

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

THE General Federation of Women's Clubs is planning to assist in the work of saving the babies of the country and to stimulate an interest in welfare work for the sake of the little people they will hold a "baby week" in March, but plans are being made by the public health, civic and home economics committees in connection with Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the children's department of the United States Department of Labor.

In Oregon, where we have such an excellent Parents Educational Bureau, conducted by the Oregon Congress of Mothers, there is not much to be done need for the campaign as in the states where there are greater congested districts, fewer laws protecting children and where the mothers are hater and the winter colder, but nevertheless there is always room for improvement and the Congress of Mothers will hail with delight the co-operation of the clubs.

The Children's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor will work with the women of the Federated Clubs by furnishing to any club of women interested in planning a baby week, a bulletin describing the methods used in baby weeks held up to the present time; with plans and suggestions for simple baby week which can be held in any community, as well as for a more elaborate campaign; suggestions for publicity matter, and lists of National and state departments and organizations which can furnish help in the form of exhibit material and printed matter.

To be successful plenty of time should be given for preparation for the work. It is suggested that each club undertaking this work should appoint an early in the Autumn as possible a committee to make a preliminary survey of all organizations which should be asked to co-operate, and to secure such co-operation; and that the work of organization and preparation be done as soon as possible and not later than the first week in January.

The children of the Chapman School, under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association, will hold a candy sale on Wednesday in the school building. The proceeds will be used to purchase pictures for the school.

A number of suitable pictures have been collected by the school beautifying committee, of which Mrs. J. H. King is chairman, and some of these will be solicited by the different schools interested in advertising the walls of the assembly halls and rooms with reproductions of some of the masterpieces.

Mrs. George W. McMath, president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association, has returned from Hood River, where she attended several meetings and gave a number of addresses. On Friday afternoon the Hood River County Parent-Teacher Council held a large gathering and an important conference. On Friday night, at a meeting in Barrett school, more than 200 attended. Mrs. McMath gave a talk on co-operation between parents and teachers. As Mrs. McMath was formerly a teacher and is now a mother, she is able to see both viewpoints. Mrs. Clinton D. Hoyt entertained Mrs. McMath as house guest at her country home.

Mrs. Charles H. Custer, president of the Oregon Federation of Women's Clubs, gave an informal luncheon in honor of the president of the Oregon Congress of Mothers. After the luncheon there was a conference of the presidents of the two organizations. It was agreed that for the next two years there would not call upon the public for any great sum of money. They will co-operate and as far as possible avoid overlapping in their work. "We have arranged to work in harmony and will keep in mind the fact that we are organized for efficient work," said Mrs. McMath in speaking of the conference with the head of the club federation.

Woodstock Parent-Teacher Association held an interesting meeting on Friday, when the school trustees gave several reports on the work of the school. Mrs. J. H. King, president of the association, gave a report on the work of the association. Mrs. J. H. King, president of the association, gave a report on the work of the association.

CUT HIS OUT

OLD ENGLISH REMEDY FOR CATARRH OF THE NOSE AND HEAD

If you know of some one who is troubled with catarrh of the nose, head or ears, or ordinary cold, cut out this formula and hand it to them and you will have been the means of their relief. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and some-times requires a constitutional treatment. Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease is driven down the air passage toward the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should give permanent relief to the sufferer. It is a simple remedy which can be made at home by those who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Permut (strong) Tincture of Iodine and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a ounce of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one teaspoonful three times a day. This will bring quick relief from distressing head aches. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the patient will find the system in the constant use of this remedy. Permut is used in this way, as it acts directly upon the blood and produces a general stimulation of the system which facilitates the recovery of the patient. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Persons who have to work should give this treatment a trial.—Adv.

The proper spirit. "Meeting immigrants in the proper spirit" is her special work.

Investigation has shown that from 25 to 33 per cent of all aliens express their intention of making New York their home. As 37 peoples are represented in this new alien population Mrs. Clark makes it her work to establish harmonious conditions as rapidly as possible.

Labor conditions are the things most emphasized in the bureau with which Mrs. Clark is associated as chief investigator. In that connection her work includes the distribution of similar grants to laborers employment may be found and the teaching of trades to those who are in a position to learn. She discovered that out of about 150,000 people that landed in 1913 less than $2,000 had any trade knowledge.

Another economic factor to be considered in her work is the vast amount of money sent out of the country by aliens. She is striving to establish a confidence in the newcomer that will encourage him to put his savings into an American bank instead of sending it to his home country.

The establishment of this confidence has led into many other lines which Mrs. Clark has investigated and which have been bettered by the bureau of industries and immigration of the Department of State Labor. The lodging houses for immigrants have been investigated to prevent the swindling of newcomers. Those which do not reach the standard are licensed. Hack drivers, restaurants, keepers and others who have to do with the immediate service to foreigners are carefully investigated that the alien may not have cause to believe that all America is waiting to swindle him. The investigation is conducted under Mrs. Clark, by naturalized foreigners.

The investigation of camps of laborers for insanitary and oppressed conditions is conducted as well as that of company boarding-houses. Of late Mrs. Clark has worked in connection with the New York County Medical Society and the District Attorney, compiling evidence to show that the foreigner is swindled in medical practices.

She has broadened her study into industrial education in the schools and the housing question. She knows the question of immigration from every angle and from New York to California. She even made repeated trips to Europe to study the home conditions of the man and woman laborer in America that she might be better fitted to deal with them. Her work has covered a period of 17 years.

