MUNITION BALANCE NOT AUSTRIA'S PLEA

Vienna Note Says Objection Is to Excessive Zeal Manifested in America.

Concentration of Working Power to Aid Allies With War Supplies Declared to Present Situation in New Phase.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—The full text of Austria-Hungary's second note to the United States on the subject of shipments of munitions by American firms to Great Britain and her allies has been received in this country. It practically conforms to cable summaries. Austria's main argument is this:

practically conforms to cable summaries. Austria's main argument is this;

"The imperial and royal government has in no way pleaded in favor of the principle of 'equalization.' As a matter of fact it did not base its suggestion concerning the exportation of war materials on the fact that it was not in a position itself to import war materials from the United States of America; even if both groups of belligerents were to share in the supply of war materials from the United States of America, the imperial and royal government would, nevertheless, maintain that the excessive exportation of war materials would be objectionable.

"The imperial and royal government never thought of suggesting that, because Austria-Hungary cannot procure war materials from the territories of one neutral power, this disadvantage should be balanced by prohibiting the citizens of that neutral power to carry on a normal trade in contraband with the enemies of the dual monarchy. It, however, did protest against the crention of new and the extension of existing plants for the purpose of manufacturing and exporting war materials to such an extent that the economic life of the United States has practically, so to say, become militarized—if one can use a word that has been often wrongly applied.

"The concentration of a large part of the American working power toward one goal, namely, the supply of munitions of war, constitutes a "falt nouveau" which invalidates any reference to allegedly similar cases in other wars; whether intended or not this concentration of the national working power constitutes a one-sided and effectly support of one grou.

Former War Comparisons Rejected.

Former War Comparisons Rejected.

"A comparison with the former wars is all the more out of place, since those wars were waged between two single powers, or at least between groups of a few powers only. When munitions of war from one neutral country were supplied to one belligerent ont only, it was then possible for the latter's enemies to apply to other neutral countries. In the present war, however, the United States of America is the only power that can be effectively considered for such supplies. This circumstance further contributes to give to the exportation of munitions of war from the union a different and far more serious character than the exportation of contraband has ever had in the past.

seen before have become clearly manifest in the course of the present war only, the Austro-Hungarian government thinks it is justified to hold the opinion that, in accordance with the last paragraph of the preamble of the XIIIth convention, they should constitute a sufficient reason for modifying the regulations that govern the trade in contraband in the United States.

"The absolute and strict impartiality which the Washington Cabinet is anxious to observe, and, therefore, the abstaining of any direct or indirect assistance and support of one beffigerent, are undoubtedly the right of a neutral power. If experience should teach that an embargo in any direction should in the course of the warbecome necessary to that end, then the power concerned is justified to modify its former policy of applying neutrality.

The suggestion of the imperial and "The suggestion of the imperial and royal government concerning the supply of foodstuffs and raw materials was likewise not based on the assumption that a neutral government would be bound to compensate the advantages attained by one belligerent over the other by a system of non-intercourse with the former. The note of June 28 makes it clear that this sugcourse with the former. The note of June 28 makes it clear that this suggestion was made solely for the purpose of pointing out to the Washington Cabinet which had declared that, as a consequence of the situation created by the war, it had become impossible for the United States of America to maintain its trade relations with the central powers, that it is within the power of the Federal Government to enforce such a possibility of trade relations.
