

NEW AND GREATER EUROPE PICTURED

Secretary Lane Says People Will Cling to Ideals and Ultimately Gain.

CAUSES OF WAR VIEWED

Belief Expressed That Peoples of Battling Nations Will Finally Realize Real Liberty So Long Held by Americans.

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 7.—A new and greater Europe, with the peoples of the warring nations coming at last to a realization of the real liberty Americans gained so long ago, was pictured tonight by the Secretary of the Interior, Franklin K. Lane, in an address before the State Literary and Historical Association of North Carolina. He said in part: "We look with horror upon the inhumanity of human nature and say to ourselves: 'Is this all that Christianity has brought? What has become of that sweet song of the brotherhood of man? Whither has flown that sense of outrage against injustice that men now die by the millions because a Prince was killed in Serbia?'"

Political Aspect Viewed. "But these are the worst of an unthinking despair. Surely, our memories have not failed us. We must look back; look through this blinding storm of fire and steel and see the Europe that will be again. Then there was to be seen a pillar of fire leading the multitude; England trying to retain her lands for her people; Germany threatened with a transfer of political power from the few to the many; Russia slowly emerging from the middle ages with her groping Duma; France, la belle France, gentle, gracious, glorious France, living out the philosophy incorporated in the first 30 lines of our own Declaration of Independence. "Europe may burn up. Her people may be blasted by bankruptcy. Her national lines may be made to follow new channels. Her industries may be buried under the fall and the blood and the brain of many an unknown Tolstoi, Beethoven, Pasteur or Darwin may fertilize her shell-furrowed fields. She may even attain a day new standards of national greatness. Sacrifices Are Necessary. "But all these cannot destroy the passionate purpose of her people to decide for themselves what chains they will bear and what sacrifices they will make. For chains and sacrifices that be borne for social life, and only the sanest dreams of a life without restraints. "But Europe knows that it may have what we Americans long ago gained, the degree of freedom in which sacrifice is made—consciously and proudly made—for those and to those with whom we have a common interest. And this is liberty."

Lines Report Gains

Visiting Union and Southern Pacific Officials Hopeful. Messages of Better Business Conditions All Along Routes Brought—Fair Travel Benefit Cited.

Three high railroad officials, arriving in Portland yesterday on trips over their lines, all brought a message of better business conditions. The Union Pacific is doing a greatly increased business, and conditions are greatly improved along its routes, said J. A. Munroe, of Omaha, vice-president in charge of traffic of the Union Pacific Railroad. Mr. Munroe is returning to Omaha, following his visit to the Exposition, and is in Portland for a couple of days, conferring with E. W. Robinson, new traffic manager of the O. W. R. "There is every reason for optimism," continued Mr. Munroe. "Crop conditions are excellent. We have all had our little troubles, but I think we are well on our way out of the depression. You have felt the influence of better business conditions less on the coast so far than elsewhere, but business men here have felt the change."

Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, who is just concluding a trip that has taken him through 35 states, takes just as bright a view of the situation. Mr. Fee will be in Portland for two or three days before returning to San Francisco headquarters. He declared that the Panama-Pacific Exposition will benefit the entire Pacific slope to an immense degree, and that its effects will continue to be felt for ten years to come.

Comparing business conditions in the East and Middle West now, and six months ago, Mr. Fee said they were much better now. He said he looked for a large tourist movement to the coast this winter.

I. O. Rhodes, of San Francisco, general purchasing agent of the Southern Pacific, declared that, regardless of the war, business will be lively on the coast next year.

Scots to Recruit Society

St. Andrew's Day to Be Celebrated With Dinner and Programme.

A vigorous membership campaign was inaugurated yesterday by the St. Andrew's Society of Oregon, which was organized in 1875. The order is benevolent, and the membership is restricted to men more than 18, one of both of whose parents or grandparents were Scotch. On St. Andrew's day, November 30, sacred to the memory of the patron saint of Scotland, the society will entertain at the Benson hotel. A dinner will be given at 7 o'clock, to be followed by an attractive programme of Scotch dances, songs and the music of the bagpipes. The order welcomes all Scotchmen to the affair. James Cormac is president and A. G. Brown is chairman of the membership committee. The membership rally was last held November 16. St. Andrew's Society has for a number of years been a strong social and fraternal center for the American people of Scottish descent, and the order has endeavored to furnish a helpful environment for Scotchmen.

One time Mr. Berry refused to sign a warrant for Attorney Fulton, of Astoria, for legal services to the city, until the grand jury ordered the warrant signed. The people voted an amendment to the charter which curtails Mr. Berry's power.

