MOTHERS ARE BUSY

Session at Corvallis Convention Lively.

CO-EDS SERVE BANQUET

Cadet Officers Are Escorts for Delegates on Inspection of Campus and 21 Buildings of College--Today Ends Session.

CORVALLIS, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Tired after a hard day's work, the delegates of the Mothers' Congress, in convention here this week, gathered at a banquet table at 6 o'clock tonight at the home economics building of the Oregon Agricultural College.

Today was the fullest day the convention has had. With a session at the Presbyterian Church this morning, convocation at the women's gymnasium at the noon hour, lunch served at that building by Corvallis High School girls, a tour of the college campus this afternoon and the banquet tonight, the visitors have had little time to rest.

The banquet tonight was the conclusion of a half day's entertainment of the convention by the students of the college. The meal was prepared and served by the domestic science department of the school and the escorts of the Mothers' Congress this afternoon were senior officers of the college cadet regiment.

Cadet Officers Are Escorts.

Following the banquet Mrs. George W. McMath, the new president, complimented Corvallis and the college for the hospitality shown the delegates. The toast read: "The Mothers' Congress, by President W. J. Kerr; 'Our Rural Circle,' by Mrs. C. W. M. Smith; 'of Roseburg,' 'Noblesse Oblige,' by Dean of Women Mary E. Fawcett; 'Fathers,' by Mrs. Wilson D. McMurray, of Pendleton, and 'Women in Public Service,' by Mrs. Ida R. Callahan, of Corvallis.

At 2 o'clock the ladies of the convention, divided into groups and assigned to college cadet officers who guided them, inspected the college buildings and visited classrooms, laboratories, shops, museums, exhibits of livestock and dormitories. Most of the buildings are from three to four stories and the inspection included 21.

Books Cause Debate.

Before the tour of inspection had progressed to the fourth or fifth building some of the ladies found the task was too great for them and did not go farther.

At the forenoon session today a dispute arose over the kind of reading matter that should be in school libraries. Mrs. E. H. Praxelle, of Multnomah County, reported for the committee on pure literature that magazines containing stories must not be permitted in the school libraries. Several women contested the no-story order, saying they thought such papers as the Youth's Companion and books such as Dickens' works were right and proper for the schoolroom.

The parents' educational bureau reported that 1845 babies have been registered and more than 2000 have been examined. Fifty-one doctors and 22 specialists gave services free.

Women Want Equal Pay.

"Some of the babies examined were well cared for," the report said, "and did not need the help of the bureau." The bureau has its office in the Court-house in Portland.

TIMBER SOLD FOR TAXES

Weyerhaeuser Holdings in Litigation Delinquent $110,000.

MONTESANO, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Probably the largest purchase of certificates of delinquency ever made in the state was completed today at 5 o'clock. The B. Preston, of Ionia, Mich., and R. H. Fleet, of Montesano, are the purchasers of record of practically $110,000 worth of tax certificates against timber land owned by the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company.

Certificates are for 1912 and subsequent taxes on large tracts of the best timber in the county, and may be lawfully foreclosed in June, 1916.

No one suspects that the Weyerhaeusers will let the timber go for taxes, and some people guess even that they are behind the purchase to prevent anyone else making the 15 per cent interest allowed by law in case a possible suit for tax reduction should go against them. Certificates pay 6 per cent even in case a land owner wins a suit for taxes.

HIGHWAY GRUBBING NEAR

Lake Quinalt-Queets River Work Will Start in Few Days.

HOQUIAM, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)

Work of clearing and grubbing the section of the Olympic Highway between Lake Quinalt and the Queets River will be under way in a few days by a crew of about 20 men, according to M. D. Mills, of the State Highway Engineers' office. A crew is at work at the lake building equipment.

It is expected the funds available from the appropriation made by the last legislature will clear and grub the right of way of the road 40 feet wide for a distance of 25 miles, carrying the road past the junction of the Clearwater and Queets Rivers and several miles up the valley of the former stream. The work will be done by the state by force account, rather than by contract.

Dayton Business Men Plan Activity.

DAYTON, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—A series of luncheons for promoting interest in the local Commercial Club was inaugurated at the club rooms Wednesday, with about 100 in attendance. Among those speaking for the club were J. L. Wallace, Attorney General, Attorney Fouts, Rev. H. E. Mason and Professor C. A. Livingsood. The club hopes to include many of the smaller clubs about town in the near future and serve the people under one head. A great deal of interest is being aroused in the matter.

