The Baby Show, which is to be the feature of the entertainment today, will begin at 2 o'clock instead of at 2, as formerly scheduled.

In addition to the judging of the babies entered in the various classes—and there are about 400 of them to keep the judges busy—there will be several additional features which will be of interest to the visitors.

Babies to Hear Lullabies.
Miss Grace Crow, with her accompanist, Miss Jessie Lewis, will sing a programme of lullabies for the babies at 2:30, and later in the afternoon Mrs. Millard, from the Central Library, will give an address to mothers on the kind of stories that should be told to children and how they should be told.

Not only is the attraction of the baby show to bring big crowds to the Manufacturers' and Land Products show today, but it is expected that the biggest out-of-town delegation that has yet come will be present.

Newberg Gathers Delegation. This delegation is coming by special train from Newberg, and includes not only representatives of the Newberg Commercial Club, but those from Dundee, Springfield, St. Paul and other nearby cities. H. R. Morris is in charge of the excursion.

The train will reach here this morning and the visitors will remain all day, leaving for home at 11 o'clock P. M.

The Western Walnut Growers' Association, which completes its convention today, will send its full delegation to the Land show tonight as well.

One of the big attractions tonight will be the Berger-Jones color photographs of the scenery of Oregon, which will be shown in the little theater.

The judges for the industrial displays began their work yesterday, but will announce no awards until the closing day of the show. Friday will be Loganberry day and the Ad Club will be one of the features at the show, boosting Loganberry juice.

DEMONSTRATORS' CONTEST ON

Competition Will Continue Until Closing of Show, November 12.

The demonstrators' contest at the Manufacturers' and Land Products

Show will begin today and will continue until November 12. The voting will be for the most popular demonstrator in the booths of the manufacturers' section.

Coupons will be given with each admission to be voted as one enters the building.

On the night of November 12, when the show will be closed by the Order of Muts, the demonstrator receiving the highest vote will receive $20.

The competition between the various booths promises to be keen, and this feature is expected to increase the attendance at the show materially.

JAPAN DAY DRAWS THROGS

Unique Entertainment in Beautiful Bower Is Attractive.

The little theater at the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show was transformed yesterday into a beautiful bower, by the committee in charge of the Japanese day participation.

The seats were moved out under the hall decorated with lanterns and cherry blossoms and converted into a beautiful little tea garden.

Throughout the afternoon and evening visitors were entertained by the committee of Japanese citizens and young Japanese women served tea and rice cakes to the visitors.

The committee in charge of the feature consisted of Y. Nakaya, T. Uchida, S. Sukiguchi and G. Sonekawa.

Not only was the little theater decorated especially for the occasion, but handsome lantern decorations were placed outside the building and on the street at the intersection of Tenth and Washington.

Most of the booths in the manufacturers' pavilion added lanterns to their decorations in courtesy to the visiting Japanese and the most important signs on all of the booths were translated on placards in Japanese characters.

The tea garden in the little theater was continuously filled with visitors and the attractive entertainment offered by the Japanese was praised with enthusiasm by all of the visitors. Besides the general run of attendance yesterday, there was also a large attendance of Japanese residents of the city.

FORESTRY LECTURE SET

TALK AT LAND SHOW TODAY IS ESPECIALLY FOR CHILDREN.

Exhibits Dealing With Timber Will Be Explained and Moving Picture Feature Is Planned.

Alexander Wiesendanger, in charge of the forestry exhibit at the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show, will give a public lecture especially for children at 2:30 P. M.

He gives lectures daily in the booths of the forestry exhibit, and on that occasion he will prepare a talk that is expected to be of especial interest to school children.

The Forest Service exhibit is one of the most interesting and educational exhibits at the Land Show. Several models showing the amount of timber in the State of Oregon are on exhibit.

The most interesting one is that of two mountains, one covered with a heavy growth of timber while the other has been devastated by a forest fire.

This model shows the value of the mountain containing the forest cover in relation to farming and the flow of water. Telephones like those used in the National forests and which are carried by forest rangers are also shown.

