

NEW DEFENSES FOR COAST FAVORED

Senator Chamberlain Gives His Views on Eve of Conference With President.

MORE OFFICERS WANTED

Small, Well-Trained Army, More Efficient Militia and Organization of Youths Advocated.

Wilson Wants Quick Action.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 27.—Senator Chamberlain tomorrow will confer with the president and cabinet regarding the war program the president has approved, inasmuch as it has been announced that this policy has been adopted by the president and endorsed by Representative Hay, chairman of the House military committee, Senator Chamberlain is expected to voice his approval and to pledge his support. The entire program was made up before the president's conference last night, and until he attends conference tomorrow he will not learn the details.

This program is different from that recommended by the Army War College and General Staff, President Wilson having revised their recommendations and cut their estimates. Senator Chamberlain declared last January that Congress should have before it the best judgment of the Army experts, and Army men are hopeful that he will insist that the president shall send the
best judgment of the Army experts,
and Army men are hopeful that he will
best judgment of the Army experts,

It is not believed, however, he will make this request unless the president is willing to accept the program announced at the White House.
The chief object of the conference tomorrow is to arrange for prompt consideration of the Army's program after it passes the House.

"My idea," said Senator Chamberlain, "is not a big, bulky standing Army with an expensive staff, but rather a small, well trained, efficient Army, with special attention to be paid to trained officers, and modern military organization of the youths of the Nation into something like the Swiss system."

"The big, important item, I believe, is a large number of trained officers.
I think it is generally understood that the success of the Army program has been due to their trained, skilled leadership. Even now most of the agricultural colleges of the country have military training as a part of their curriculum."

"As to coast defenses, I believe that the present ones should be maintained, but that no new ones should be added."

STATE HAS SUNDAY LAW

meals, and so on. While Mr. Kellaher operates what might be called a butcher shop, still the grocery part of his store was open for traffic." In convicting the judge of the actual existence of the Sunday law Mr. Dowry traced the history of Sunday legislation in Oregon. He showed that the first measure of this kind was enacted in 1854 during territorial days. While it was true, he said, that it was repealed by inference in 1854, as pleaded by Mr. Kellaher, still another Sunday law was adopted at the same session as part of a code of criminal procedure, the territorial law going out of existence entirely.

Law Still in Effect.

This law became section 652 of the criminal code. In 1885 it was repealed by reference to code number, and the present Sunday law, which was enacted in 1893, was adopted in 1903 exempting theaters from its operation.
The court was again crowded yesterday, a large part of the audience being made up of grocers. Another interested spectator was Rev. G. L. Turf, who is conducting a campaign in Oregon for the adoption by the people of a law making Sunday a universal day of rest. After it was all over Mr. Turf and Mr. Kellaher engaged in a debate on the side lines as to the merits of Sunday legislation. Neither could convince the other. Many others joined in on either side. Mr. Kellaher drawing more adherents than his preacher.
The next hearing will be on Friday, when Fred Mason, accused similarly to Mr. Kellaher, will go to trial before a jury in Judge Dayton's court. John Eastman's trial is scheduled for the same day, also before a jury.

Pleas of not guilty were entered yesterday before District Judge Jones by several of the latest batch of grocers who were arrested, those against whom complaints were signed by Robert G.
Bunton, secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association. Those who pleaded were G. L. Craig and J. A. Jensen, proprietors of a store at 455 East Burnside street; J. Abe and S. Sasaki, Japanese, who have a store at 273 Burnside; O. J. Peterson, of the Cosmos Grocery, 410 East Burnside, and John Eastman, who was arrested for the second time.

Their cases were set for next Wednesday. All want jury trials.
In passing on the Kellaher case, Judge Dayton said, with reference to the complainant, H. C. Roberts and A. R. Akerhelm:
"There is no question that they were not imbued with a spirit of civic righteousness to desire for law enforcement, but were out to 'get' certain designated people. That is the inference which any sensible person would draw from the evidence submitted." Judge Imburgs Complains.
"Like Judge McGinn I don't like the evidence of stool pigeons and for that reason I am disposed to impose the minimum fine in this case unless Mr.
Kellaher says that he wants it raised to $25 so that he can appeal."