Yakima Rancher Millionaire.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—J. T. Harrah, owner of a big reservation ranch near the town of Harrah, recently named for him, and owner of the Commercial Hotel property here, is one of the "Harrah group" of stockholders in the Midvale steel plant, recently sold to a syndicate. Mr. Harrah's share of the proceeds of the sale will amount to several million dollars. He says he has no intention of leaving his reservation home, to which he is greatly attached.

JUDGE CROW IS DEAD

Flags Fly at Half Mast and All Olympia Mourns.

FUNERAL WILL BE SUNDAY

In His Death the Supreme Court Has Lost Services of Able Jurist and State One of Its Best Citizens, Declares Governor.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—With flags at half mast and all business suspended in the Temple of Justice, the capital today mourned the death of Judge Herman D. Crow, of the Supreme Court, former Chief Justice, which occurred at 2:30 o'clock this morning, after two years' suffering from intestinal cancer. Governor Lester summed up comments on the jurist when he said:

"In the death of Justice Crow our Supreme Court has lost the services of an able jurist, the state one of its best citizens," adding, "a close friendship covering many years causes me to feel in his death a deep personal loss."

Funeral services will be held here Sunday afternoon.

Active pallbearers include Chief Justice George E. Morris and Judge O. G. Ellis, of the Supreme Court; J. C. Shuman, Judge Crow's secretary as Chief Justice; P. M. Troy and C. J. Lord, of Olympia.

Justice Herman D. Crow, of Washington Supreme Court, Who Is Dead.

Appointment Is Delayed.

Until after the funeral, Governor Lester said, he would give no consideration to the appointment of a successor, adding that an appointment would be made probably early next week so that the new justice may sit during the October term just started.

The Supreme Court adjourned without holding a session to next week, putting over the M. and K. Gottstein case, involving the validity of the Washington prohibition law until next Monday.

Many Posts Are Held.

Admitted to the Ohio bar in 1873, he practiced law first at Urbana, O., and then at Winfield, Kan., removing to Spokane in 1890.

Admitted to the Ohio bar in 1873, he practiced law first at Urbana, O., and then at Winfield, Kan., removing to Spokane in 1890.

His political career began in 1898, with election to the State Senate, where he served for six years. In 1904 he was a Republican presidential elector. In 1905 he was appointed as a regent of Washington State College, which position he held until January, 1905, when the Washington Legislature increased the size of the Washington bench. Governor Albert E. Mead appointed Senator Crow to one of the positions.

Judge Crow was elected in 1906 for a two-year term, re-elected in 1908 for a six-year term, serving as Chief Justice from 1912 and 1914, and in November, 1914, he was re-elected for a six-year term. As Chief Justice he administered the oath of office to Governor Lester.

Judge Crow is survived by his widow, who was Miss Martha Florence Mendall, of Delaware, O., and whom he married in 1871, and by one son, Denton M. Crow, engaged in law practice in Tulare, Cal., who came north to be at his father's bedside. Mrs. Crow received only recently from a serious operation.

SPOKANE APPOINTEE LIKELY

Julius Zittel Thinks Successor Will Be From Judge Crow's Home Town.

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—It is probable that a Spokane man will be appointed by Governor Lester to succeed on the State Supreme Court bench Justice Herman D. Crow, who died this morning, according to Julius Zittel, chairman of the Spokane County Democratic Central Committee.

The Governor will select a Spokane jurist to fill the vacancy made by the death of Justice Crow, said Mr. Zittel. "Spokane was the home of Justice Crow and it is probable that his successor will be named from his home city."

"I have received no communication from the Governor as yet, and I doubt whether the Governor will ask the Spokane County Central Committee for an endorsement, as he is thoroughly acquainted with those in this city who could fill the place."

SEWER CONTRACT IS LET

James Kennedy to Do Enterprise Work for $18,652.

ENTERPRISE, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The contract for lateral sewers in Enterprise was awarded Wednesday by the City Council to James Kennedy, a contractor with offices in Portland, Salt Lake City and Fargo, N. D. His bid was $18,652.60 for the 25,000 feet of laterals and was the lowest of the seven submitted.

Mr. Kennedy was represented by J. D. Hanley, of Portland, who promised that work would begin as soon as supplies and equipment can be shipped in. The contract calls for the completion of the entire job by January 1 and Mr. Hanley said he believed it would be possible to have it done by that time.

Albany Pheasants to See Land Show.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Albany Pheasants, accompanied by their band, will go to Portland on November 2. Transportation day at the Land Products Show, Fred Dawson, president of the organization, received the invitation yesterday.

HALL FUNERAL HELD

Vancouver Masons Honor Late Blind School Official.

FRIEND DELIVERS EULOGY

Services Are at Methodist Church, Knights Templar Take Part. Prominent Speakers Express Sense of Community Loss.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Unusually impressive and touching were the funeral services held at the Methodist Church over the late Professor W. B. Hall, superintendent of the Washington State School for the Blind and captain-general of Vancouver Commandery, No. 10, Knights Templar.

