

Men of Portland; our tailors want more work—our workshop is not running to capacity. Help us keep our tailors busy. Take advantage of this startling, extraordinary

TAILORING SALE!

Here's an opportunity of getting distinctive, well fitting, perfectly tailored suits of well selected woollens at a price that cannot possibly be duplicated anywhere at any time.

Your Choice of Our Entire Stock

Suit or Overcoat Made to Order

25

Two Days Only Friday and Saturday

We Never Before Made a Suit to Order at This Low Price

Our entire stock of imported and domestic woollens at your selection, which means that you may have the pick of any suit or overcoat pattern in our establishment made to your order, no matter whether the former prices were $35, $40 or $45.

Every Suit made with a positive guarantee as to fit and workmanship. All Suits sold during this sale will be lined with high-grade serge or alpaca linings.

—With absolute assurance what this advertisement promises the merchandise performs. —That every purchaser of a Suit or Overcoat during this sale is protected by our guarantee of absolute satisfaction or your money back.

Open Friday Evening Until 8—Saturday Evening Until 10

Portland Tailoring Company

322 Morrison Street, Near Sixth

Portland Hotel Block

WILL R. KING 'IN BAD'

Oregon Democrats Insist on Abdication From Committee.

REFUSAL IS POINT BLANK

Now, However, H. M. Easterley, Elected by People on National Party Body Is About to Have His Side of Controversy Heard.

Will R. King is "in bad" again with Oregon Democrats, though much it bothers him. This time the Honorable Will has stirred up a fine little ruction by declining to abdicate as Democratic National Committeeman from Oregon in favor of H. M. Easterley, who was the overwhelming choice of his party for that desirable position at the primary election of June, 1914.

That isn't all. Mr. King is reputed to be laboring nights to persuade the National Committee at its coming meeting at Washington, December 7, not to accept Mr. Easterley's credentials. This action, naturally, would leave Mr. Easterley on the outside looking in at some other patriotic have a chance. The Mr. King sitting in his accustomed place.

Mr. King Simply Won't Resign. When Mr. King landed the $6000 job of solicitor for the United States Reclamation Service two years ago after camping in Washington for several months, it was suggested by some of the boys back home that he had won honor and glory enough and should resign as National Committeeman to let some other patriot have a chance. The Mr. King enthusiastically declined to do.

The next move was up to the Oregon Democrats. They wasted no time. The Baltimore National Convention which nominated Woodrow Wilson in 1912, adapted a resolution to the effect that national committeemen thereafter should be elected by members of the party in the respective states, and that they should hold office from the receipt of their credentials.

Mr. King Never Feared. Acting under this law and the ruling of the Baltimore convention, the "home boys" in Oregon proceeded to elect Mr. Easterley as National Committeeman by a majority of 11,000 votes over W. H. Cannon, of Medford, his only opponent. Mr. King did not design to run. Mr. Easterley's election was duly certified and he was generally congratulated and greeted as Democratic National Committeeman from Oregon.

Did this move stump the Honorable Will? It did not. It apparently did not even faze him. All it accomplished was to stir him to action. The worst enemy of the Honorable Will would not deny that he can be an extremely busy little bee when he so desires, as he did desire on this occasion.

he is maintaining a good stout case of it, that he was regularly appointed National Committeeman by the Democratic National Committee, and that as such appointee he automatically holds office until the next National Convention in spite of all the votes and all the elections of all the Democrats of Oregon.

Mr. Easterley, however, will have a chance to present his side of the question. He has received a telegram from William F. McCombs, chairman of the National Committee, notifying him that the committee will meet at the New Willard Hotel, Washington, D. C., at 11 A. M. December 7, to determine the after and choice to hold the new Democratic National Convention. "The settling of any contests involving membership on the committee," and other business.

"You are urgently requested to be present, personally if possible," the telegram concludes.

Mr. Easterley said last night that he would be there.

100 BOYS PLAN COMPANY

MEETING AT LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL AROUSES ENTHUSIASM.

Enlistment Blanks Passed Out After Talk by Adjutant-General White.

Officers Guide Organizing.

Blanks for enlistment in the Oregon National Guard were asked for by more than 100 of the boys of Lincoln High School at the conclusion of a talk given them yesterday by Adjutant-General George A. White, of the Oregon National Guard.

General White and City Superintendent L. R. Alderman, representing the committee in whose hands the details of the plan for the enlistment of high school boys in the militia was left called at the Lincoln High School yesterday noon and addressed the boys.

General White, on behalf of the committee and at the request of Mr. Alderman, made a straightforward statement of the duties that will be required of those that care to enlist in the guard service and initiate the hands of officers in the Oregon National Guard. He had concluded a number of questions were answered by General White and enlistment blanks were given to those boys who showed a desire to enlist in the militia. There was a decided exhibition of enthusiasm among the boys over the prospect of becoming members of the Oregon National Guard under the school provisions.

Rules and regulations covering the enlistment of all recruits in the state militia apply to high school boys and all those who are more than 18 years of age are eligible if the consent of the parents is obtained.

Since General White is to leave tonight to attend a conference of adjutant-generals from all of the states in the hands of officers in the Oregon National Guard, designated by General White before his departure.

General White will be in San Francisco about a week.

LAND DEAL CLEARED

Option of Stark-Street Lots Taken for Californians.

ANOTHER SALE PROBABLE

J. C. Ainsworth Says Friends of His Propose Purchasing Property and 12-Story Building Contemplated as Investment.

Reports that options for the purchase of the property at the northeast corner of Sixth and Alder streets had been acquired with a view to providing a future home for the United States National Bank were dispelled yesterday, when J. C. Ainsworth, president of the United States National, denied emphatically that the bank intends to move.

