

WOMEN'S CLUBS

BY EDITH KNIGHT HOLMES

MRS. ELEANOR SANFORD, dramatic reader, club-woman and former actress, will be honored guest of the Professional Woman's League at their luncheon in the Hotel Malheur on Saturday. Mrs. Sanford is leader of the dramatic work in the Portland Shakespeare Study Club, in which organization she coaches the members in the plays they give. Great credit was given Mrs. Sanford for the success of a recent production of "Much Ado About Nothing," which the clubwomen gave for St. David's Episcopal parish.

The Professional Woman's League is made up of a number of the leading women artists, educators, musicians, writers and a few of the other professions.

The word "profession" is interpreted in the constitution of the organization to include continuous productive work at a pursuit for which there has been specific training, and which shall be valued by the personality of the worker or something more than a mere mechanical routine.

The league has entertained some of the most distinguished women who have visited in Portland during the past year.

The Alameda Yacht Club will meet on November 16 with Mrs. Harold Varney, 835 East Thirty-second street North. The club was entertained at its last gathering by Mrs. Archibald Taylor.

The Portland's Woman's Club will hold its regular meeting on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the program given to the state federation convention. Some unique features, it is anticipated, will be introduced.

Mount Scott W. C. T. U. will meet in the Friends' Church, at Lents, on Friday at 2 o'clock, to organize a young people's branch. All who are interested are invited.

Fidelity Guild, of Piedmont Presbyterian Church, will give an entertainment on Friday night in the church. Mrs. Everett will be the soloist; Miss Pease, pianist and vocalist; Mrs. Marston Gray, violinist, and several others will participate.

Mrs. William A. Coplan, president of Mount Young Spanish War Veterans, will be honored next Tuesday night at a reception following the regular meeting.

The Domestic Science Club met on Monday with Mrs. C. Clark. "Fresh Air" was the subject of discussion.

Alberta Utility Club met on Monday night when a program was given. The committee in charge included Miss Bonnie Madsen, Miss Hans Madsen and Mrs. F. E. Julian.

The annual thank-offering meeting of the women of the White Temple church, at the corner of Third and Broadway at 1:30 o'clock. A good program will be presented at the close of which light refreshments will be served and a social hour enjoyed. All are welcome.

This is the regular meeting day of the Portland Psychology Club, but the members of the club will be too busy with family gatherings and no meeting will take place. The club's next session will be on December 3.

On Friday at 1:30 o'clock Mrs. Julia C. Le Barre, leader of the Portland Shakespeare Study Club, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Club, will lecture to parents and teachers at Gill's bookroom on Shakespeare stories for children. Mrs. Le Barre has written some plays for children and is thoroughly familiar with the best books published in her line. This lecture is one in a series organized by the Portland Shakespeare Study Club for the betterment of children's reading.

The Self-Culture Club will meet on Friday night at the offices of Dr. Straker, in the Russell building. A debate on "Military Training" will be held. Mrs. R. H. Baber, president of the club, will preside. The organization is made up of young people who have enjoyable hours of study and social meetings. Mrs. Baber is continually planning special pleasures for her young friends.

The organization of the Delphinia Drama Club took place in R. D. Straker's office Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The membership is limited to 25 persons who are studying development and appreciation of the drama.

The following officers were elected: President, Robert D. Straker; vice-president, Miss Lulu DeWitt; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. R. H. Baber. A constitution committee was appointed and topics were assigned for the next meeting which will be held in the same place on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. I. D. Bolton will be hostess to the members of Chapter C. F. E. O. R. on Friday evening, December 1, at her home at 1848 Rodney avenue. After the business meeting and initiation, Miss Katherine Davis will sing a group of songs.

GOOD THINGS IN THE MARKET

GOOD THINGS IN MARKETS.

MAKING an effort, as they always do, to reach the market early, California growers had new season's navel oranges here for the Thanksgiving trade.

The skins are not completely golden yet, and possibly their sweetness could not be guaranteed, but they make a creditable display and are quoted at three for 10 cents.

Japan also is forward with a consignment of her new crop of little "Nabonans" of They look a slightly green cast, but they did duty as ornamental fruit for the annual feast, and ripen more will follow soon; 20 cents a dozen is asked for them.

