Wings had eleven leaves for San Francisco about November 10 to be in the South in time to play the Olympic Club November 13 or 14.

Superintendent Walker telegraphed back that a game could be staged in Oakland between the Original Club and the Multnomah Club November 17, 18 or 19, but no later, as the Thanksgiving day contest against the University of Oregon is slated for Multnomah field November 25. The guarantee asked for by Manager Pratt to play the Olympia Club has been awarded to the Portland institution and all the athletes are fast getting in condition to see the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Because the affair scheduled for next Saturday against the Tacoma Athletic Club at Tacoma, Wash., has been called off by the Northerners, efforts are being made to obtain a match elsewhere. If no game is played on Multnomah field tomorrow, plans have been made to obtain the Vancouver Barracks eleven the following Saturday.

Captain "Red" Rupert had his athletes out for practice last night in the steel gymnasium. All seemed to like it, however, and remained under the arc light on Multnomah field for more than an hour. By the time the sun was up, the California team of Rupert will have several new players handy for his teammates.

The next practice will be held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The original team will form opposition for a half hour's scrimmage.

M'CREIDIE IS GLOOMY

BEAVER MANAGER SAYS LEAGUE FACES LOSSES NEXT YEAR.

"Two Real Baseball Men Needed to Run Things," Says Portland Leader, Who Is Peeved by Small Crowds.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 21.—(Special.)—That the Pacific Coast League will have a disastrous year financially in 1916 unless cheaper transportation rates are granted by the railroads was the declaration made today by Manager McCredie, of the Portland Beavers.

"The cheap special fair rates that have ruled this year 'ave saved us,'" said the Beaver boss. "But if the railroads go back to normal rates next year every club in the league will lose money."

McCredie came out with a statement flying conditions in the Pacific Coast League. He declared that the only salvation for the league will be the addition of a "couple of real men who know baseball."

"I am surprised at the extremely small crowds which are attending the Coast League games in Los Angeles this season," he said. "Especially at the present time the interest is dead. Even in Portland, a much smaller city than Los Angeles, the people turn out in larger numbers than they do here."

"But then, the public cannot be blamed much. In the league keeps on wavering along at its present gait there will be no league soon."

"What this organization needs is at least two real baseball men to run things."
