

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

THIS will be department day in the Portland Women's Club. Many of the clubwomen who go at 1 o'clock for the psychology lecture will remain for the art lecture at 2 o'clock and complete the afternoon by enjoying the literature department's hour, which begins at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Crawford has given the psychology talk this year and has presented many beautiful thoughts. She is editor of the Comforter, a little helpful publication that has just celebrated its first anniversary.

PRESIDENT OF WOMAN'S PRESS CLUB, WHO WILL PRESIDE AT SPECIAL MEETING TONIGHT.

Mrs. Martha Pullman French

The Lavender Club will meet in the East Side Library at 2 o'clock today. The election of officers will be held.

The Portland Psychology Club will hold a general meeting on Thursday, as the date falls on Thanksgiving day. The next meeting will be December 1.

The calls upon the Visiting Nurse Association the winter are beginning to be numerous and the nurses during the month have been "on the go" doing errands of mercy every minute of the time. The board is anxious to increase the income of the association by enlarging the membership roll. All who have $3 they wish to put to good practical use right now are asked to send in their subscription to the Visiting Nurse Association, Medical building.

The board of the organization will have an opportunity to entertain the honorary president, Mrs. Stephens, who will be here next week. In compliance to her there will be a reception given by the Visiting Nurse Association at the home of Mrs. Helen Lundquist on Saturday, November 27.

The association has been organized for about 14 years and in that time has been one of the most efficient agencies in the city. At the very poor visits are made free of charge. Those who are poor and wish the services of a trained nurse and rest are charged a small amount, are charged a few cents a visit and are thus freed from any feeling that they are accepting charity.

On account of the sudden illness of Mrs. C. O. Young, the entertainment planned for Monday night at the First Congregational church, will be postponed. Mrs. Frederick Eggert, a member of the aid society of the church, said yesterday that no other plans would be made until Mrs. Young's illness has passed.

Mrs. Frederick Eggert, chairman of the scholarship loan fund of the federated clubs, gave an interesting account of the work and the good done by the fund, and the good done at the Woman's Civic Welfare Club's meeting in the library.

Harold Guy Merriam, of Reed College, will be the speaker at the State Women's Press Club tonight in the library. Mrs. Martha Pullman French will preside. Music will be an added attraction. After the programme the club will adjourn to the reception to be tendered Lady Gregory at the Hotel Portland.

The Ladies Aid Society of Central Methodist Episcopal Church, Vancouver, will give a dinner at the hotel on Monday, beginning at 2:30 o'clock. A dinner will be served at 5:30 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the Epworth League will give a programme in the church.

Mrs. H. E. Chipman will entertain the Tuesday afternoon club on November 22 at her home, 308 East Twenty-second street.

Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association will hold its monthly meeting today at 2 o'clock. Miss Constance Kwing will speak on "Suitable Books for Children."

It is probable that the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs will make a substantial donation to the Portland Dispensary to assist in the work, especially in the tuberculosis department. Dr. K. A. J. McKenzie is head of the dispensary, and Drs. Ralph and Ray Mackenzie have charge of the tuberculosis work. Several prominent specialists assist in the work.

They all give their time and talents free of charge and to many instances the doctors provide dressings and supplies. The free dispensary is located at the People's Institute at Fourth and Burnside streets and has a vast amount of good, but the appliances are far from adequate.

The percentage of tubercular patients here is largely due to the fact that the National Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. Many of the club and society women of the state will assist the National Society to raise money for further anti-tubercular work. It was the money raised by the state last year that is now being expended by the club. They conducted the sale in 1914, but the National will have entire charge this season.

Timely Advice on Rose Culture

BY B. B. HAYLAND
President Portland Rose Society.

If you intend to plant roses this season, now is the time to place your order. Although you may not receive them until after a frost stops the sap from flowing.

If not familiar with the varieties you propose to purchase, submit your list to some experienced grower. He may save you some disappointment. The catalogues are not always correct.

Roses may be planted at any time from this date. The ground is in suitable condition up to April 1. November and December are the best months to plant two-year-old bushes. The roots become established and send out fine feeders during the winter and are ready to give in early spring. The best should be prepared at least two weeks before planting.

dear deep. Thoroughly mixed, well-fecated manure should be spread on the lower foot. Fill in three or four inches of fine soil on this. Place your bush and carefully spread the roots. Cover them with fine dirt and press it firmly on them. Then fill up with loose soil.

Do not let any of the manure come in contact with the roots, as the fermentation of the manure, if it be fresh, will injure them.

Roses should not be planted while the ground is wet and soggy, but if the soil be at all dry, water should be poured around each plant before you make the last fill. This fills up the spaces, brings the soil in contact with the roots and hastens growth.

Well-planted roses are better without surface manure (unless it be a little bone meal) until their roots are established. After that they will take a liberal supply without injury.

If the drainage is bad throw out the soil and place five or six inches of broken bricks, rocks or other root material in the bottom of the hole.

Care in preparation of the soil and in planting is very important, as it insures healthy growth and fine flowering. Newly-planted roses should be cut back to within six or eight inches of the ground and to an eye looking outward. This prevents evaporation and makes for healthy growth.

This will be followed by other short articles on the same subject.

HOLIDAY CAKES.

NOTHING adds more to the enjoyment of the housewife confronted by the holiday season, with its "extra" in the way of good eating and the entertainment of guests, both expected and unexpected, than the comeliness of a good fruit cake. In a crock or tin, on the pantry shelf, the comfort of a cake that can be prepared weeks for in some cases even months, in advance appeals to the "forehanded" woman, and most families and guests are willing to risk their digestion in disposing of the product. All degrees of richness are included under "fruit cake," and there are many varieties of flavor and shades of complexion. Personally, I prefer a "blonde" fruit cake; but the darkest of "brunette" coloring can be achieved by the use of molasses, raisins, or coffee, in the foundation mixture.

In the following recipe, for instance, caramelized sugar dissolved in water and flavored with vanilla, might take the place of wine to give a darker color, or a cup of coffee might be used.

Fruit cake—One pound of butter, one pound of sugar, one-half pound of eggs, one pound of flour, two pounds of raisins, two pounds of currants, one pound of citron, two ounces of nutmeg, one tablespoonful of ground cloves, two tablespoonfuls of ground cinnamon, one tablespoonful of ground allspice, two-thirds of a teaspoonful of molasses and one tablespoonful of wine.

Begin by mixing the butter and sugar to a light cream, then add one-half of the raisins—well washed and stemmed and chopped—then the eggs, the whites and yolks beaten separately. Warm together the spices, molasses and wine, and add first to these the sifted flour, and lastly the remainder of the fruit; mix the ingredients of the two bowls together, thoroughly blending the materials. Bake in a deep thick pan in a moderate hot oven until done. Try the cake several times with a skewer or steel knitting needle before taking it out.

English fruit cake is usually a favorite and offers several possible variations.

This is the old-fashioned pound cake without baking powder. Its effect, made in quarts by thrifty housekeepers when butter and eggs are cheapest, and kept in air-tight tins for future use. "A pound of everything" (that is, butter, sugar, flour and eggs) and a wineglassful of brandy is a famous recipe which has stood the test of 300 years. The "pound" rule applies both to the "plain" cake and the "fruit" varieties of this famous