ZAPATA MEN SURRENDER

CARRANZA GRANTS AMNESTY TO 3000 EX-REBELS. Southern Chief's Revolutionary Army Is Said to Be Disintegrating; Others Give Up.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Zapata's army in Southern Mexico is disintegrating rapidly, according to cable advice received tonight by the Carranza agency here. General Pablo Gonzales, marching toward Morelos at the head of a large force, is expected to meet with little resistance. "Three thousand members of Zapata's following surrendered yesterday and were given amnesty," said the message, "and for many days groups of soldiers lately in arms have been bringing in their rifles." Other dispatches to the agency told of renewed activity in the petroleum industry. State Department advice said relations between General Obregon, the Carranza commander, and George C. Carothers, special agent of the department at Douglas, Ariz., were friendly. It was reported recently from the border that Obregon had protested to General Funston against the presence in Mexico of Carothers, who for a long time was the American representative with General Villa, but no word of such a protest has been received from the State or the War Departments.

JUDGE EXTOLS EMBLEM

BAKER COURT PRESENTED WITH STARS AND STRIPES. Jurist, Himself Naturalized Citizen, Says Banner Is "Flag of All Flags."

BAKER, Or., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—That the American flag is "the flag of all flags" was the subject of a presentation today of Circuit Judge Anderson, himself a naturalized Swede, when a beautiful and American flag was presented to the court by Attorney John L. Sand, acting for the Oregon Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Before a crowded courtroom Mr. Sand made the presentation, suggesting, among other things, that the flag be made a part of the naturalization ceremonies. Judge Anderson replied in part as follows: "Where the American flag is considered as an emblem it is, in itself a history involving the struggles, defeats and victories in behalf of our cardinal principles of liberty, equality and justice. "Wherever we see this emblem the heart is stirred with gratitude, joy and pride, and to citizens of this Republic, composed of men and women from every clime and in a country where the cardinal principle is character and worth, this flag must be honored and revered as the flag of all flags."

Farmers and Stockmen Visit Portland Yards. EXPERTS TALK TO PARTY

Object of Trip Is to Get Ideas for Forming Shipping Association for More Economic Distribution of Livestock.

The largest industrial excursion ever organized in the Estacada country, made up of 93 farmers and stockmen residing within a radius of five miles of that community, visited Portland yesterday, putting in the entire day studying the problems of livestock marketing with a view of forming a livestock shipping association for the more convenient and economic distribution of their cattle, sheep and hogs. The party, conducted by R. M. Standish, publisher of the Estacada Progress, arrived in Portland by special Portland Railway, Light & Power Company train at 9:30 in the morning and was immediately taken out to the adjoining plants of the Portland Union Stockyards and the Union Meat Company in North Portland. A detailed inspection of both of these plants was made, with short lectures by expert stockmen, buyers and brokers, bearing on the various processes through which the livestock passes from the time it leaves the growers' hands until it is ready for consumption, including weighing, grading, feeding, breeding, care, etc., were the subjects discussed. Actual exhibits of the various grades of stock were made, showing classifications that brought low prices, and the higher grades which commanded the top prices. The visitors were guests at a luncheon given by W. H. Daugherty, president of the Union Stockyards, who spoke on behalf of his company. C. Colt, president of the Union Meat Company, made an address of welcome, which was responded to by R. M. Standish. F. D. Hunt, traffic manager of the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company, spoke on the relation of the transportation company to the livestock grower; C. N. McAllister, special agent Portland Union Stockyards; W. Givens, Estacada stockgrower; Phil Stephens, Estacada stockgrower; Phil Bates, publisher Pacific Northwest; Professor I. D. Graham, publisher of the Rural Spirit; A. O. Whitcomb, Estacada farmer; E. Shearer, Estacada farmer, and C. E. Lucke, buyer for the Union Meat Company, also spoke. E. E. Faville, publisher of the Western Farmer, was toastmaster. The party returned home by special train, leaving Portland at 4 P. M. The following stockmen and farmers made up the party: L. Hale, J. H. REED SENDS AN APPEAL

PRESIDENT URGED BY COLLEGE TO ACT FOR PEACE. Resolutions of Students and Faculty Are Embodied in Telegram—League of Neutrals Is Suggested.

Faculty and students of Reed College sent a telegram to President Wilson last night, urging him to co-operate with other neutral nations in offering suggestions for the settlement of the European war and submitting peace proposals. The move was the result of a unanimous vote at a mass meeting yesterday noon to adopt the peace propaganda resolution submitted to the college by the envoys of the International Congress of Women at the Hague. Professor Norman F. Coleman submitted the resolution to the faculty and students with a few words concerning the universal desire for peace among both warring and neutral nations. He explained that universities, colleges, municipal clubs and other public bodies throughout the entire country would, at the same time, send telegrams to the President, urging him to take steps toward peace negotiations. It is hoped that their pleas will influence public opinion, and also the President's attitude in his conference with David Starr Jordan, chancellor of Stanford University and chief director of the World Peace Association, concerning the advisability of neutral nations taking steps toward peace negotiations. The telegram sent by Reed College reads as follows: Faculty and students of Reed College respectfully urge you to co-operate with other neutral governments in calling conference of neutral nations, which would constitute a