While her work of investigation in itself could have done no good the statistics that she has compiled have been submitted to the United States Department of Justice, and to the bureau under which she now works. Through both of these agencies, armed with her reports, an immeasurable amount of good has come.

THE SANDMAN STORY

By Mrs. F. A. Walker

The Fairy Queen's Jewels.

ONE night the elves were holding a meeting and talking over the doings of the fairies, who had been having a party in the dell.

"Oh, such jewels as the queen wears!" said one elf. "I wish I knew where she keeps them, we would steal them and wear them ourselves. I do not see why we should not wear jewels as well as the fairies."

"I am sure we could easily do that," said another wicked little elf; "because the queen does not wear her jewels in the daytime. I saw her a little while ago and she did not have on one jewel."

"We better start hunting for them," said another elf. "We may not have such an easy time finding them as we think."

Away scampered all the little elves, scudding under the leaves and blades of grass until they came to the dell where the fairies live, and then they hid and watched.

Oh, how sleepy those little elves did get watching for the fairies! They rubbed their eyes and yawned in their efforts to keep awake.

"Won't they ever get through dancing and taking off their jewels?" whispered one elf.

"They never go to bed until sunrise," said another.

"Oh, sure they go! Quick, follow them now!" said another.

Away flew the fairies toward the fields and in this time the elves were quick to follow. They did not reach the fields as soon as the fairies, but they reached there in time to see the queen taking the pearls and diamonds and all her beautiful jewels off, and handing them to her fairies.

And then the elves opened their eyes, for what did those fairies do but drop the queen's jewels all over the field, and taking off their own they did the same thing with them, and then flew away.

The sun was just poking up his head when the fairies left, and as soon as they were out of sight, into the field ran the elves to gather up the jewels the fairies had so carelessly, as the elves thought, scattered over the field.

But not a jewel did they find, but as they would, the fields were covered with daisies and buttercups and little blue flowers and all kinds of beautiful blossoms, but not a jewel did the elves find.

Timely Advice on Rose Culture

BY E. B. McFARLAND, President Portland Rose Society.

At this season of the year it will be of great advantage to your bushes to have fine soil around them to the depth of three or four inches. It will protect them from possible frost and support them against strong winds. This should be spread around them after you see them in the Spring.

Considerable difference of opinion exists, even among experts, as to whether or not manure should be applied in the Fall or Spring. No less authority than Sam McIlroy & Son and Alex Dickson recommend covering the beds to the depth of four or five inches in November and forking it in the Spring. Other authorities say the Spring is the best time.

If I must choose between obtaining manure in the Spring that has been exposed to the elements and as a consequence lost 50 per cent of its value and fresh manure in the Fall, I will choose the unheated manure in the Fall and fork it in then. Well-rotted is best on sandy soil applied in the Spring, but fresh manure may be used on clay soil. It is not necessary to use it every year as the effect is lasting.

At the rose show is not exactly a safe place to select your roses, because there are some varieties that in the hands of an expert produce wonderful blooms, but fall as good garden roses. They may be poor growers and produce few blooms. Ask an experienced grower about them.

It may be taken for granted that the beginner has the common roses, such as Madame Caroline Testout, Ulrich Brunner, and Frau Karl Droschke, therefore, it is not necessary to describe them. You will find the following list satisfactory: Mme. Joseph Hill, colors, salmon, shaded outer petals, tinted copper; has bronze foliage free from mildew; large full flowers; Madame Melanie Souper, salmon yellow, flowers large, not always fully free from mildew; General McArthur, bright red, good growers, blooms freely until frost, but little mildew; Hugh Dickson, deep crimson, large, full and free from mildew; Mrs. Foley Hobbs, large, full white flowers, blooms freely, no mildew; best of color; Miss Cynthia Ford, deep rose pink, large, full flower, good grower, no mildew; Mrs. G. H. Welch, deep rose pink, large, not full flowers, large beautiful bud; Lady Pirrie, reddish salmon and yellow, long beautiful buds, but not very full flowers, grows well and free from mildew; Juliet, outside petals old gold, inside rich red, grows freely and opening under a cloudy sky is beautiful; Duchess of Wellington, long orange colored buds with pink cheeks, not full, but prettiest bud of all; Sunburst, is a good grower, some of blooms are deep yellow, some pale yellow, no mildew.

WOMEN WHO LEAD THE WAY

By MARI DILLE

Mrs. Marion K. Clark, investigator of the Bureau of Industries and Immigration of the State Department of Labor.

THERE are few women or men in the United States who are so thoroughly informed upon the general subject of the immigrant as Mrs. Marion K. Clark. Others are interested in the alien from the standpoint of education, some from industry, some from anti-social and medical, but Mrs. Clark has conducted an investigation that makes her authority from all angles.

Mrs. Clark has a belief that a man or woman who will leave a native country because of religious persecution or economic discontent has the characteristics that will tend to make a worthy American citizen if met in Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. This powerful digestive and antacid, though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

What your stomach craves without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with acidity or sour risings, belching, gas on stomach, nausea, bad breath, water-brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, that distressable condition, should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no indigestion or sleepless nights or headache or stomach misery all the next day; and, besides, you would not need laxatives or pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapiesin can be obtained from your druggist, or you could order from your grocer, or you could order from the stomach or to cure a stomach headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.—Adv.
