

COLLEGE NEWS

BY GERTRUDE P. CORBETT

INTEREST of society and college folk, in fact all devotees of skating and sports, centers in the huge skating party that will be given on the evening of Friday, November 26, at the ice hippodrome. The affair will be under the auspices of the Oregon University Alumnae, and it will be called "college night" at the hippodrome. The affair is planned to raise $500 for the proposed women's memorial building at the University of Oregon, and the committee headed by Mrs. Alice Benson Beach, is working zealously to make the affair not only a brilliant social success, but to realize the full amount reserved for the building. So far they have met with remarkable success, practically all the boxes having been sold. The University of Oregon reserved a section, and other organizations are doing likewise. There also will be a section reserved for Oregon students who will be in Portland for the Thanksgiving day football game. The University of Oregon football team will occupy the boxes in front of the arena, and the Michigan and the adjoining section will be occupied by the Multnomah Club members, and their wives. The boxes in front of them. The Oregon Agricultural College has reserved a section.

Portland organizations, including the Rotary Club, the Ad Men's Club and the O. W. R. & N., have taken boxes as well as sections. Other boxholders include the City Commissioners, the Journal, the Spectator, the Multnomah Alumni, Reed College and the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. The Progressive Business Men's Club yesterday named a committee to act on this matter. Among the fraternities and sororities that have taken boxes are the Chi Psi, Sigma Chi, Beta Theta Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, Zeta Psi, Alpha Phi, Gamma Phi Beta, Chi Omega, Kappa Alpha Theta, Tri Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Delta Gamma, Phi Beta, Phi and Kappa Kappa Gamma.

IRVINGTON MAIDS WHO ARE TAKING ACTIVE INTEREST IN DANCE AT ROSE CITY PARK CLUB TONIGHT.

Miss Marie Winn.

The Charlie Chaplin Stepping Club is the strictly modern name selected by a congenial coterie of young people who will hold monthly dances throughout the winter. The first party to be given this evening in the Trocadero room of Hotel Benson. The following are arranging this week's dance: Misses Josephine Ritter, Frances Shea, Blanche Freer, Eva Hoscovich, Henrietta Dalby, and W. F. Postles, Claude Kemp, George Anderson, and Mrs. E. H. Deery. The affair will be chaperoned by Mrs. A. B. Postles and Mrs. Fenner.

William McKinley Women's Relief Corps No. 45 will hold their annual dinner and sale Tuesday, November 16, from 2 to 7:30 at the I. O. O. F. Hall, East Eightieth and Glisan streets.

All arrangements are completed for the card party and dance to be given by the Cathedral Court of Foresters and St. Mary's Court No. 1046, of the W. C. O. F., this evening in the new Cathedral Hall, Fifteenth and Couch streets. The committee consists of M. J. Maloney, president, and Messrs. Meagher, M. D. Hunt, William Sheahan, Miss Mary Frances McCarthy, Miss Katherine Quinn, Mrs. E. H. Deery, Mrs. T. S. Horst, W. A. Eivers and Mrs. M. J. Driscoll.

To meet Miss Daisy Adams, a charming young Baltimorean, Mrs. Charles F. Adams will be hostess for a large and brilliant reception on Friday, November 19, from 6 until 8 o'clock. Miss Adams is a sister of Charles F. Adams, with whom she is passing the winter. Numerous societies and clubs have been given for her by prominent society folk.

Chi Omega Fraternity will meet this afternoon at 2:30 with Miss Cecil Miller, 321 Eugene street.

Mrs. M. Bernard and daughter, Miss Margaret Malloy, of 701 Washington street, have returned from California and the expedition they have taken to apartments at the Nortonia Hotel for the winter.

The dance that all the younger set have been anxiously waiting for is to be given by the Sub-Rosa Club tonight at Vincent's Hall. Forty-third and Sandy boulevard. The committee is arranging for a large attendance, and there will be many new steps introduced. The dance will be held for the occasion. As this is the club's first dance this season, they are taking great pains to make it a success. Those who will officiate are: Irma Johnson, Derna Hawn, Edwina Clough, Helen Trask, Iola Barrett, George Mullen, Merritt Johnson, Robert Bowen and Albert Dugan.

This evening the younger set of Rose City Park will be the opening of their series of dances at the club house, and the affair is awaited eagerly by Portland collegians and the school set. The dance will be given on either Friday evening during the season. Patronesses for tonight's events are Mrs. T. T. Greer, Mrs. R. Ritter, Mrs. Floyd Campbell and Mrs. E. H. Carlton. Misses Marie Winn and Virginia Cash are members of the committee who are working hard in the interests of the affair.

At the Grace Memorial parish-house on Saturday afternoon the Misses Maude Ryan and Rachel Clark will entertain with song, story and moving picture the children of Irvington again. Rev. Oswald W. Taylor's picture apparatus will be used to show "The Little Shepherd," pictures of Oregon birds and other scenes which have been provided.

Eureka Council No. 204, Knights and Ladies of Security, will give a "500" party and dance Monday evening. It will be a regular open meeting, card playing to start at 8:30 sharp, dancing at 10 o'clock. Address by Oswald West, ex-governor of Oregon. Admission free. Members and friends invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Behrens entertained Gordon Grange No. 42 on Tuesday at their home, corner Seventh and Bryant streets. Progressive "500" was played at several tables, after which a collation was served. Honors fell to Mrs. H. A. Van Horn, N. H. Bell, Miss Jessie Hellman and Mr. Van Horn. Among those present were S. E. Stansberry, Miss Jessie Carson, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Bell, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Edith Owen, Anna Renshaw, Mark Langley, C. E. Stansberry, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Severance, Jessie Hellman, Mr. and Mrs. Corey, Stella Cullins, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Van Horn and others.