Florida grape fruit, 10 cents each; California, 5 cents; lemons, 15 to 20 cents a dozen; limes, 10 cents.

Some really nice-looking Cornish grapes are offered at 10 cents a basket, and good California Turkey are two pounds for 15 cents.

Cape Cod cranberries are in abundant evidence at two pounds for a quarter.

From Garden City come "pound" ears of very large corn, for cooking and baking, at three for 10 cents.

A new arrival is dried silver prunes, at 15 cents a pound.

Fresh alligator pears, 10 cents each; bananas, 10 and 20 cents a dozen; coconuts, 10 and 15 cents; pineapples, 20 cents, and pomegranates, 5 cents each.

In the vegetable market California green peas and stringless beans, of a small variety, are each 15 cents a pound.

Artichokes, three for a quarter; mushrooms, 10 cents a pound.

Winter radishes, "more sweet, more tender" as a foreign grower describes them, are in a display case, look very white and inviting, and two bunches can be had for a nickel.

Hubbard squash, of large size, at 25 and 30 cents; pumpkins, at 10 and 15 cents, and cauliflower, at 10 to 20 cents each, make a brave showing. Sweet green corn lingers along at 10 to 15 cents a dozen.

Tender spinach, two pounds for 15 cents; tomatoes, 2 to 10 cents a pound. Sweet potatoes, six pounds, 15 cents; Brussels sprouts, 10 cents a pound, and celery hearts, 10 cents a bunch; lettuce, heads, two for a nickel.

In the fish market the newsmen in Dolly Varden trout, from Washington, at 25 cents a pound.

Salmon, 25 cents; Chinook salmon, 15 cents; silver-side and steelhead, 10 cents a pound.

Halibut, 15 and 12 1/2 cents a pound; catfish, 12 1/2 cents.

Rules, sand-dabs, tomcod and inkfish, each 10 cents a pound.

Black cod, two pounds for 15 cents; shrimps, 10 cents a pound.

Crabs, 12 1/2, 15, 20 and 25 cents each.

In the poultry market, good turkeys range from 25 to 35 cents; ducks, 23 to 25, and geese, 18 to 20 cents a pound. Hens, 18, 20 and 22 cents, fivers, 20 to 25 cents and pointers, the question is raised as to where they all come from. Since they are so many girls between high school freshmen age and the college "soph," the wise modiste and manufacturer always see to it that the wardrobe of the younger girl is not stinted. A girl's atmosphere and the special tone pervades the school girl's fashions this winter, and the new frocks that have arrived during the week show a slight oriental inclination.

The newest school dresses are of straight gathered or pleated skirts and are combined with plaids. One little frock has a panel front and back of dark serge and plaid serge pleated in at the sides. The sleeves are also of the blue and green. One little dress has smocking over the hips and an Oriental belt that is wide, loose and wavy. Otherwise the dress is plain.

Russian dresses, with the blue and white, are reaching about eight inches below the hip, are of solid colors and in serge. The belts are attached but loose. Straight skirts are worn under the attractive blouses. The sailor or middie dress has lost some of its popularity, but has gone through stages of modification, however, the "Pouter" Thompson dress" with facings down the back and big red or navy blue serge are among the most popular sailor models.

A great array of girls' party dresses that are certain to delight at high school social affairs is daintier and almost prettier than those destined for older people. Airy tulle or crisp, puffy just is shown in almost all the little dresses, and in white and colors and shaded. A few of the prettiest are like the old-fashioned shepherdess dresses, and some soft ruffled crepe de chine in pastel shades. Flowered silks made simply, with panthers at the hips, are delightful imitation of the colonial styles.

One of the incompleting patches is on section B of the main highway, where the underground crossing of the O-W. R. & N. tracks is now being constructed. In such case the extension granted is until August 1, 1916.

STYLE TIPS FROM PORTLAND STORES

SO MANY and so various are the dresses worn by the school girls that it is difficult to make a general statement as to where they all come from. Since they are so many girls between high school freshmen age and the college "soph," the wise modiste and manufacturer always see to it that the wardrobe of the younger girl is not stinted. A girl's atmosphere and the special tone pervades the school girl's fashions this winter, and the new frocks that have arrived during the week show a slight oriental inclination.