Mr. Kellaher presently said that such was his desire and he went on to say that he wanted to get into Federal Court a question of the act violating the National Prohibition act as soon as possible. He intimated that he may join forces with the Eugene tobaccoists, in whose case the Oregon Supreme Court recently held the law valid, if they want to go up. He said that he will continue acting as his own attorney throughout.

POWER PACT IS SIGNED

STATE AND GOVERNMENT TO CO-OPERATE IN PERMITS.

Facilitation of Acquisition of Sites and Elimination of Duplication Purpose of Agreement.

SALTM, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)—Cooperation between the state and the United States in the issuance of permits for water power development on lands withdrawn by the Government for water power purposes, is provided in an agreement executed today between John H. Lewis, State Engineer, and Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior. The agreement was executed on behalf of the state and is now in force.

The purpose of this co-operative agreement is to avoid duplication of work and expense, to make available data obtained by both the state and the Government, and to facilitate the approval of applications for water rights for the occupancy and use of lands included in power site withdrawals in Oregon for power purposes.

The agreement is a continuation, according to Mr. Lewis, will mean the saving of large amounts of money to the state and the Government, and to facilitate the acquisition of power sites for development.

"Heretofore," said Mr. Lewis, "it has been necessary for those wishing to appropriate water for development purposes first to secure a permit from the State Engineer's office. This involved the making of surveys and the payment of a fee. The permit was then presented to the Interior Department for approval for right to occupy the power site withdrawal. Often the duplication of work in making the money paid in fees to the state totals under the new agreement applicants may file their requests with the state and Interior Department at the same time. This will greatly facilitate acquisition of power sites for development."

OREGON CITY RECORDER HANDS DOWN 1000-WORD DECISION.

Court Finds Campmeetings Disturb Neighborhood Unintentionally and Makes Recommendations.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)— Recorder Loder today announced his decision of 1000 words in the case of Andrew C. Baker, leader of the Full Gospel campmeetings at Mountain view, on a charge of disturbing the peace.

The decision begins by stating that "the testimony of 14 reputable witnesses in no uncertain terms shows that the crowd at the place mentioned made loud noises . . . sufficient to disturb the peace at said time and place," and concludes with a statement that "the essential elements of guilt were not technically proved, and with a caution to the defendant that this decision is not to be taken in any manner as an approval of the loud and hideous methods carried on at the place mentioned he is hereby acquitted."

Recorder Loder recommends that Baker and his followers meet at some place removed from dwelling houses.
The decision says further: "If the defendant causes his patients to lie upon the floor and assume other compromiting attitudes and positions, then the defendant is in duty bound to society to provide proper means for caring for such persons, or otherwise to be tolerated by his followers as religious and moral would be considered by society as vulgar, immoral and obscene." Fourteen witnesses testified that members of the Full Gospel Mission made unusual and loud noises. The court said that the noise was produced and that no evidence was produced to show that the noise was made for the purpose of disturbing anyone.

FIFTH OF PORTLAND
WAGE EARNERS IDLE

Additional Number Working Part Time Estimated at 17.7 Per Cent.

COAST FIGURES TABULATED

Federal Investigators Accept Figures of Insurance Company as Accurate Estimate of Employment Conditions.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 27.—Twenty per cent of the wage-earners of Portland are out of employment and 17.7 per cent additional are working only part time, according to statistics gathered for and published by the Bureau of Labor Statics in the Department of Labor.

From the figures given, it appears that Portland relatively has more unemployed than any large city on the Pacific Coast.
Its percentage of workers on part time is below average.
Tacoma ranks next after Portland, then come Spokane and San Diego, with San Francisco next, followed by Seattle, Oakland, Salt Lake and smaller towns.

Cost Figures Tabulated.
In Tacoma the percentage of unemployed is 17.5, and of those employed part time 20.6. Spokane finds 16.7 per cent of its wage-earners out of employment and 20.4 per cent on part time, while in Seattle 12.7 per cent are unemployed and 14.3 per cent are working part time. The complete tabulation of figures on Pacific Coast cities follows:

CITIES.	Unemp.	Part time
Los Angeles	7,227	82.1
Portland	2,217	49.9
Sacramento	1,856	17.0
San Diego	1,749	12.9
Seattle	7,749	12.7
Spokane	1,230	21.0
Tacoma	2,558	48.7
Totals	49,338	47.3

The figures are based on investigations made last June and July by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York. When the Department of Labor first began the application of statistics on unemployment it sent its representatives into New York and the Metropolitan Company made a similar investigation generally among the insurance companies. The results of the two investigations were so identical that the bureau requested the company to investigate in the cities named.

