MRS. PANKHURST DEFIED

BRITISH SUPRAGISTS REVOLT AGAINST LEADERSHIP.

Usurpation of Authority and Failure to Make Organization Useful in War Charged.

LONDON, Nov. 26.—Many members of the Women's Social and Political Union have revolted against the leadership of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst. A largely attended meeting under the chairmanship of Mrs. Elinor Penn Gaskell unanimously approved a long indictment against Mrs. Pankhurst.

In this indictment those who attended the meeting charge that in using the name of the Women's Social and Political Union for political purposes Mrs. Pankhurst was acting without authority. They blame her for failing to utilize the organization for some form of national service during the war.

They accuse her of usurping authority and expelling members "in order to stifle opposition to her will" resulting "in the removal from membership of almost all the women possessed of influence, capacity and independence of thought."

They declare that where controlling funds, she has shown callous indifference to the sufferings of destitute members. Finally, they call on Mrs. Pankhurst to issue immediately a statement showing how the funds have been expended since the war began. They ask Christabel Pankhurst, her daughter, to resign or explain her continued absence from the country.

MRS. LACY GETS NO DAMAGES FROM WOODARD, CLARKE & CO.

Allegation That Error in Filling Prescription Caused Injury Is Not Sustained.

The jury which heard the case of Mrs. Ruby Lacy against Woodard, Clarke & Co. in which Mrs. Lacy asked $25,000 damages, last night returned a verdict for the defendant. Mrs. Lacy, who is the wife of Dr. H. N. Lacy, alleged she had suffered personal injury as a result of the faulty execution of a prescription. The case was heard before Judge Morrow. The verdict was a complete victory for the drug company, whose attorney, Ralph Wilbur, in concluding the case yesterday labeled it "the most disgraceful case ever tried in the courts of Oregon and a case of pure blackmail."

It was alleged by the plaintiff that two poisons had been confused in the filling of the prescription, the more poisonous of the two having been made an ingredient of the prescription. An analysis of the prescription by C. P. W. Harding, a chemist who was a witness for Mrs. Lacy, brought out the fact that the contentions of the plaintiff was incorrect and that the less poisonous of the two medicines had, according to the doctor's order, been incorporated in the prescription. Another point scored by the defense was the statement of the physicians who were called to the stand that the poison would either kill inside of four or five days or would pass from the system entirely and not debilitate the system in any manner.

Water Lacking; Fire Loss $4200.

The residence of R. A. Lege, a farmer living half a mile east of Portland on the Sandy road, was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour yesterday morning, with a loss of $4200, on which there was $2500 insurance. The cause of the blaze is not known, but is believed to have been the grounding of the electric current used in lighting the house. A garage and pump-house were reached and destroyed by the fire. Engine 28 of Rose City Park went to the fire, but could do nothing because of the lack of water.

As Mrs. Lacy did not die it was the contention of the defense that, even if the prescription had been wrongly filled, a hypothesis previously refuted by testimony, there could be no recovery of damages, as there was no permanent injury. Dr. William Hottel, one of the men called to the stand as an expert, testified that the physician attending Mrs. Lacy had prescribed the poisonous ingredient of the prescription in overdose quantities, and that her temporary suffering was not due to the incorrect filling of the prescription, but to an overdose.

PRAYING MAN IS ROBBER

GOOD SAMARITAN'S FAITH IN GRACE SAYERS IS LOST.

Beggar Bows in Thanks Before Eating Charity Meal and Then Steals Provider's Clothes and Watch.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 26.—(Special.)—Edward Malling, 2829 Twenty-fourth avenue West, has lost all interest in unfortunates members of the human race, particularly those who beg grace before meals. His aversion comes about through a Thanksgiving day effort to aid an unfortunate thug.

Malling was down town late yesterday when a cadaverous, thoughtful-looking person approached and asked for a lift over some of the rocks in life's pathway.

Finding a quiet restaurant, Malling ordered up a splendid meal, in the course of which the guest said grace and talked at length on the Bible, on human moral weaknesses and their remedies and other kindred subjects.

Malling, finding his guest was without shelter for the night, finally decided to remain down town himself, and rented a room for two. Early today he awoke and discovered that his best suit, a perfectly good gold watch, had disappeared, and that in its place the stranger had left his shabby suit.
