Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Test will compliment Alfred Holman, of San Francisco, with a dinner party on Tuesday night, covering the period of 10 days.

Another affair of today is the bridge tea for which Miss Genevieve Brooke will be hostess. In honor of Miss Charlotte Laidlaw, three tables will be arranged for bridge, and about 25 additional guests have been asked for tea.

Tonight Miss Zola Hitchcock and her fiancé, F. Simpson Gannett, will be honor guests for the bridge party for which Mrs. Joseph Haley, of New York, B. C., and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stapleton, will be hosts. About 40 guests have been asked for the evening.

This afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, the Little Theater, under the auspices of the Drama League, will show its latest, interesting to children and adults. First there will be a story picture, "For the Honor of the Name," followed by "Arabian Nights" tale, followed by instructive pictures, "The Waterway of Bruges" and "Fishing with Cormorants in China."

The annual dinner given by the Bank of California, N. A., to the officers and staffs of the institution at the various points where they maintain branches, namely, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle and Virginia City, Nev., as well as at the head office, San Francisco, was held Thursday night at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The room and table were artistically decorated for the occasion with poinsettias, holly and Oregon grapes.

The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Charles A. Stieglitz and Mrs. Otto Tuesday. The card honors for bridge fell to Mrs. Samuel C. Jagger and Mrs. C. C. Lightfoot and for five hundred to Mrs. Ferdinand E. Reed and Mrs. MacKenzie.

A delightful programme was enjoyed by the guests, Mrs. Herbert Garr Reed, dramatic reader, reciting "Act for Act," a solo and a Parisian dance by little Miss Willetha Ritter and a demonstration of some of the late ballroom dances by Miss Ritter and Master Francis Drake.

The next regular Tuesday afternoon party will be given January 11.

Miss Ann Haley will pass the Christmas holidays in Portland as the house guest of Miss Vesta Tegar. She is a prominent member of the Junior class at the University of Oregon, and of the Delta Gamma fraternity.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE BY LILIAN TINGLE. PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 25.—Please give recipe for making "Bride's Cake" the size of pan to bake in. Would like one large enough to serve a small group of guests. Please send recipe to the editor of Daily Oregonian at your earliest convenience.

dry, sifted bread crumbs, one and one-half cups lightly toasted and shelled peanuts, one level tablespoon baking powder, one egg, one teaspoon lemon juice, salt and pepper to taste. Milk to soften the crumbs. Soak the crumbs in just enough milk to make them soft and elastic, but not "mushy." The exact amount varies with the dryness of the crumbs. Mix with the peanuts chopped fine and the other ingredients. Mix very thoroughly and turn into a greased bread pan. Bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Turn out and serve with tomato sauce or cream sauce with finely-chopped celery or parsley. The flavor may be varied to taste by the addition of such items as onion juice, celery salt, mustard, cayenne or Spanish pepper. A cut clove of garlic may be rubbed round the mixing bowl if the latter seasoning is used.

SNAPSHOTS BY BARBARA BOYD. His Own Bottle of Milk. ARE you going to get breakfast on the train? asked a fellow passenger of the man in the corner chair of the observation car as it drew near Portland. "We don't get in till nine."

"No sirree!" replied the man emphatically. "I am going to wait and get my breakfast at home where I can get it on my own bottle of milk, my own cup of coffee and my own fresh eggs."

"You can just see the joy of that breakfast, can't you?" said the other, looking at the man's list of little things the man likes, just the way he likes them.

It's odd, isn't it, how invariably on the trail of everything good appears something evil? But it only goes to prove, does it not, that we should be watchful, that we should not let that which is good and enjoyable be wrested from us and changed into evil?

THE SANDMAN STORY BY MRS. F. A. WALKER.

Roy and the Big Rabbit. WHEN Roy, who was quite a little country boy, was quite small he loved to see the young rabbits playing in the woods, but as he grew older he threw stones at them. And when he grew still larger he would creep up while they played, and after shooting an arrow from his bow at them would rush in among them with a shout that sent the poor things scattering into the bushes scared nearly to death. He never thought how it hurt, but only of the fun he had.

So do not let's condemn the man or woman—who wants his own bottle of milk, and his own cup of coffee. They are good things to have. They show a discriminating taste. But on the other hand, don't let's cultivate this discrimination to such a fine point that it turns and painfully pricks us when our own milk and coffee are missing.

WOMEN WHO LEAD THE WAY BY MARIE DILLE.

Dr. Mary Walker—The Most Picturesque Nurse in America. DR. MARY E. WALKER has long been recognized as not alone the most distinguished doctor in the United States but the possessor of the most picturesque career as well. The life of Dr. Walker is an exceptional one.

Four years of the early life of Dr. Mary Walker was spent on the battlefields during the Civil War. Since that time she has devoted the greater part of her life to the practice of medicine and lecturing. She has always been foremost in the ranks of dress reform advocates and in the struggle for political recognition of women.

Dr. Walker refused to lay aside her masculine attire at the end of her military career and has never since done so. She has built up for herself an excellent medical practice and at the age of 52 she still is engaged in her work. She has won an enviable reputation as a lecturer in America and England.

The celebrated surgeon was born in Oswego, N. Y. She was graduated in medicine in 1855 with an M. D. degree and began practicing at once. She entered the war six years later. Although Dr. Walker is an ardent advocate of equal suffrage, she is out of sympathy with the modern method of bringing about the reform. According to her theory, the principal obstacle that stands in the path of the movement is that the advocates do too much talking and too little acting.

Let It Be a Musical Gift This Xmas

The Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph. Is the Product of the World's Greatest Inventor.

Thirty years ago Thomas A. Edison invented the first sound reproducing instrument. Since then many have adapted his original idea.

But mere mechanical reproduction of sound is not enough for the real music lover. So Mr. Edison, after thirty years, again applied his super-knowledge of chemistry and acoustics to the problem.

And now the master inventor has produced an instrument that does more than reproduce sound. It Re-Creates the original music without the slightest deviation in quality. He called it "perfect"—the New Edison Diamond Disc Phonograph.

We will be glad to play the New Edison for you. Come in and hear the delightful new Christmas records.