Police Holders Are Families holding industrial policies in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in all the foregoing cities were visited by agents of that company and the number of partly employed and wholly unemployed was ascertained. The investigation was pur-posed to be complete, for complete investigations would be as costly as the taking of the census, but the bureau is of the opinion that the percentages shown by the poll are reasonably accurate as indicating conditions generally among the insurance companies.

"Full details will be published soon.
This report will indicate those industries in which there is the greatest idleness."

COWLITZ INDIANS TO MEET

Federal Land Claims Will Be Discussed at Vader Friday.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Oct. 27.—(Special.)— Supervisor Charles E. McChesney, will hold a meeting of the representatives of the Cowlitz Indian tribe Friday at Vader.

The session is to discuss the proposed allotment of lands from the Federal Government to the members of the Cowlitz tribe. The latter have been engaged for the past few years in an effort to obtain a settlement from the Federal Government of their claims for lands which they formerly possessed in Southwest Washington, for which no settlement ever has been made.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of passes out of the bowels and you have

G. E. HAYES IS TO RETIRE

CLACKAMAS LAWYER, 29 YEARS AT BAR, TO QUIT NOVEMBER 1.

Stafford Farm to Occupy Attorney, Who Advises Young Men "to Work and Stay Out of Politics."

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 27.—(Special.)— Twenty-nine years ago next month G. E. Hayes came to Oregon City with a certificate entitling him to practice before the bar of the state, 12 law books and a promise to himself that he would retire as soon as his finances permitted. Today Judge Hayes announced that he had acquired enough to provide for himself for the rest of his life and would retire November 1.
Judge Hayes was born in this county 52 years ago and is the son of Captain H. D. Hayes, a pioneer of 1849, who is still living in Willamette. As a boy, he went to Portland and entered the law office of Judge Edwin S. Canby, and then one of the state's most prominent attorneys. In 1886 he came to Oregon City and soon became a partner of L. J.
Baird, then register of the Land Office, and prominent in Republican politics in the state. Young Hayes came to Oregon City on a Saturday, Canby had arranged his 12 law books and his plain office furniture, and Monday he had a case in the Circuit Court.

Judge Melde appointed Hayes Deputy District Attorney for the county, an office which he held for five years, or until he was elected State Senator in 1892. In 1894 he was named County Judge, and at the end of his term, he dropped out of politics.

Even now, Judge Hayes advises young men to stay out of politics. "Attend to your business, live economically and stay out of politics," is his motto.
As the result of his remarkable career of his practice, Judge Hayes considers the fact that in those 29 years he has taken only 15 days' vacation. His farm at Stafford will probably receive much of his attention after his retirement.

Judge Hayes is a member of the Berk, Moose and Knights of Pythias lodges.

peated only what a number of others have told in connection with similar losses. The Canadian has figured in practically every big swindle of that kind reported.
Lee met one of the men, a stranger, conversed with him and strolled as far as Thomas Circle. There the Canadian appeared, a game of matching coins.
Lee was suggested, and when Lee had lost his $100 the Canadian, pretending he was indignant, accused the other men of having swindled him.
"I'll meet you in front of Keith's," the Chicago man was told by the stranger who was responsible for loss, giving the impression that it would be well for them to separate because of the Canadian's accusation.
Lee strolled to the front of the theater and looked for his "friend." The latter did not appear, however, and he then realized that he had been swindled.

Rich Man, Poor Man
By MAXIMILIAN FOSTER
Author of "The Whistling Man"

IMAGINE a pretty, vivacious girl of unknown parentage, I brought up on charity in a cheap boarding-house, instructed only by little Mr. Mapy, a broken-down bookkeeper, turning out to be the Granddaughter of Old Beeston, the richest man in New York!

That was what happened to Bab Wynne. Imagine the extraordinary situation further complicated by her falling heels over head in love with the star boarder, young Varick, whose father had been ruined in Wall Street by Beeston.
And then imagine young Varick's emotions when he found himself in love with Bab, one of this family on whom he had vowed eternal vengeance.

This is just the beginning of a swiftly-moving story, full of quick turns, jolting surprises and happy outcomes.
