

EGG STATES TO VOTE ON TUESDAY

Four to Elect Governors, Six Legislatures, Five to Decide Large Issues.

SUFFRAGE UP IN THREE

New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts to Furnish Greatest Test, in Point of Population, is Has Ever Had.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Eight states, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Ohio and Mississippi, will hold elections on Tuesday, November 2.

In four of these states, Massachusetts, Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi, Governors are to be elected; in six states, New York, Massachusetts, Maryland, New Jersey, Kentucky and Ohio, Legislatures are to be elected.

With a few local exceptions, in fact, these constitutional questions will be the dominant issues on election day, including as they do such fundamental matters as woman suffrage, municipal home rule, prohibition, state income taxes, referendum plans and some lesser reform issues.

The woman suffrage question will come up for decision in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, which states will furnish, in point of population, the greatest test of the suffrage issue has ever had in the United States.

The importance of this test is indicated by the fact that, in point of population, the states of New York, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts include more than 20,000,000—a fifth of the population of the entire United States.

The New York State a dominant feature will be a new state constitution. The features of the revised constitution are measures designed to give the cities of the state greater latitude in the management of municipal affairs.

Massachusetts considers income tax. Massachusetts will vote on the proposition of giving the Legislature authority to impose a tax on incomes and similar authority for the taking over of land in country districts for the purpose of establishing homesteads for those who may wish to escape from the more congested quarters of the cities.

A lieutenant-governor and various other state officials, together with Senators and 240 members of the state House of Representatives, are also to be elected.

Pennsylvania will have comparatively little of general interest to its election outside of the vote on the suffrage question. One representative in Congress is to be elected to fill a vacancy in the Twenty-fourth District.

In Philadelphia the Republican organization has conducted a vigorous campaign to regain control of the city administration. The Republican candidate for the Mayorship this fall is Thomas R. Smith, former postmaster.

Maryland will elect a Governor, Controller of the State Treasury, Attorney-General, a full House of Delegates and half of the State Senate.

There will be general interest in the election in Ohio for the reason that state-wide prohibition of the liquor traffic is an issue again this year, as it was last year in the form of a proposed constitutional amendment which would forbid the sale or manufacture for sale of any alcoholic beverages.

power divided the districts about evenly.

All cities in Ohio will select Mayors and other municipal officers.

The election in Mississippi will be merely a ratification of the nominations made by the Democratic voters at the state primaries held last August, inasmuch as no other party has candidates in the field.

Having disposed of the suffrage issue at the special election October 19, New Jersey has left little of general interest for the election of November 2.

An will be noted, the voting is confined entirely to states east of the Mississippi River.
