Battle in Rain on Soggy Gridiron

Repeatedly both teams recovered fumbles following punts within their opponents' IS-yard line, but all at-tenouts to more were fruities. Once in the first quarter Salam reshed the ball from midfield to the university's 11-pard line, but was held for downs. During the last three periods Colum-bia assumed the offensive, and by end runs made substantial gains. Fumbles at critical times, however, robbed them of any chance of souring. Out of more than Dr forward passes attempted by Columbia only one was successfully completed. All of Salem's attempts to gain by the serial route falled.

For the visitors Left Half Allen and Jacobserger at fullback were the most consistent gainers, while Proctor and Hagodern showed well for the locals.