Among recent arrivals from this section at the Hotel Lankershim, Los Angeles are the following: J. O. Elliott and W. H. Buoy, of Portland, and Mrs. A. A. Finch, of Astoria.

A brilliant reception was given last night at St. David's parish house to honor the new rector, Rev. Thomas J. McKinnis. Mrs. McKinnis, her vestrymen and their wives. A large number of the congregation attended the affair, home being shared by Rev. Walter T. Sumner, who will leave tomorrow for Eugene to conduct conferences there. The throng of eager guests was received by Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Joseph, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. West, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hastings, Mr. and Mrs. M. Salvation in Deficiencies.
A GREAT writer has said that the sense of our deficiencies is our salvation. And he goes on in his story to show how a character familiarly called the "Scarecrow" by his associates became, through realizing his deficiencies and overcoming them, a remarkably fine man.

And yet at first thought the idea of salvation in deficiencies seems a contradiction, does it not?

We think of our deficiencies, our lack, and we become hopeless, despondent, and we believe we have no chance of opportunity. How in all these deficiencies is there salvation for us? The idea seems a paradox.

Yet there are many thinkers in the forefront of American thinkers and writers would scarcely have said this if he did not believe a truth was in it.

Suppose we lack health. Will not this very deficiency be a spur to seeking health? And if we seek health in its true sense, will it not come to us as a knowledge of being that is wonderful and worth while. For health is a normal expression of being and in seeking health, that is in finding out what it is fundamentally, what it stands for, how it is permanently established, we will get some of the big facts of life. In this way our deficiency will become a salvation. And I think this writer meant we should go deeply into these things. I do not believe as so many in mind any superficial skimming of the facts of life. Deficiencies are too serious to be taken lightly. Nor is salvation easily won. And so in this matter of making the deficiency of health a means of salvation, it will not be merely a going to the doctor or drug shop and the getting of some pills or tablets. But it will be a thoughtful pondering of what health is, of what gruze are and their relation to health from this, if one goes at it honestly and sincerely and without prejudice, will come a step forward in the matter of living.

Suppose we are poor, that there is a deficiency of money and of comfortable and convenient surroundings. Here again this very deficiency can work us salvation. For it can set us to thinking as to why we lack, and what we really want and why we want it. Do we lack money because we are careless or lazy in our work, because our heart is not in the business we are engaged in, because we are not keenly on the lookout for better opportunities, because we have not fitted ourselves for higher work? In many ways, the lack of money may be our salvation. If it leads us to be more industrious, more careful, if it spurs us into getting into our true field of activity, if it wakes us to see opportunities, if it fires us to get a better education, it will have made life richer and fuller.

But there is one little word we need to think of in the counsel of this writer. He says the "sense of our deficiencies." The man or woman who does not realize his deficiencies will not be saved by them and the effects. The business girl who is content with her slipshod, indifferent methods, the woman who does not realize her extravagance, the man who does not know he is illiterate and unrefined will never rise to higher, happier levels. It is the sense of our deficiencies that brings us salvation. And if we look about us and contrast ourselves with all that is fine and beautiful and true in the world, we will have no lack of sense. We must be dense indeed if we do not see much to which to aspire to. But this sense, it having realized it, we need not be. It is this sense, this very sense of deficiencies points to salvation from them if we will use this knowledge as a lever as this writer says. And the level to which it will lift us will be a richer, fuller, happier life.

GOOD THINGS IN THE MARKET

A FRESH wave of grapes has swept in on the Portland markets.

The most abundant are Oregon Tokays, which look extremely well and are quoted at 45 cents a basket. In some quarters 5 cents a pound, the price also asked for California black grapes.

Sweet Malagas are 10 cents a pound, and so are Raisin grapes. The stock of Cornichons has become low and 50 cents a basket is asked for them.

Some choice bananas are to be had at 30 cents a dozen, other stock, 20 cents.

Oranges, 30, 40 and 50 cents dozen. Lemons, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Willamette Valley chestnuts and the new crop of Oregon walnuts and almonds are each 20 cents a pound.

Cranberries, two pounds for 25 cents; huckleberries, 10 cents a pound or three pounds for a quarter.

"Extra fancy" Arkansas Black, Spitzenberg and Newtowns are $1.75 a box. In another quarter Spitzenberg are $2 and $1.35 and None Such $1 a box.

When sold by the dozen, the quotations are mostly 10, 12 1/2, 15, 20 and 25 cents, but sometimes less—for "looking around."

A choice display of Ortley, Spitzenberg, Winter Banana and Delicious is held at $3 a box.

Buenos Aires pears are 25 cents and Winter Nella, 25 cents a dozen. Some attractive Fall Butter pears are also to be had.

In the vegetable market the most beautiful product on sale is surely cauliflower. The heads, white and full, are offered at 15 and 20-cent sizes. California is favored with a second crop of green peas, which are retailed at 12 cents a pound.

What is probably the last for this season of green corn, at 10 cents a dozen, is in market. It must be owned it has the appearance of odds and ends on a bargain counter.

Burbank potatoes, $1 a sack; the Rose variety, nine and ten pounds for a dime; sweets, four pounds, 10 cents.

Local mushrooms have been unusually plentiful lately. Baskets of 1 1/2 pounds can be bought in the market for 20 cents.

Wax and green beans are 15 cents a pound, or two pounds for a quarter. Lima beans, 10 cents a pound.

Large, solid cabbages, and dark curly ones, looking like great green roses, are each 5 cents a head. Curly kale at 5 cents a bunch, is also in evidence.

Green and red peppers, three pounds