The Osborne fire finder, which is now being used by the United States Forest Service on look-out points to get the exact location of a forest fire, also is explained.

As a special feature, three reels of motion pictures sent direct from the Forest Service office at Washington, D. C., will be shown in the auditorium after the lecture at the booth. Reel one is "The Life of a Forest Ranger." Reel two is "What a Careless Hunter Can Do" (forest fire). Reel three is "Logging Western Yellow Pine."

RETAILERS' PLAN BIG NIGHT

Electrical Parade Will Be One Feature Next Monday.

Retail merchants and electricians are working together to prepare a big surprise for visitors to the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show on Monday night.

The electrical men will place their special emphasis on the stunt features for the big parade in the streets Monday night. Inside the show building the retail merchants will take up the programme.

Numerous novelties, skits and tableaux are being worked out and their entertainment is to be spread over the whole building, instead of being confined to the little theater.

The street parade will be electrical, and will offer some features as striking, it is promised, as the electrical features in the parade of the Rose Festival.

Retail merchants who desire to participate in the parade or enter the stunts to be held in the show building are urged to notify C. C. Bradley, chairman of the committee, or W. E. Conklin, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Bureau, at the Chamber of Commerce, Broadway 440.

LOGANBERRY NIGHT FRIDAY

Admen Are Planning Record Boosting for Industry.

"Loganberry juice night" is the night of the Ad Club at the Manufacturers' and Land Products Show tomorrow.

The Admen are going to the show at that time prepared to give the loganberry industry such a boosting as it never heard of before. The songs that have been entered in the $250 prize contest—a large number of them—will be sung through all the exhibit halls by the Ad Club quartet, the Admen and others and pretty girls will be dispensing loganberry juice from various booths, while the "1915 bar" is expected to enjoy the biggest run of business in its history.

George E. Waggoner is chairman of the committee and D. N. Moessoch is and W. H. P. Hill are with him in the campaign.

The Foreward

(By the House of Kuppenheimer)

YOU may have the habit of carrying the head and shoulders slightly forward—a great many men have.

Notice on the street, how many coats sag at the collar, or kick out at the back of the neck.

The FOREWARD Model is a special Kuppenheimer feature. It takes care of this tendency. The collar sits well up and hugs the neck. The shoulders fit perfectly.

You can have the FOREWARD in almost any style of coat, or fabric or color.

But, you'll have to go to a Kuppenheimer dealer.

These little niceties of fit and tailoring are among the things that make this the most-talked-of and the fastest-growing Clothing House in America.

If your regular Clothier doesn't handle Kuppenheimer Clothes, don't quarrel with him about it. He may be wedded to other concerns.

When you find a Kuppenheimer dealer, you will find a free, progressive, wide-awake merchant—who knows what men want to-day.

As one of them says—"I keep on announcing Kuppenheimer styles, standing pat on my value-giving. To the men who like good clothes I leave the job of keeping this store busy—and you'd better believe they're doing it."

Prices—$20 to $40

Kuppenheimer Clothes are sold by a representative store in nearly every Metropolitan center of the United States. Your name on a post card will bring you our Book of Fashions.

RATE HEARING TOMORROW

Presentation of Astoria Tariff Problem to Be Made at Chamber.

Tomorrow night has been set for the meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce to hear a presentation of the Astoria rate problem.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock and all who are interested in the subject are urged to attend.

J. N. Teal, attorney for the transportation bureau of the Chamber, will give a complete presentation of the problem in its every phase, and will answer general questions from the floor after he has finished his address.

This meeting is to be the "trial blazer" for the hearings which the executive committee and transportation committee propose to hold before taking a definite position on the subject of the Astoria rates. There exists in the membership of the Chamber a certain division of opinion on the subject of the Astoria rate case, with the preponderance of opinion apparently in favor of the Chamber taking no definite action in the matter at this time. It is thought that the meeting tomorrow night and the subsequent hearings will clear up many points among the members and develop a definite outline of action for the executive committee in the future on the matter.