Mr. Ainsworth explained at the same time that the options had been taken by some friends of his in California, who consulted him regarding it before they acted. He advised them to take the option, believing that purchase of the property and its improvement with a substantial business building would be mutually advantageous to the investors as well as to the city.

Many Rumors Afloat. Ever since The Oregonian last Saturday made the first announcement that an option had been given for purchase of the corner in question numerous rumors have been afloat. One such rumor had it that T. B. Wilcox, who owns the Imperial Hotel property, had acquired options on both Stark-street corners on the west side of Sixth street.

It is understood that if the California people close their option and purchase the property, they will improve it with a substantial 12-story business structure.

In this connection it has been reported that the Southern Pacific Railroad is seeking a lease on the proposed new building and that the negotiations are being conducted on behalf of the Southern Pacific, but officials of that railroad deny any knowledge of it.

Southern Pacific Mentioned. Several years ago the Southern Pacific contemplated seriously the lease of a building ample to accommodate its general offices in the upper floors and its city ticket offices on the ground floor. But since then additional space has been secured in the Wells-Fargo building and some of the Southern Pacific offices have been consolidated.

The quarter block upon which the California investors have taken an option is valued in the opinion at $275,000. This is apportioned, $175,000 for the corner lot, which is owned by H. and M. Wolf, and $100,000 for the inside lot, owned by Alexander Wagner. Wakefield, Fries & Co., local realty brokers, handled the option for the California people.

At the same time negotiations have been in progress for lease or purchase of the quarter block at the southwest corner of Sixth and Stark streets, immediately east of the Imperial Hotel, although no option has been given so far as is known. Both this corner and the corner opposite are covered with old wooden buildings that no longer harmonize with the modern structures surrounding them.

HOBO ON TRAIN KILLS TWO

Brakeman and Companion Are Victims Near Vista.

KENNEWICK, Wash., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—As the result of an altercation with hobos who were stealing a ride on a westbound Northern Pacific freight train and whom they were attempting to put off the train, O. O. Burns, a brakeman, and J. McCann, his companion, and formerly a brakeman, are dead. The tragedy occurred near Vista, five miles west of here, early Tuesday night.

According to the story of the trainmen, Burns and McCann climbed onto a coal car where three men were riding and ordered them to get off while the train was going over the Vista Hill at a slow rate. The men refused, and in the trouble that ensued one of the three men drew a gun and shot McCann, killing him instantly. He then shot Burns, who, falling, fractured his skull, from which he died after reaching Pasco, several hours later.

Two of the three men have been taken and are lodged in the Ken-wick jail. They, however, plead innocence to any implication in the crime, saying that the man who did the shooting got away. Four other suspects have been taken by officers who are scouring the country in an attempt to apprehend the man who did the shooting.

—

THE INSPIRED IDIOT

"The jewelry business has gone nuts," said the Idiot. "They have begun selling two months ahead of time, and they are all fighting each other, and you, my dear public, are getting the benefit by paying for their wonderful (?) ads, and a good fat profit besides."

"I noticed in one of their ads Thursday that they stated as follows: 'Great Scott! If you ever see anyone selling clothing as cheap as these diamonds, you just put me next; I need a new suit of clothes.'"

"My dear ad writer, you just wait until the high-priced clothiers get started, and immediately you will save 25 per cent, just as the people are now saving 25 per cent to 50 per cent on your goods."

"If you fellows weren't making 100 per cent profit in the beginning you wouldn't be able to reduce the price of your stock 25 per cent to 50 per cent no more than the high-priced clothing stores would be able to reduce their goods 25 per cent if they were not making a big, fat, juicy profit at the beginning."

"The thousands of dollars that are being spent for those wonderful big ads must come out of somebody's pocket, and I am quite sure that the benevolent sales makers are not losing any money."

"Sales or no sales, the Wonder Clothes Stores Co. always sells twenty-five-dollar Suits, Overcoats, Raincoats and Balma-cans at —Fifteen Doll.rs.

WONDER CLOTHES STORES CO.

138-140-142 Third Street Corner Alder

Our $10 Clothes Need No Advertising

skull, from which he died after reaching Pasco, several hours later.

Two of the three men have been taken and are lodged in the Ken-wick jail. They, however, plead innocence to any implication in the crime,

saying that the man who did the shooting got away. Four other suspects have been taken by officers who are scouring the country in an attempt to apprehend the man who did the shooting.

Made Clean— Sold Clean— Delivered Clean

Sold by All Grocers

Science Rules in the Making of "HOLSUM"

Women who know the uncertainties of home baking wonder at the unvarying goodness of HOLSUM. "How do you do it?" they ask. "Why can't we get the same results every time we bake?"

Why HOLSUM Is Better than Home Made Bread

You could if science and chemistry ruled your kitchen as they rule the HOLSUM bakery. Nothing is left to "chance" or "luck" in making HOLSUM. No "guess-work" goes.

Ingredients Scientifically Tested

The HOLSUM formula is the result of many years' study and experience. The precise quantities of flour, water, milk, yeast, etc., never vary. Every ingredient is tested.

Baking Scientifically Controlled

Mixing, kneading, raising, room temperatures, oven temperatures are scientifically controlled in the HOLSUM Bakery. That's why HOLSUM never varies. Don't bake—buy HOLSUM.

Double Size 10c HOLSUM Jr. 5c Both Wrapped

Log Cabin Baking Company

HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM HOLSUM