The casket bearing the body was removed at 1 o'clock from the Lumber chapel to the church, and until 2 o'clock four Knights Templar, all past-commanders, A. L. Miller, W. F. Conaway, Thomas P. Clarke and William Laughlin, stood as a guard of honor at the four corners of the casket.

The Knights Templar, in full regalia, and the two Masonic Lodges proceeded in a body from their temple to the church.

Special music was rendered by a quartet composed of W. E. Dudley, A. J. Fleming, Miss L. C. Richardson and Miss Helen Morey, with Professor F. C. Leathers at the pipe organ. During the services they sang "How Firm a Foundation," "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me" and "In the Cause of Christ for Glory."

Rev. E. L. Benedict, pastor, assisted in the services, leading in prayer. The eulogy was delivered by Rev. H. S. Templeton, a close personal friend of the deceased, and who was present when he was suddenly stricken. Just before Mr. Templeton rose to speak the 60 pupils of the school for the blind arose and in unison repeated an appropriate psalm in a touching manner.

When Mr. Templeton had delivered an eloquent tribute to Mr. Hall, W. H. Cochran, of Spokane, a member of the State Board of Control, spoke for the Board, speaking in the highest terms of Mr. Hall as an official, and added that the Board knew much better than the general public the great loss suffered by the state.

Masonic Service Given.

He asked that the citizens in general support Mrs. Hall in the future, as they have in the past supported Mr. Hall, indicating that Mrs. Hall will succeed her husband as superintendent of the Washington State School for the Blind. The other two members of the Board, Frank C. Morse, chairman, and T. E. Skaggs, were also present.

Following the church service all Masons present arose and A. L. Miller read the solemn ritualistic service. The body was then escorted to the Lumber chapel, where it will be held until Sunday, when the brother, George A. Hall, will arrive from Boulder, Colo. The body is to be cremated in Portland.

Civic League Names Officers.

PRINEVILLE, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Civic League of this city held a meeting Monday evening to outline the year's work. The following officers were elected for the year: Professor J. W. Smith, president; Henry Gray, vice-president; Dr. I. H. Gove, secretary. The Centralia Plans Jitney Ordinance.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Centralia City Commission is framing an ordinance regulating jitneys that will be considered at next week's meeting of the Commission. At present an annual license of $6 is all the jitney men operating in and out of Centralia have to pay. In the new ordinance it is proposed to increase the license fee and provide a substantial bond. It is understood that a similar ordinance is being considered in Chehalis.

Woman Freed of Blackmail.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Justice Charles Hoes yesterday for lack of evidence dismissed the charges against Margaret Sutherland, a Centralia woman arrested earlier in the week on a charge of blackmail preferred by Mrs. Jennie Stout. It was alleged in the complaint that the Sutherland woman told Postmaster McCleary that Mrs. Stout had opened some of her mail.

Assessor's Son Is Recovering.

ALBANY, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Though he was attacked with pneumonia before he had recovered from an attack of the measles, Edward Fisher, 6-year-old son of County Assessor and Mrs. Earl L. Fisher, of this city, is getting along nicely. Fears were entertained for his recovery a day or two ago, but physicians say he is now out of danger.

Prineville Closed Tight.

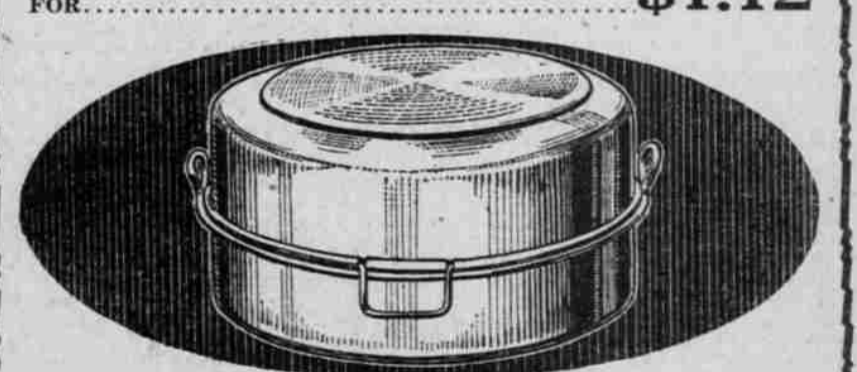

PRINEVILLE, Or., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—Last Sunday Prineville was closed tight. Not even an ice cream cone could be bought. It came as a complete surprise to most people, as confectionery stores and moving picture shows have been allowed to remain open heretofore.
